MINIMUM WAGE SCHEDULE AGREED ON BY CONFEREES

GRADUATED SCALE OF MAXIMUM HOURS

Would Start at 44 a Week and Drop to 40 by Third Year—Exceptions Discussed.

By RICHARD L. STOKES,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Senate and House conferees on the wage-hours bill decided this afternoon on a floor of 25 cents per hour for the first year and 30 cents for the second. Thereafter the executive of the act—it has not yet been decided whether this shall be the Secretary of Labor, a single administrator or a board—shall in the next seven years endeavor to attain the 40-40 standard, of 40 cents an hour for a 40-hour week.

Later this afternoon the committee agreed on a graduated scale of maximum hours, starting at 44 a week for the first year and dropping to 40 a week in the third year. Members agreed that some exceptions must be made because many collective bargaining contracts link hours directly with wages. They began discussion of this immediately.

Mrs. Norton Pleased.

Announcement of the wage agreement was made by Senator Adams (Dem.), Colorado, in charge of the deficiency and relief bill, and was indorsed by Mrs. Mary T. Norton, chairman of the House Labor Committee. The latter declared jubilantly that the decision as to wages marked a great step in advance, and that an agreement as to hours could not be long behind.

It was understood that, among the conferees, the vote of the Senate members in favor of the above compromise was 6 to 1, and that the ballot of the House members was the same.

Those who voted against the decision were Senator Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, and Representative Hartley (Rep.), New Jersey.

The committee report must go back to the Senate and House for approval. Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, administration leader in the upper house, announced today that Congress would not be permitted to adjourn until a wage-hours bill was passed.

Victory for Southerners.

In respect to the original Black-Connery bill, as passed by the Senate last July, which would have established an immediate level of 40 cents an hour for a 40-hour week throughout the country, the compromise of today represents a striking victory for the Southern Democracy over the administration, after a battle of nearly a year. It represents in particular a personal triumph for Congressman Ramspeck (Dem.), Georgia, a staunch New Dealer, who nevertheless fought the Norton version of this measure resolutely on the floor of the House, only to defeat Chairman Norton today in the bicameral conference.

Under Ramspeck's leadership, the South shifted its opposition from sectional to industrial differentials. It is understood that there are to be set up industrial boards, for each industry, which, after the mandatory period of the next two years is passed, will make decisions as to wages in their particular fields, with the provision that the 40-40 standard shall be attained in seven years, but with the exception—and here is supposed to be the South's especial triumph—that such rates shall not "substantially curtail employment opportunities."

Administrative Provision.

There was White House insistence, it was said, that, in case the 40-40 standard could not be established at once, a definite date should be set for arriving at a national minimum of a 40-cent hour. There is considerable sentiment for intrusting the operation of the bill not to the Secretary of Labor but to a special administrator to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate, and to be located in the Department of Labor.

The purpose of the New Dealers is to place on the statute books, in whatever form, and have confirmed in court, the principle of Federal control of national wages and hours. With that end achieved, it will always be possible to amend the law as it exists so as to increase wages and diminish hours.

Remington Rand Reinstating 800 Strikers Under NLRB Orders

Equal Number of Men Now at Work to Be "Furloughed"—Company Says It Will Try to Get Them Jobs.

By the Associated Press.

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 8.—Remington Rand Co. said last night it would "furlough" 800 new workers and reinstate a similar number of employes who went on strike in 1936.

Most of the changes will take place in the company's Syracuse, Ilion and Middletown (Conn.) plants.

Reinstatement of striking employes by July 15 was ordered last week by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in upholding a previous N L R B order.

Meanwhile, members of the Employes' Association, comprising workers who replaced the 1936 strikers, moved to protest against the N L R B decision ordering reinstatement of the strikers.

About 4000 employes originally were listed among the strikers but their number has been decreased by several factors, and it is estimated about 800 of those employed during the last two years will have to be placed on furlough before July 15.

"The company will endeavor to assist each worker who is placed on furlough to find temporary or permanent employment with other concerns," it was announced.

ROOSEVELT APPROVES MEDALS FOR FOUR BRITISH NAVY MEN

Officers to Be Honored for Assisting Victims of Panay Bombing.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Roosevelt today signed a bill authorizing the awarding of medals to four British Naval officers for "courageous action" in aiding victims of the Panay bombing.

The measure authorizes the President to present distinguished service medals to Rear Admiral Reginald Vesey Holt and Capt. George Eric Maxia O'Donnell and navy crosses to Vice-Admiral Lewis Gonne Eyre Crabbe and Lieutenant-Commander Harry Douglas Barlow.

The bill says Holt and O'Donnell rendered assistance in recovering survivors of the bombed American gunboat in China "in the face of threatened force and armed opposition." Crabbe and Barlow gave "voluntary and unstinted co-operation."

The Panay sank in the Yangtze River after it was bombed and machine-gunned by Japanese planes.

Cleveland Organization's Past President Announces Movement to Oust Official.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 8. — A group of Cleveland Newspaper Guild members announced today a movement to oust Jonathan Eddy as executive vice-president of the American Newspaper Guild at the international convention which will open Monday in Toronto.

"It is our feeling that under the present leadership, there have been too many misunderstandings between local guilds and the international office," said a statement by Bruce Catton, past president of the Cleveland Guild.

BROTHER OF IVAR KREUGER ORDERED TO PAY $285,000

STOCKHOLM, June 8. — The Swedish Supreme Court ordered today that Tortsen Kreuger, brother of Ivar Kreuger, the dead "match king," pay 1,100,000 kronor (about $285,000) to the trustees in bankruptcy of Ivar Kreuger's affairs.

In a suit arising from Ivar Kreuger's failure, the trustees had asked for 15,000,000 kronor, (about $3,885,000).

Ivar Kreuger, whose failure was one of the most spectacular in financial history, committed suicide in Paris, March 12, 1932.

$37,000,000 Appropriation Voted.

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The Senate passed the $37,000,000 Rivers and Harbors Bill today and sent it back to the House for concurrence in amendments. The measure would authorize the War Department to construct more than 50 improvements in rivers and harbors in all parts of the country.

POLES IN GERMANY ASK NAZIS TO KEEP PLEDGE

Complaint Lists Cultural and Economic Hardships Despite Agreement.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, June 8.—Europe's minorities problem, which has reached a crucial stage in Czechoslovakia, also has aroused a small Polish group in Eastern Germany to remind the Berlin Government of promises it made under the German-Polish nationality agreement of last Nov. 5, when Germany and Poland agreed there would be mutual respect for the rights of Germans living in Poland and Poles in Germany.

The League of Poles in Germany presented a memorandum to Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick June 3 complaining of cultural and economic hardships which it said its members still suffered despite the agreement.

Polish Embassy circles denied knowledge of such a step, but the Interior Ministry today admitted receipt of a memorandum.

German officials said Germans living in Poland still suffered handicaps despite the agreement.

Official circles said an investigation was being carried on by the Interior Ministry.

While the content of the memorandum was not revealed, reports from Warsaw indicated the chief complaint was Germany's failure to provide more Polish grammar schools, especially in Silesia. Other complaints were that local authorities were handicapping the work of Polish cultural societies, that Poles were being urged to withdraw savings deposits from Polish banks and that propaganda was being spread urging boycott of Polish shops.

MAN SURRENDERS, CONFESSES KILLING WOMAN IN SYRACUSE

Paducah (Ky.) Prisoner Says He Subsequently Was Arrested in St. Louis, but Released.

By the Associated Press.

PADUCAH, Ky., June 8.—Police Chief W. E. Bryants announced today Lawrence A. Gough, 31 years old, had confessed he killed Laura Krenrich, 38, Syracuse (N. Y.) beauty operator, in their Syracuse apartment, 10 days ago.

Gough, formerly of Newport, Ky., surrendered this morning.

The body of the woman, who Gough said was separated from her husband, was found six days ago. Gough left Syracuse the day before.

Chief Bryants said Gough told him he put the woman's body in a cedar chest and "stayed around the apartment three or four days." Gough said he sold some of his victim's jewelry for $15 and took about $20 from her purse, Bryants said. After unsuccessfully attempting to sell furniture in the apartment, Gough continued, he left Syracuse by bus for Newport, where relatives "told me I was nutty."

From Newport he went to St. Louis, Gough said. There he was picked up for investigation, but released Monday. He said he came here "because I knew Chief Bryants and wanted to give myself up."

ROBBERS TIE UP SEVEN LOOT MINDEN, LA., BANK

Undetermined Amount Taken in Second Holdup in Two Days on Arkansas-Louisiana Border.

SHREVEPORT, La., June 8.—Robbers held up the second bank in two days along the Arkansas-Louisiana border today, escaping with $20,000 from the Minden Bank & Trust Co. at Minden, La.

Three men robbed the Bank of Bradley, Ark., of $685 yesterday. James Meek, cashier, identified two of them as Floyd Hamilton and Ted Walters, both of Texas. State police said Hamilton is a brother of Raymond Hamilton, executed two years ago at the Huntsville (Tex.) prison.

The Minden bank robbers, numbering three or four, hid inside the building and tied up six employes and the president, J. E. Harper, as each entered. Then they forced Louis Scruggs, assistant cashier, to get the money from the vault.

WITNESS DETAILS $568,000 LOSS TO INVESTING TRUST

G. J. Mitchell Jr. Tells S E C How First Income Corporation Was Milked by Its Owners.

THEY ISSUED STOCK TO THEMSELVES

In Place of Good Shares Worthless Ones Were Substituted—Hearing After 6 Are Indicted.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—George J. Mitchell Jr., who was employed by a group of men, accused of looting seven investment trusts, testified at a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing today that the assets of one trust were manipulated at a loss, to the trust, of $568,000.

Six men are under indictment in New York County in connection with the alleged looting.

Mitchell testified before Trial Examiner Adrian C. Humphreys that Philip A. Frear and George H. Clayton financed a deal whereby they took over control of the First Income Trading Corporation for $110,000.

They formed the Fiscal Management Co., Ltd., a Canadian holding company, Mitchell said, and issued $182,000 worth of preferred stock to themselves, later transferring it to First Income Trading in exchange for First Income's portfolio securities.

Meanwhile, Mitchell said, securities from this portfolio were sold for $152,000 through the brokerage firm of Paine, Webber & Co. of New York and Boston.

Profit of $42,000.

Mitchell said a profit of $42,000 was made on the deal. Of this amount, he testified, $13,000 went to S. Leo Solomont, a former counsel for Paine, Webber; $14,000 to Frear, and $15,000 to Vincent E. Ferretti, New York lawyer.

When the men assumed control, Mitchell said, they advanced $125,000 from the First Income's portfolio to Calmur & Co., a dummy corporation. As collateral for the advance, shares of the Barkley-Grow Aircraft Corporation were given to First Income.

Two hundred shares of Western Union stock, worth $6000, were turned over to the personal brokerage account of H. B. Grow and were never repaid, Mitchell said. Grow, a Detroit promoter, testified last week he had turned over the account, with a New York brokerage firm, to Ferretti as security for a loan, and that Ferretti had taken the Western Union stock without his knowledge or consent.

Worthless Guarantee.

Mitchell said a loss of $56,000 was suffered by First Income when $61,225 was paid for 4000 shares of Red Bank Oil stock, a deal guaranteed, Mitchell said, by Calmur Corporation. David Schencker, S E C counsel, said Calmur "didn't have a dime" and the guarantee was worthless.

First Income, Mitchell further testified, paid $10,000 for 30,000 shares of Cook Lake Mining stock, also guaranteed by Calmur and never made good. Various other small stock transactions, he said, together with shrinkage in value, accounted for a total of $568,000 taken from First Income in return for which it received securities now virtually worthless.

The witness testified $217,000 was taken from First Income by the group to aid in gaining control of another investment trust, the Reynolds Investing Co., in December, 1937.

He said he was paid $100 a week by Calmur Corporation.

"But Calmur had no money," Schencker said. "Where did it come from?" "From First Income," Mitchell replied.

Villagers Near Mayon, 200 Miles South of Manila, Seek Safety; Man Dies of Fright.

By the Associated Press.

MANILA, June 8.—Smoke and flames shot from Mayon volcano with greater violence today, terrorizing the populace of Albay Province.

Reports from the village of Pawa said one man there died of fright while the sight of the flaming volcano, which had been quiet for 10 years, had driven another man insane.

Light earthquakes accompanied the rumblings from the crater.

More than 16,000 villagers of the area, 200 miles southeast of Manila, have vacated their homes and sought safety from the lava flow from the volcano which caused the death of 1200 persons in an eruption in 1814.

TWO KILLED, THREE INJURED IN AUTO CRASH IN COUNTY

Fred Rauscher, 63, and Otto Wanek, Lose Lives in Collision With Truck Near Webster Groves.

THEIR WIVES BOTH SEVERELY HURT

Driver of Other Vehicle Cut—He Says Lighter Machine Failed to Stop for Highway.

Two men were killed and their wives were seriously injured when a light sedan, in which they had just left their homes to go for an outing in the country, crashed into a heavily loaded transport truck-trailer at Highway 66 and Kenrick road, south of Webster Groves, at 8:20 o'clock this morning. The truck driver was slightly injured.

The dead:

Mrs. Wanek, who is about 58 years old, suffered fractures of the spine and ribs, and skull injuries. Mrs. Rauscher, 56, suffered a fracture of the left arm, torn left hand, deep lacerations and apparently a fracture of the left leg. Lee Webb, 29, Springfield, Mo., driver of the truck-trailer, was cut and bruised.

Truck Driver's Story.

Webb, who is employed by the Ozark Truck Lines of Springfield, told deputies he was eastbound in Highway 66 with a cargo of 9450 pounds of butter when he observed the sedan northbound in Kenrick road, formerly Laclede Station road. He said he was unable to estimate the speed at which it was traveling.

The driver of the car, he said, failed to make the boulevard stop and Webb swerved his truck-trailer violently to the left to avoid the machine. The light car crashed into the side of the truck, overturning both truck and trailer at the northwest corner of the intersection.

Mr. and Mrs. Rauscher were hurled from the sedan, which remained on its wheels but was demolished. Rauscher was dead when picked up and Wanek died about 10 minutes after arrival at County Hospital.

Mrs. Rauscher's Statement.

Mrs. Rauscher told deputies that the four were on their way to an outing at Stanton, Mo. She did not recall whether her husband made a boulevard stop at Highway 66, but declared the truck was traveling at high speed. Driver Webb said, however, that he had stopped for gasoline only a half mile west of the intersection and that it would have been impossible for the truck to get to high speed before reaching Kenrick road.

Wanek was a member of the C I O steel workers' union and was on strike with other C I O employes of the Usona Manufacturing Co., 3510 Chouteau avenue. He is survived by five grown sons.

WIDOW OF NAVY HERO FACES EVICTION IN BROOKLYN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Mrs. Sadie Leslie Monssen, who recently learned that the United States Navy would name a destroyer in memory of her husband, Lieut. Mons Monssen, U. S. N., received a notice yesterday from the Home Owners' Loan Corporation saying that she would be evicted on June 30 from her home in Brooklyn, and the house sold at auction to pay the mortgage of $7000.

Mrs. Monssen said she received a pension of $30 a month and her daughter, Sallie, 27 years old, who lives with her, gets $24 a week as a clerk for the W P A. Mrs. Monssen is 50. She was disturbed at the thought that she might have to give up her flower garden.

Lieut. Monssen, who died in 1930, saved the warship Missouri from being blown up in 1904 in what President Theodore Roosevelt called "one of history's most heroic acts." His heroism saved 600 men from death when he beat out a fire with his hands after the flames neared a powder magazine. The blaze already had killed 32 men. To reach the flames he wriggled his way through a small scuttle.

Lieut. Monssen received the Medal of Honor for saving the Missouri. President Theodore Roosevelt made the presentation. The Lieutenant retired from the Navy in 1925 after serving for 36 years.

N L R B EX-OFFICIAL HERE ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

Miss Mary Anne Moore Said to Admit Cashing $110 in Checks to Aid Sick Mother.

Miss Mary Anne Moore, formerly office manager in St. Louis for the National Labor Relations Board, was arrested in Washington yesterday on a Federal warrant charging forgery of two Government checks aggregating $110. Agents of the United States Secret Service Bureau said she was released on $1000 bond requiring her to appear in Federal Court at St. Louis June 13.

Miss Moore, who is 34 years old, was employed in 1934 by the St. Louis office of the old Labor Relations Board established under the N R A. After the enactment of the Wagner Act she became regional office manager of the National Labor Relations Board. Several months ago she was transferred, at her request, to the Washington office of the Labor Board.

Secret Service agents said the checks she was accused of forging were issued to Grant G. Cannon, a field examiner of the Board, for expenses, and mailed to him at St. Louis. He reported that he did not receive the checks and Secret Service agents traced them. Agents said Miss Moore admitted having cashed the checks last October, and said she was desperately in need of money because her mother was in a hospital.

CANADA URGED TO ANNEX SMALL CORNER OF MAINE

Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, June 8.—A petition urging the Canadian Government to seek annexation of a small corner of the State of Maine was submitted to the House of Commons yesterday by J. F. Pouliot, Liberal member from Quebec. It is signed by George Roy, president, and J. P. Dumont, secretary of the Estcourt local of the Catholic Union of Farmers.

The territory involved is a small sliver of Maine jutting into the Province of Quebec and into the village of Estcourt, on the St. Francis River and just across the border from the northwestern corner of Maine.

The petition says the inhabitants of this district are completely separated from the rest of Maine by a forest and market their products in Canada and that the payment of customs duties on such products is burdensome and vexatious.

TO TRANSFER 120 PATIENTS

County Court Orders Removal from City Sanitarium to State Hospital.

Transfer of 120 patients from the St. Louis City Sanitarium to the enlarged State Hospital for the Insane at Fulton was ordered today by the St. Louis County Court. The patients, who have been maintained by the county in the City Sanitarium because other facilities were not available, will be taken to Fulton July 1 in busses.

The county has paid St. Louis $20 a month for the care of each sanitarium patient. It will pay the State $6 a month.

A. G. VANDERBILT WED TO MANUELA HUDSON

Ceremony at His Mother's Home; They Met at Santa Anita Race Track.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, heir to a $20,000,000 fortune and prominent turfman, married Miss Manuela Hudson, daughter of George Hudson, a San Francisco attorney, today. Mrs. Vanderbilt shares her husband's interest in horse racing.

The romance began at Santa Anita Park last winter and continued through the meets at Pimlico and Belmont tracks. The ceremony took place at the Sands Point (L. I.) estate of Mrs. Margaret Emerson, Vanderbilt's mother. The Rev. Vincent A. McCarthy of St. Mary's Catholic Church, Manhasset, L. I., officiated.

Rumors of the romance had been current since shortly after Mrs. Charles S. Howard of San Francisco introduced her niece to Vanderbilt in the Howard box at Santa Anita.

Vanderbilt is the son of Mrs. Emerson and the late Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, who lost his life when the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine in 1915.

After the ceremony, held in the Emerson home because Vanderbilt is not a Catholic, a champagne toast was proposed and drunk, after which guests shattered their glasses.

Leaving the home shortly after the ceremony, Vanderbilt and his 25-year-old bride boarded the Bermuda-bound Pan American Clipper to start their honeymoon. He is the owner of the famous handicap horse, Discovery.

PRINCE LOUIS FERDINAND AND WIFE AT WHITE HOUSE

They Chat With President, Then James Roosevelt Shows Them Around.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Roosevelt and Prince Louis Ferdinand and his bride, Princess Kyra, met again yesterday.

The Prince is a grandson of former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany, his bride, a niece of the late Czar Nicholas of Russia. They were house guests of the President and Mrs. Roosevelt last week-end at Hyde Park, N. Y.

The President received them in his office and after a brief chat turned them over to his son, James, who took them on a tour of the executive mansion and gardens.

"The President told us about Calvin Coolidge's alarm clocks," the Prince said. This had reference to the former President's prank—he was an occasional practical joker—of ringing the police alarm near the White House front door, then disappearing before the police arrived.

JAPANESE ATTACK CITY THREE TIMES, DO HEAVY DAMAGE

ELECTRIC POWER AND TELEPHONES CUT OFF

Explosives Start Big Fire Near Foreign Settlement —Half of Million Inhabitants Reported to Have Fled.

By the Associated Press.

CANTON, China, June 8.—Three new bombardments today increased civilian casualties in this city to at least 3000 killed and 5000 wounded in 12 successive days of Japanese air raids.

The third raid was made at 10:30 p. m. and apparently was directed against Canton's old power plant, the only one not yet put out of commission by bombs. The bombers missed their target, but started a big fire within 400 yards of Shameen, the International Settlement.

In one of the two earlier raids in which 31 Japanese planes participated, bombs struck a Standard Oil storage plant and fell on the campus of Lingnam University, an American-endowed institution. The Standard Oil tanks burst into flame, spreading fires which destroyed the terminal of the Canton-Hankow railway and a 16-car train just arrived from Hankow, China's provisional capital.

100 Houses Demolished.

At least 300 new civilian casualties were inflicted on Honan Island, an industrial district. Several Japanese bombs, apparently aimed at the Pearl River bridge, exploded in Honan's congested areas, demolishing about 100 houses.

No accurate list of dead and injured could be compiled because many bodies still were buried in the debris of wrecked buildings with rescue squads unable to keep pace with the destruction.

A direct hit on Canton's power station cut off electric power, disabling the city's air alarm system and crippling hospital services.

Police went from house to house ringing door bells to warn inhabitants as the Japanese planes came over, first before daybreak and later in mid-morning.

Hospitals lacked current for refrigerators to preserve serums and operate X-ray apparatus, and the work of caring for thousands of the injured was handicapped.

Telephone System Silenced.

The city's telephone system was silenced, making more difficult the work of relief and public safety.

Besides the power station and railroad terminal, which still was burning hours after the second raid, the Japanese explosive and incendiary bombs caused heavy damage at a cement works and a British-owned water works.

Government buildings, the Sun Yat-sen Memorial Hall, commemorating the founder of China's republic, and several schools and universities were damaged.

Three bombs struck the Lingnam University which is attended by several exchange students from the United States.

The university is about a mile and a half from the nearest military objective, an anti-aircraft battery on Honam Island in the Pearl River. Thirty-one Americans, three Britons and one German are members of the faculty.

Direct Hit on Train.

The first raiders today scored a direct hit with an incendiary bomb on the 16-car train which just had arrived at the Wongsha Station from Hankow. Another hit the oil reserve depot across the street from the station. Flames leaping 55 feet into the air quickly destroyed the train, and, spreading out of control, burned freight sheds, other

SPANISH REBELS BOMB FIGUERAS; 40 ARE KILLED

HOSPITAL HIT; ALSO CITY HALL

30 Buildings Destroyed — Airplane Raids Continue on Barcelona, Valencia and Alicante.

By the Associated Press.

PERPIGNAN, France, June 8.—Spanish insurgent planes today bombed Figueras, junction of the main seaboard railway and the automobile highway from France. The town is about 20 miles inside Spanish Government territory.

Dispatches from Barcelona say 40 persons were killed and 60 wounded and 30 houses destroyed.

Bombs apparently aimed at the railway hit a hospital, the city hall and other buildings in the heart of the city.

Figueras officials telephoned Perpignan that many of the seriously wounded could not be cared for there and asked for permission to move them into Perpignan for emergency treatment.

Spanish Government anti-aircraft batteries opened fire on the raiders when they arrived about 10 a. m., but the planes apparently escaped damage.

LOYAL ARMY FALLS BACK TO MAIN LINE

HENDAYE, France, June 8.—Insurgents fought their way to the Spanish Government's main defense lines guarding Valencia today. Dispatches also report night air raids on Barcelona, Valencia and Alicante, which added to yesterday's hundreds of casualties.

Heavy reinforcements, backed by hundreds of patrolling planes and massed artillery, were thrown into the battle on the coastal sector and forced the strong Government outposts about Albocacer to retire to prepared defense lines.

The Government militia held fast in these lines, however, and made frequent counter-attacks, striking hasty blows at the relatively unprotected insurgents who clung to trenches hastily dug for the night.

The insurgent capture of the village of Adzaneta, only 18 miles northwest of the important coastal city of Castellon de la Plana and almost the same distance south of Albocacer, brought Generalissimo Francisco Franco's shock troops squarely up against the Government's main line, which follows the fall of high land from Albocacer to Mora de Rubielos.

Gen. Jose Miaja, the Government commander-in-chief on the Valencia-Madrid front, in constructing his line utilized the natural defenses formed by an almost unbroken chain of mountains which dip abruptly toward the insurgent lines and force the rebels to attack across relatively open spaces.

The insurgents now have access to three river valleys—the Villahermosa on the west near Mora de Rubielos, the Lucena in the middle, and the Rambla de la Viuda, "the river of the widow," on the east, flowing into the Mediterranean just south of Castellon—giving them an opportunity to wage a "war of pockets."

But even these river valleys, affording natural corridors for alternate advances down to the coast toward Valencia and Castellon de la Plana, were well protected by machine gunners planted in nests in the hills.

New Raids on Coast.

While Franco's Spanish, Moorish and Italian divisions aimed at Lucena del Cid and the encircling of Albocacer and Mora de Rubielos as their immediate objectives, his air bombers continued to attack Barcelona, Valencia and Alicante.

Roaring through a thick pall of smoke that overhung much of Barcelona from smouldering ruins of Monday's attack, insurgent planes late last night and early today in two attacks bombed and demolished several houses in the working quarter. Seven persons were hurt.

Alicante was visited for the third time in 24 hours late yesterday afternoon, bringing the town's incomplete casualty list to 53 killed and 170 injured.

Valencia received its last attack yesterday at 11:30 p. m. At least 42 were dead there.

The Belgian Consulate and the Victoria Hotel were destroyed at Alicante.

The Spanish Government announced 144 insurgent aviators, among them 54 Italians and 46 Germans, had been captured since the beginning of the war.

A dispatch from Seville quotes the insurgent General, Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, as saying his friendship with Gen. Franco is "closer than ever."

The General, famous for his insurgent broadcasts, has been reported to be the leader of a rebellious faction which resented activities of German and Italian officers in Spain. He declared reports of unrest in Andalusia were "false invention."

Large Forces of Moors and Riffs Arrive in Rebel Spain.

By the Associated Press.

GIBRALTAR, June 8.—Large contingents of Moors and Riffs landed at the insurgent port of Algeciras today and more are expected soon.

Observers link the troop movement with reported unrest in insurgent Spain, said to have developed over fears of insurgent officers that Italians and Germans intend to maintain a military hold on the country when the civil war ends.

Three insurgent armored motor ships escorted by a gunboat and five armed trawlers carried the Moors and Rifsf to Algeciras from Ceuta, Spanish Morocco. The trawlers remained in the Straits until the troops landed, then all the ships returned to Ceuta.

It is understood the new contingents were sent to Seville.

Rebel Government to Conduct Tours in Northern Spain.

IRUN, Spain, June 8.—The Spanish insurgent government announced today it would conduct nine-day tours through the battlefields of Northern Spain as its first bid for tourist traffic.

Sightseeing busses with guides and interpreters will leave the French and Portuguese frontiers to tour the region around Bilbao, Santander, Gijon and Oviedo. This area, scene of some of the severest fighting of the civil war, now is behind the battle lines.

The tourist office, a branch of the insurgent ministry of interior, said the tours were "designed to show tourists of all nationalities that complete order reigns in the liberated territory."

CANTON BOMBED AGAIN; 3000 DEAD IN 12 DAYS OF RAIDS

depot buildings and 30 civilian stores.

Two bombs also fell in the Taishatou district, near the terminus of the 111-mile Kowloon-Canton railroad, which connects this city with Hongkong and is the main avenue of war supplies from abroad.

Densely settled boat dwellers stampeded during the raid before dawn when tense, silent waterfront crowds saw flares go up. With cries of "Traitor!" the crowd started menacingly toward where the lights were fired, apparently fearing they had exposed targets to the raiders overhead.

Hundreds of natives were pushed or jumped into canals, but it was believed few lives were lost.

Anti-aircraft defenses proved ineffective against the Japanese air raiders, whose attacks have destroyed 1000 buildings in the Canton area.

Anti-aircraft batteries fired on the raiders today but did not hit the wheeling, quickly disappearing targets.

Chinese warplanes have battled the invaders in the air only about a half dozen times since the outbreak of the war 11 months ago.

Apparently both planes and guns are inadequate in number and are being shuttled back and forth between the north and south in an effort to make the most use of them.

Exodus From City.

It is believed the raiders came from bases established by the Japanese navy on islands off the coast, near the Portuguese colony of Macao.

Japanese planes also raided Foochow, about 600 miles north of Canton, today, frightening the population but only dropping leaflets urging revolt against Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Fearful of bombardment later, Americans and other foreigners there are painting flags on roofs of all their buildings and are preparing air raid shelters.

It was estimated fully 500,000 inhabitants of this city of about 1,000,000 had fled. About one-third of its residences have been vacated.

Flight from the congested, panic-stricken city was hastened by fear the attacks might be the signal for a general Japanese offensive in South China. Officials ordered women and children to leave and transportation facilities could not cope with the rush.

Alarm was increased by pamphlets dropped from Japanese warplanes yesterday on Swatow, 170 miles northeast of Canton, warning citizens that the war zone now was extended to South China and urging the seaports' inhabitants to flee immediately. They said "retreating Chinese armies would occasion bloodshed, although Japanese forces are anxious to protect lives."

Canton's railroad stations were crowded with refugees, many Cantonese fleeing into the countryside and others attempting to reach Chinese ports farther south.

In Shanghai, a Japanese spokesman conceded civilian casualties in the Canton bombing had been "considerable but unavoidable," in destroying Chinese military establishments. "Because only the civilian casualty angle is emphasized the world is getting a lop-sided picture of what is taking place," he declared. Despite severe anti-aircraft fire, he said Japanese planes had wrought heavy damage on the Tienho Airdrome, the Saichuen industrial area, cartridge and plane manufacturing plants, and anti-aircraft positions south of the city.

JAPANESE MOVE ON CHENGCHOW

SHANGHAI, June 8.—Casualties in recent fighting in Central China have increased the Japanese total to well past 300,000 and the Chinese to more than 1,000,000, foreign military authorities estimated today.

These estimates, based on undisclosed sources of information, said the Japanese had lost 32,000 killed between April 1 and May 22, including fighting about Taierhchwang, Suchow and Lini in Shantung province.

In the Shanghai and Hangchow area it was estimated the Japanese had lost 300 killed and 700 wounded, mostly in recent guerrilla fighting.

On the Central China front Japanese were driving rapidly to occupation of Chengchow, junction of the Lunghai and Peiping-Hankow railways, preparatory to an advance southward to Hankow, one of China's provisional capitals, 300 miles away.

Japanese were within 10 miles of the junction and were preparing for the final assault. Chinese troops spread out as a protective buffer before the admittedly doomed city. Their greatest concentrations were reported at Chowkiakow, 90 miles southeast, protecting the Peiping-Hankow railway.

While the flat, sandy terrain about Chengchow made defense difficult, Chinese troop movements indicated a delaying stand would be made at Hsuchang, 50 miles south of Chengchow. Hsuchang, a town of 50,000 population, is a tobacco-growing center.

Civilians in Chengchow Take Refuge in Mission Compounds.

CHENGCHOW, China, June 8.—Foreign mission compounds in Kaifeng and Chengchow have become havens of refuge for civilians. These two once thriving and once important cities of North Central China are the headquarters of missions providing shelter to civilians either unable or unwilling to join the tens of thousands of their fellow citizens who have fled before Japanese troops closing in on the Honan province area.

Communications with Kaifeng (now occupied by Japanese) have been cut for some time, but the last word out indicated 59 Protestant and Catholic missionaries, including 26 Americans, were operating relief centers for several thousand civilians remaining within and around the city. Besides the American missionaries there were four Canadians, nine Britons, 17 Italians, and two Australians.

Civilians were streaming from the city by foot and any other means available, many not knowng where they were bound.

The last ordinary trains have left Chengchow for the west and south. Air raid warning sirens have been removed, and the city is grimly expectant.

The Baptist mission hospital is the only remaining medical institution for civilians and soldiers. It is headed by Dr. Sanford Ayers of Atlanta, Ga., assisted by an English volunteer, Dr. Donald Hankey, and a New Zealand Red Cross physician, Dr. R. B. Grey. Other Canadian, American and British missionaries are organizing a civilian relief center in the Baptist mission compound.

Twenty-one foreigners are remaining in Chengchow, including four Americans, two Canadians, three Britons, 12 Italians, and one New Zealander. All but one Briton are missionaries.

State Department Protests to Japanese Consul General.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The American Government protested to the Japanese Consul General at Hongkong today against the bombing by Japanese airplanes of the campus of the American-endowed Lingnam University at Canton.

The State Department said this country's protest was delivered to the Japanese official by Addison E. Southard, United States Consul-General at Hongkong.

The department said Southard cabled that three Japanese bombs fell on the western end of the campus at the edge of the athletic field 200 yards from houses occupied by Americans. No buildings were struck.

In protesting to the Japanese Consulate-General, Southard pointed out, the department said, that the property was partly owned by Americans.

DIRECTED VERDICT DENIED IN FLORIDA FLOGGING TRIAL

Motion for Acquittal of Five Former Tampa Policemen on Kidnaping Charges Is Rejected.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BARTOW, Fla., June 8.—Judge John L. Moocre denied a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal for five former Tampa policemen on trial in the Florida flogging case, at the conclusion of the State's testimony this afternoon.

Defense counsel had 23 witnesses sworn and prepared to open their came immediately.

The defendants are accused of kidnaping Eugene F. Poulnot late in November, 1935.

State Attorney Rex Farrior offered the evidence of N. T. Whitworth, Tampa traffic officer, that the badge number worn by one of the defendants, John P. Bridges, was changed from 39 to 140 two weeks after the flogging of three men, when it was learned several witnesses saw Poulnot's abduction outside the Tampa police station.

A witness yesterday said he saw the number 39 on Bridges' badge and that the policeman was holding Poulnot, seeking to suppress his cries for help.

Further identification of three defendants at the scene of the abduction was given today by Police Capt. J. L. Eddings, who said he saw Bridges in a car that drove away about the time Poulnot said he was kidnaped.

Standing nearby, Eddings said he saw C. A. Brown Jr. and C. W. Carlisle, two others accused by the prosecution.

The other defendants are Sam E. Crosby and F. W. Switzer.

Poulnot, Samuel Rogers, and Joseph Shoemaker were seized and flogged after they had been questioned by police about alleged Communistic activities. Shoemaker died several days later from effects of the beating.

Three State witnesses yesterday testified they were afraid to identify the defendants at an earlier investigation of the case.

All of the five men on trial were convicted previously of kidnaping, but obtained a new trial on technical grounds. They were acquitted of Shoemaker's death.

ALUMINUM, LTD. DENIES IT DOES BUSINESS IN U. S.

Canadian Firm Formed by Aluminum Co. of America, Says It Should Not Be Named in Suit.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Timothy N. Pfeiffer, representing Aluminum, Ltd., the Canadian corporation formed in 1928 by the Aluminum Company of America to take over its foreign holdings, told United States District Judge Francis G. Caffey today his client should not have been named in the Government's anti-trust suit against the Aluminum Company of America and 60 co-defendants. The attorney said his company was in no sense engaged in business in the United States and that its properties here consisted only of a few desks in Rockefeller Center.

Pfeiffer said the Government had made, in effect, two charges against his company:

1. That the Canadian corporation is the alter ego of the Aluminum Company of America, or Alcoa as popularly known, and is a party to a foreign cartel agreement intended to restrain competition here and in foreign markets;

2. That Aluminum, Ltd., does not export aluminum from Canada to the United States except to Alcoa and is a "mere stooge" of the parent corporation.

"Series of Assumptions."

Pfeiffer said these charges were based solely "upon a series of assumptions" declaring Aluminum, Ltd., "was not created for any illegal purpose, and the fact that it does not compete with Aluminum Company of America in the United States is no proof of unlawful activities or purposes, any more than are the foreign cartels."

He denied that any of the Canadian company's acts had been "vicious or unlawful," and said it was not responsible for the acts or motives of its creator, Alcoa, that it was a foreign corporation in every sense, and that it owns no bauxite, alumina or aluminum in the United States.

"All the companies in which Aluminum, Ltd., is interested," said Pfeiffer, "are engaged outside of the United States, in Europe, South America, Asia and throughout the far-flung British Empire."

Earnings Put at 9 Pct.

The average yearly earnings of the Aluminum Co. of America since its establishment were estimated at slightly more than 9 per cent on its average net assets by William Watson Smith of Pittsburgh, lawyer for the company, testifying yesterday.

"We submit that the Aluminum company's earnings, in a business as hazardous as this one, have not been excessive," he said.

"From its beginning through Dec. 31, 1934, the Aluminum company's earnings per annum on its average net assets had averaged slightly more than 9 per cent, and it has paid out in cash dividends slightly more than 3 per cent, the balance of its net earnings being put back into the business.

"A large proportion of corporations going into the manufacturing business are never successful. The Aluminum company, even with its efficient management, actually lost money in 1921. It lost money in 1932.

"In 1937, earnings were about $27,000,000 on net assets of $180,000,000. This is about a 15 per cent return and the largest in all the company's history.

"Such earnings for a manufacturing company starting in a hazardous business with one of the most valuable patents in the world protected for 17 years are not excessive. They are no more than reasonable."

When Smith concluded his address, Charles Evans Hughes Jr. opened briefly for Aluminum Manufacturers, Inc., another of the 61 defendants in the suit.

Judge Caffey announced the trial would be suspended from June 30 to Oct. 3. The Judge intends to be in Europe in July and August, and engaged in other court matters in September.

BOMBING PLANE SINKS SHIP AT BRITISH PORT IN SPAIN

30 Explosive Missiles Dropped at Gandia—Warehouses Machine-Gunned—Brazen Attack, Says Manager.

By the Associated Press.

GANDIA, Spain, June 8.—A seaplane bombed and machine-gunned this British-operated port on Government Spain's Mediterranean coast in a moonlight raid early today, damaging a British dredger so seriously that it sank a few hours later.

The harbor of Gandia, 36 miles south of Valencia, is a small, modern port, owned by a British company.

The plane, thought to be the same one which bombed two British ships in Alicante harbor yesterday, dropped about 30 bombs, five of them hitting the dredger.

Twenty railway cars and a warehouse were destroyed and another warehouse was damaged. The warehouses were machine-gunned, but there were no casualties.

Edwin Apfel, British manager of the port, said he thought the plane was German-manned. It carried two pilots and was clearly visible in the moonlight. Flying only a few hundred feet high, the plane circled the port slowly for 30 minutes.

The dredger, named the Gandia, was the only vessel in the harbor.

Apfel placed the damage at 1,500,000 pesetas (about $87,000). He said the raid was a "deliberate and brazen attack on British property."

"The sole aim," he declared, "was to destroy the port, which British capital established 50 years ago. Incendiary bombs destroyed one warehouse and damaged another. The dredger had three holes below the water line and is lost.

"I picked up machinegun bullets all over the harbor. The harbor was never used for anything except legitimate shipping, mainly fruit and vegetables."

A Madrid dispatch, however, says Gandia has been used for about two weeks as a port of call for British destroyers and cruisers, owing to the frequent air raids on Valencia. Roofs in Gandia are clearly marked with British colors.

COTTON CO-OPERATIVE GIVEN CLEAN BILL BY SENATORS

Committee Action, by Vote of 11 to 2, in Case of Activities of the American Association.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Senate Agriculture Committee voted today to clear the American Cotton Co-operative Association of all charges raised against it during an investigation started more than a year ago.

The committee adopted, 11 to 2, a report prepared by Senators Bankhead (Dem.), Alabama, and Ellender (Dem.), Louisiana, which gave the co-operative a clean bill of health on each of the specifications raised by Lawrence Westbrook and a special committee staff named to inquire into A C C A.

At the same time the committee accepted a suggestion of Chairman Smith (Dem.), South Carolina, that the Secretary of Agriculture prepare legislation providing a complete Government quality rating on every bale of cotton ginned. Senators Smith and Frazier (Rep.), North Dakota, did not join in the majority report. They indicated they would file a separate report later.

The committee had been instructed to investigate activities of the co-operative financed by Government loans, profits derived, any losses incurred by farmers as a result of its activities, its membership and financial structure, and to determine whether it was actually a co-operative or "a buying and selling organization for the benefit of its officers."

TAUNTON, Mass., June 8.—An estimated value of $2,536,148 was placed on the Massachusetts estate of Col. Edward H. LINER HOOVER WRECK LAID TO UNSAFE SPEED

Marine Bureau Director and Board Clear Most of Crew of Misconduct Charges.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Director R. F. Field of the Marine Inspection Bureau said today the steamer President Hoover was going too fast when it ran aground on the island of Hoisho Dec. 10. He said the conditions of visibility and navigation did not permit a safe speed as great as that at which the liner was traveling.

The director offered this criticism of the handling of the Hoover in analyzing the report of an inquiry board which absolved Capt. George W. Yardley and the crew of responsibility for the loss of the ship.

Field concurred with the board in exonerating the crew generally on charges of drunkenness and misconduct on the island while the 700 passengers awaited rescue.

The board, however, found John J. Terlin, sixth assistant engineer, and Spencer Smilie, a seaman, guilty of misconduct, and recommended a six-month suspension for Terlin and a 30-day suspension for Smilie. Field said action on these recommendations would be announced later.

Both the board and Field exonerated Jack McCartney, third steward of the Hoover, from misconduct charges.

The board found that eight members of the crew, some unidentified, and "a small minority of the passengers . . . were guilty of reprehensible conduct" on the island.

"There is no doubt that there were instances of looting of baggage on the part of some members of the crew," the report added.

The Hoover was stranded while en route from Kobe, Japan, to Manila after participating in the evacuation of Americans from the Chinese war zone.

Although the board did not criticise Capt. Yardley, it found that "the direct cause of this unfortunate casualty was the master's incorrect estimate of the rate of flow of the current against the vessel." The board and Field agreed that whatever blame might attach to Capt. Yardley, it was not sufficient to have warranted any action against him.

Yardley died on May 30.

ACCIDENT OR SUICIDE DEFENSE INDICATED

State to Attempt to Show Woman Had Learned of Accused's Affair With Elvins (Mo.) Girl.

Testimony began today in the trial of Leslie Glore, formerly a maintenance helper for the Union Electric Co., charged with first-degree murder of his wife, who died of strychnine poisoning Feb. 3 in their home, 1436 Dolman street.

In the opening statement for the State, Assistant Circuit Attorney Frank P. Motherway demanded of the jury, in Circuit Judge Michael J. Scott's court, the death penalty for Glore. The only other punishment possible on conviction is imprisonment for life.

Defense Attorney Stewart D. Flanagan, in objecting to a statement by Motherway that the prosecution would show Glore murdered his wife, indicated the defense would be that she died accidentally or suicide. Statement by the defense was reserved.

Prosecutor's Statement.

Motherway said it would be shown that Glore purchased strychnine in a drug store at Leadwood, Mo., his former home, five days before his wife's death; that he was beneficiary of an insurance policy, between $500 and $1000, on his wife's life; that he had had relations with Miss Hilda Mitchell of Elvins, Mo.

Miss Mitchell, 21-year-old farm girl, has related under oath, at the Coroner's inquest into Mrs. Glore's death, that Glore was father of her son, now about 14 months old. She testified at the inquest that Glore told her letters he had written to her had fallen into the hands of his wife.

Glore, a stocky, stolid man, 32 years old, repeatedly has denied that he killed his wife or purchased strychnine. He has two children by his wife, Louise, 7 years old, and Dennis, 20 months old. His wife was 31 years old.

Neighbor Is First Witness.

The first witness at the trial was Mrs. Mary Warner, 1436 (rear) Dolman, who testified she was present at Mrs. Glore's death and that she died in convulsions. As a neighbor, she explained, she had aided in housework at the Glore home from time to time for about seven weeks during an illness of Mrs. Glore and had received $8 from Glore for her services.

Mrs. Warner testified that the condition of Mrs. Glore, under treatment by a physician during the seven weeks, became serious on the afternoon of Feb. 3, although she had been up in the morning and had cooked breakfast for her husband. Mrs. Glore died, the witness said, while the physician, Dr. Harry E. Kirkpatrick, summoned hastily, was in the kitchen preparing a hypodermic.

It was the refusal of Dr. Kirkpatrick, who had attended Mrs. Glore for pleurisy, to sign her death certificate which led to the police investigation resulting in the arrest of Glore. Analysis of the viscera of Mrs. Glore disclosed presence of two grains of strychnine.

Complaint About Rats.

Under cross-examination, Mrs. Warner testified she overheard Mrs. Glore, about two weeks before her death, ask her husband to "get something" to kill rats around the place, as she feared they might bite the children while they slept. This testimony seemed to surprise the prosecutor, who sought to have the witness fix the time she first had given that account.

The Leadwood drug clerk who had identified Glore after his arrest as the man who had purchased strychnine from him Jan. 29 under the name "Bill Glore," has stated that the purchaser said he intended to use the poison to kill rats on a farm he was arranging to buy.

To refute Mrs. Warner's testimony about overhearing Mrs. Glore talk of rats, Motherway elicited testimony from Lisborn Glore, a brother of the defendant, that he had resided in the Glore home on Dolman street for nine days before Mrs. Glore's death and had seen no evidence of rats.

Lisbon Glore testified he had been in Leadwood on Jan. 29 but had not visited the drug store and had bought no strychnine. He had heard, he said, that Leslie Glore was in Leadwood then. He gave an account of Mrs. Glore's death similar to that already given by Mrs. Warner. He had not heard his sister-in-law mention suicide, he said in response to a question by the prosecutor.

On cross-examination, however, Lisborn Glore said his sister-in-law had complained that rats ate her clothing and had asked her husband to get rid of them.

Questioned further by defense counsel, he said his brother, the defendant, had taken turns with him and Dr. Kirkpatrick in giving artificial respiration to Mrs. Glore.

Sick Woman Appeared Melancholy.

Mrs. Warner testified also on cross-examination that Mrs. Glore had appeared melancholy during her illness, had "acted strange-like" and had said on one occasion that she had a horror of autopsies because she and her husband had seen so many when they were employed at City Hospital. Defense counsel elicited the testimony about autopsies apparently in expectation that the State would introduce testimony that it was Glore who said his wife had a horror of autopsies.

Under questioning by the prosecutor, Mrs. Warner testified that Mr. Glore had never mentioned suicide in her presence, but had suggested arrangements for care of her children "if anything should happen" to her. The witness added that Mrs. Glore had said previously that if her coughing spells continued she would never get well.

In the Glore home at the time of the wife's death, in addition to Mrs. Warner and the physician, Mrs. Wasner continued, were Glore and his brother, Lisborn, who had been shaving in the bathroom. Leslie Glore, summoned by telephone, when his wife asked for him, calling him by his nickname, "Fat," reached home about 10 minutes before his wife died, Mrs. Warner said. He cried when he learned of her condition, the witness added.

During the testimony, the defendant, dressed neatly in a blue suit, white shirt and blue tie, sat erect in his chair, looking intently at the witness and hardly moving except to blink his eyes occasionally or run a hand through his shock of black hair.

COURT UPHOLDING INJUNCTION QUOTES SPEECH FROM OTHELLO

Affirms Order Barring Ex-officers From Using Name of Negro Fraternal Society.

Presiding Judge Jefferson D. Hostetter of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, a student of the classics, quoted Iago in Shakespeare's Othello in an opinion of the Court yesterday, which denied use of a corporation's name by suspended members.

The opinion, affirming action of Circuit Judge John W. Joynt in issuing an injunction forbidding six former officers of the Pacific Movement of the Eastern World, Inc., a Negro fraternal society, from using that name or interfering with the corporation's activities, quoted as apropos the following lines:

> But he that filches from me my > good name,
> Robs me of that which not en> riches him
> And makes me poor indeed.

It was contended on behalf of the six defendants that a court had no authority to issue the injunction since the only issue concerned internal dissension and involved no property right. The appellate court held that use of the corporate name was a right which the corporation was entitled to protect.

FRED J. CORNWELL APPOINTED

Real Estate Man Put on City Plan Commission.

Frederick J. Cornwell, real estate dealer, was appointed to the City Plan Commission yesterday by Baxter L. Brown, president of the Board of Public Service, on recommendation of Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann. He will complete the term of the late Aaron Waldheim, which expires in 1939.

The reappointment of Victor Berlendis, sculptor, to the Municipal Art Commission has been announced by the Mayor.

COUNTESS TESTIFIES IN SMUGGLING TRIAL

Parisian Says She Was Sales Girl for New York Style Salon.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Countess Marie de Beaumont of Paris, testified yesterday in the trial of Marcel Rochas, Inc., French modiste, on charges of smuggling $20,000 to $30,000 worth of gowns into this country.

As the Government rested its case and United States District Judge William Bondy denied a motion to dismiss the indictment, Defense Attorney Maurice Leon called the Countess as a surprise witness. She had previously been under subpoena as a Government witness, but had not been called.

She said she was a "salesgirl" for the Rochas firm.

Under questioning, the witness said that Guy Guerin de Font-Joyeuse, indicted New York manager of the style salon, was concerned chiefly with the business end of the enterprise and presumably would not know if labels were removed from gowns which the Government charges were smuggled into this country on the backs and in trunks of French and American mannequins.

Earlier, Government agents had testified that eight fur coats seized in a raid on the New York shop had a total value of $3150, uitiable at $1050.

Customs Agent James Quinn said 78 gowns taken in the raid were valued at $12,071, dutiable at $4518.

HOUSE VOTES $50,000 FOR FBI SEARCH FOR BOY'S KIDNAPERS

$150,000 Emergency Fund for Use in Similar Cases Also Is Approved.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The House voted today to give the Federal Bureau of Investigation $50,000 requested by President Roosevelt to finance the hunt for the kidnapers of 5-year-old Jimmy Cash. Also approved an additional $150,000 emergency fund for use in similar cases.

There was not a dissenting vote when Representative Woodrum (Dem.), Virginia, proposed the two amendments to the deficiency appropriation bill.

Just before the House voted, Representatives Bacon (Rep.), New York, and Crawford (Rep.), Michigan, criticised the Budget Bureau in connection with appropriations for the F B I, Bacon asserting the bureau was "starving" the agency.

DANCER-HUSBAND SEEKS $200,000 OF EX-MRS. SIEGEL

Emeterio Gali Files Damage Suit Saying He Was Turned Out After 10 Weeks of Married Life.

Filing of a $200,000 damage suit in Los Angeles yesterday by Emeterio Gali, former New York dancing teacher, disclosed that his wealthy wife, the former Mrs. Alfred J. Siegel of St. Louis, had turned him out of their home 10 weeks after their marriage.

Gali, the third husband of Mrs. Siegel, who is in her 60s, alleges she failed to keep a promise to provide him with an annual income of $3600 and to maintain him for the rest of his life "in an atmosphere of wealth, comfort and culture."

Induced by these promises, his petition relates, he gave up his career as a dancing instructor and married Mrs. Siegel at Crown Point, Ind., last March 21. Last Thursday she asked him to leave her home in Beverly Hills, telling him she intended to seek a divorce.

The third marriage of Mrs. Siegel, whose first husband was president of the Huttig Sash and Door Co., the Manchester Bank and the Mound City Box Co., lasted not quite so long as her second. In January, 1935, she married E. Mack Tracy, vice-president of the Capen Belting and Rubber Co. She divorced him the following May.

Her first husband, whom she married in 1894, died in 1926, leaving his $600,000 estate in trust for her, with the provision that if she married again she would forfeit two-thirds of the trust income to their sons, Roy and Ralph, the ultimate beneficiaries of the trust. Roy Siegel is now president of the Huttig Sash and Door Co.

At the time of the death of her first husband the Siegel residence was at 5565 Lindell boulevard. When in St. Louis in recent years Mrs. Siegel has resided at the Park Plaza Hotel.

Her marriage to Gali was a surprise to her sons, who had not known of her intention and were not acquainted with Gali.

MRS. MARY C. SCHNEIDER DIES AT 93; FUNERAL FRIDAY

For 45 Years She Operated Hotel Bearing Her Name at 1104 South Fourth Street.

Mrs. Mary C. Schneider, 93 years old, who for 45 years operated the old Schneider Hotel at 1104 South Fourth street, died of infirmities of age today at her home, 3209 Dodier street.

Born in Germany, she came to the United States with her parents when she was 10 years old. She began operation of the hotel when her husband, Charles, died five years after their marriage. During the years the old French market on Broadway south of Chouteau was a principal business section, the hotel was a gathering place for merchants, farmers and produce men.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Friday from the William F. Paschedag undertaking establishment, 2825 North Grand boulevard, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery. Surviving are five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

ST. LOUIS INSURANCE BOARD

Fire Underwriters' Association Changes Name Adopted in 1870.

The Fire Underwriters' Association of St. Louis changed its title to the Insurance Board of St. Louis at a special meeting of members, Arthur F. Felker, president of the organization, announced yesterday.

The title dropped, adopted in 1870 with the formation of the organization here, was considered too limited in the light of the growth of many forms of insurance. The Insurance Board also extended its operating territory to inclue St. Louis County, and will take in new members among insurance agents and brokers of the county. The organization now has 900 members.

DRIVER OF CAR THAT KILLED BOY IS FINED ON APPEAL

W. A. Deichmann Had Previously Obtained a Mistrial and Acquittal in Same Case.

William A. Deichmann, a meat cutter, 4038A Sullivan avenue, was fined $225 and costs by a jury in Judge Joseph L. Simpson's Court of Criminal Correction yesterday on a charge of careless driving growing out of an automobile accident in which Thomas Brennan, 11 years old, was fatally injured and his playmate, Louis Thuet Jr., was hurt when run down by Deichmann's car Aug. 31.

The case was heard on appeal by the city from a jury verdict of acquittal in Police Court March 11. Previously, a mistrial had been declared at the first Police Court trial of the case in November and two grand juries had returned no true bills, the second one after Circuit Judge Harry F. Russell, an uncle of Brennan, presented new evidence.

Thuet testified he was playing with Brennan in the street in front of the Brennan home, 3145 Rolla place, when they were struck and that he did not see from which direction the car came. Thomas F. McGowan Sr., 3145 Rolla place, testified he saw the boys wrestling in the street a moment before the accident, but he did not see them struck. He said Deichmann had unobstructed vision in approaching the point. The defendant stood on a demurrer to the city's evidence, presented by his attorney, and did not take the witness stand. The jury deliberateed 25 minutes. Deichmann's lawyer said he would ask for a new trial.

GRADE OF MILK TO BE STAMPED ON BOTTLE CAPS

All Sold Here After Tuesday Will Bear Designations of A, B or C.

Milk sold in St. Louis after next Tuesday will be designated, on bottle caps, as grade A, B or C, in accordance with provisions of the standard milk inspection ordinance adopted more than a year ago. Enforcement of the grading provision was delayed to permit milk distributers and producers to make necessary changes in equipment.

The grades for each of 45 dairies which supply St. Louisans will be announced Tuesday by the Board of Public Service. The whole output of each dairy will be placed in one or another of the classifications. A is the best grade, B is a probationary rating which must be changed, after 30 days, to A or C. Milk of grade C can be sold for cooking purposes only.

Many factors are used as a basis for determining grades. Those to be announced next week are the result of inspections of dairies and 4000 dairy farms made during the last six months by representatives of the St. Louis Health Department and the United States Public Health Service. Grades are to be re-determined each six months.

BOY, DRIFTING IN OARLESS BOAT ON MISSISSIPPI RESCUED

Fishermen Tow Him Ashore Five Miles From Point From Which He Started.

After drifting in a rowboat without oars on the Mississippi River for four hours, Warren Boyse, 14 years old, 8801 Florence avenue, University City, was rescued at 12:15 a. m. today by two fishermen at the foot of Cliff Cave road. He had drifted about five miles.

The boy, who had been visiting relatives in the 3600 block of Risch avenue, Lemay, got into the boat at the foot of Davis street, intending to float a short distance along the bank, but the current carried him out into the middle of the river.

His cries for help were heard by soldiers at Jefferson Barracks, who notified authorities, but the fishermen noticed his plight and towed him in with their boat before deputy sheriffs arrived. The boy lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boyse.

MRS. SLUPSKY'S OWN ACCOUNT OF SHOOTING

Text of Statement Wounded Woman Made to Police Made Public.

The text of a statement made Monday to the police by Mrs. Caroline Slupsky, 67 years old, who was seriously wounded by a bullet in a mysterious attack May 31 at the front door of her home at 3852 Lindell boulevard, was made public yesterday afternoon.

Because of the condition of Mrs. Slupsky, who suffered an abdominal wound and intestinal perforations, the police were permitted to question her only briefly, and in the presence of two physicians. Her statement gave the police no additional clews.

She related that on the morning of May 31 she did the washing, then went upstairs, dusted her room and prepared to go downtown. With her in the house was her daughter, Mrs. Elda Duke, 33 years old, who is held under $5000 bond by order of Assistant Circuit Attorney James E. McLaughlin, pending further investigation of the case.

"Something Gave Me a Hit."

Mrs. Slupsky said that when she went downstairs, she stopped in the dining room and got her purse off the dining room table.

"I went then to open the front door," she continued, "and something gave me a hit."

"Did you have the front door open?" she was asked. "I don't know," was the reply.

"What part of the house was Elda in when you left?" "Up on top of the steps—I don't know." In reply to further questioning she said she did not know exactly where her daughter was when she was shot. She related that Mrs. Duke came quickly to her side after the shot was fired.

"She kept saying, 'Mother, what happened?'" she continued. "I told her I didn't know. I didn't know what happened. All I said was, 'Something happened.' When I laid down I saw all that blood. They said, 'We'll lay Mrs. Slupsky on the sofa until the ambulance comes.'"

The last statement apparently was made by one of the workmen whom Mrs. Duke called to the house from a lot next door to assist her with her mother. Mrs. Slupsky said that she intended to go down town by herself, while her daughter remained at home waiting for a plumber who was going to do some work in the house.

Pistol Missing.

Asked about a pistol that one of her four sons, Abe, formerly carried, she said she had taken it from him some time before Christmas, remarking that she did not like him to carry a weapon, and had placed it in a chifforobe drawer. She said she did not think she had seen it since that time. Search of the house failed to disclose what had become of the weapon, and members of the family said they did not know what had become of it.

Detectives have been unable to find anyone in the neighborhood who saw Mrs. Slupsky's assailant leave the house. The attack occurred at 11 a. m.

U. S. RIVER BOAT DUE TODAY

$135,000 Lighthouse Service Tender to Patrol the Missouri.

A new $135,000 Government river boat, the United States Lighthouse Service tender Goldenrod, is scheduled to tie up at the Corps of Engineers depot at the foot of Arsenal street today on its first visit to St. Louis.

The Diesel-powered vessel, constructed at Dubuque, Ia., for service on the Missouri River from Kansas City to its confluence with the Mississippi, will be here a week for installation of a water cooler and general overhauling before starting the river patrol.

ATHLETE TOMLINSON'S MARRIAGE ANNULLED

Action Taken on Petition of Elopement Bride of Washington U. Man.

The elopement marriage of Mrs. Billie Lorraine Tomlinson and Norman E. Tomlinson, star Washington University athlete, was annulled today by Circuit Judge Max G. Baron on her petition.

Tomlinson, who was graduated from the university's College of Liberal Arts yesterday, was not in court. His general denial and entry of appearance, agreeing to an immediate hearing, accompanied his 19-year-old wife's petition for annulment or divorce when it was filed yesterday by her mother, Mrs. W. T. Gallagher, 7224 Wise avenue, as next friend.

Mrs. Tomlinson, who was a freshman at Washington University when she and Tomlinson eloped to Waterloo, Ill., a year ago, testified they separated last Friday when he struck her and knocked her down in the presence of her parents. She did not say where the alleged incident occurred. Her husband failed to provide a residence for her and did not contribute to her support, she told the Court.

The witness, a dancing teacher, said the marriage took place against her will, Tomlinson persuading her to marry him after suggesting that the marriage be on a trial basis. She quoted his as saying: "Let's see how it works out for 30 days."

Tomlinson was "a typical bully" attempting to strangle her on eight occasions, she testified. In her petition she said she was imposed on because of his "superior size, physical strength and maturity." Tomlinson was a member of the varsity football, basketball and track teams.

Her petition asserted the marriage was illegal because both she and Tomlinson incorrectly stated she was of age in their application for a license.

The court restored her maiden name. She said she had been residing recently with relatives at 6571 Tholozan avenue. Her father is an optometrist.

She and Tomlinson, a resident of Alton, met at a university homecoming dance. Their elopement the following spring came in the midst of final examinations, but was not announced until several months later.

POLICEMAN KILLS WIFE AND MAN IN CHICAGO

Pair Shot to Death in Loop After Woman Meets Friend in Auto.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Policeman John F. Lewe, 53 years old, heard witnesses tell a Coroner's jury here today how he shot and killed his wife, Phyllis, 40, and a rival, Harry O. Johnson, also 40, when they met in Chicago's loop last evening.

The double killing, which followed a dispute over Mrs. Lewe's affection for Johnson, was seen by hundreds of theater-goers, near Randolph street and Wabash avenue.

Lewe, a cousin of Judge John C. Lewe of the Superior Court here, trailed Johnson from his South Side apartment last night after his wife had left their home "to meet some friends."

In the loop, the policeman saw Johnson stop his auto, and Mrs. Lewe step into it.

"I warned you once about seeing my wife," he shouted as he ran to the car. Then he drew his service revolver and fired four shots at the pair.

"I don't remember what my wife said," he told later, "but remember she screamed and threw herself against Johnson. I fired several shots, and they struck my wife."

His Revolver Loaded.

Mrs. Lewe was killed outright, and Johnson died shortly afterward. In his pocket the police found a loaded revolver, and in her purse was an unmailed letter to Johnson.

"I still love you," it stated, "and I intend to leave John as soon as I can get my clothes and some money."

The Lewes had been married for 14 years and were happy until a year ago, the policeman said. He had been 22 years on the Chicago force. Johnson was an employe of a suburban Diesel manufacturing company. He had been divorced several years ago.

Talking freely, the policeman, who was suspended from the force this morning, told the background of the shooting.

Phone Warning to Johnson.

He first learned of his wife's interest in Johnson on May 15, Lewe explained. Then followed many days of argument and discussion, and finally on May 23, he telephoned Johnson and warned him to stay away from Mrs. Lewe.

After that, he said, "I repeatedly asked her to come back to me and start life all over. But yesterday afternoon, after my wife had left to go out, all of these past lies that my wife had told me started to prey on my mind, and I became more nervous.

He Follows Johnson.

"Then I drove over to within a short distance of Johnson's apartment, waited until he came out, then drove behind him to the loop. He drove from the Outer drives across Randolph street to Wabash avenue. There on the southwest corner my wife was waiting."

Lewe's two stepsons, whose mother he killed, comforted the policeman at the inquest which was continued.

CHARLES NAGEL DECLINES POST ON ELECTION BOARD

88-Year-Old Lawyer Says He Is Too Busy to Assume Any New Duties.

Charles Nagel, lawyer, who was drafted by Gov. Stark Monday to fill a vacancy on the Election Board, announced last night that he had declined the appointment, which was made without consulting him.

He expressed his appreciation of the offer to the Governor and said he would have been glad to accept, if able, but that there were so many commitments of his time that he could not assume any new duties.

Nagel, 88 years old, a Republican, was Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Taft's Cabinet. He is active in his law practice and in civic matters. The vacancy on the board was caused by the recent resignation of former Gov. Henry S. Caulfield to run for the Republican nomination for United States Senator.

HARLAN MINE WAR VICTIM'S SON ON STAND AT TRIAL

Sherman Clouse, 18, Says Father Put Last Eight Bullets in Pistol, All There After Murder.

YOUTH GOT WEAPON, CARRIED IT HOME

Evidence Presented in Effort to Show Man Killed Did Not Take Part in Fight.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Ky., June 8.—Sherman Clouse, 18-year-old miner son of Lloyd Clouse, murdered United Mine Workers of America organizer, testified today his father put his last eight bullets in his pistol the night he was killed. When Sherman Clouse got the weapon and took it home to his mother, the young witness told the Harlan jury, there were still eight bullets in it.

The defense has been attempting to show that Clouse, shot the night of April 24, 1937, in front of a Verda, Ky., saloon, took part in the fatal fight.

Lloyd Clouse's brother, Jasper, testified yesterday that Bill Lewis, a defendant here, and Melvin Moore were "doing the shooting." Lewis was wounded in the encounter.

Young Clouse said a man known as "Uncle Charlie" Middleton had his father's pistol.

"I grabbed it and took it home to mother," he said.

The organizer's widow, Mrs. Minnie Clouse, mother of nine, gave testimony supporting that of her son. She said she knew Sherman didn't have any bullets with him.

Shots Fired Into Auto.

Another story of violence was told by Homer Clontz, youthful son of William Clontz, organizer and former Methodist minister. He said 11 shots were fired into his automobile as he was driving through Wallins Creek the night of Feb. 4, 1937.

He had seen Perry G. Noe, then a deputy sheriff, standing in front of the Wallins Baptist Church when he drove past a short time before, he said. Noe is a defendant.

Ira M. Hatcher, a miner, told of seeing a number of deputy sheriffs a short time before and after Marshall Musick, U. M. W. A. organizer and minister, and Mrs. Musick were fired on Jan. 31, 1936, as they were walking near the Ridgeway camp of the Ridgeway Coal Mining Co. (not a defendant). Neither Musick nor his wife was wounded.

"We went up to see if we could find any shells," Hatcher said, "and Hugh Taylor and Bob Eldridge (deputies who are defendants in the present trial) drove along about 15 minutes later and asked where the shooting was. Then Frank White drove up and stopped, and L. E. Ball drove up, but kept on going." White and Ball are defendants in the present trial.

Hatcher said he was called to testify before a special grand jury that investigated the shooting. In reply to a Government question, Hatcher said that to get into the grand jury room it was necessary to pass Allen Bowlin, White, Ball "and some other deputies I don't just recall," who were standing near the door.

Told of Another Shooting.

John Clouse, another brother of Sherman, and their 13-year-old uncle, Markham Clouse, told of another shooting in their testimony yesterday.

Thomas Ferguson, another organizer, was wounded in the shoulder. But the boys couldn't fix the date in February, Wren Ferguson was shot. On cross-examination, one of them recalled it was already "barefoot season."

They were on a scrap-iron gathering expedition on the road between Verda and Ages, Ky., the day of the shooting, they said. With them was John's brother, Jasper, about 10.

Warned to Leave the Scene.

"We saw a car parked along the road," related John, "and when we went up to it we saw a man with his hat pulled down over his eyes and he said for us to go along, that that wasn't any place for us.

"We went about 10 or 12 yards, and a man yelled from up on the cliff by the road for us to get out of the way or we might get shot. His voice sounded like Lee Hubbard's (a former deputy-defendant).

"Then there was two automobiles come along. One was just a piece behind the other one. The one in the back blowed its horn about three times, and the horn of the parked car blowed, and then the shooting commenced. We run under the cliff."

John said he saw Hubbard and three or four other men, whom he didn't know, come down from the cliff after the shooting. In the front automobile he said he saw "Bill Hall and Tom Ferguson." The two moving cars were headed in the direction of Harlan, he said. When the shooting was over, he said, the men who had been on the cliff got into a parked car and drove in the direction of Verda.

Charles I. Dawson, chief defense counsel, read to John testimony he had given before the Senate Civil Liberties Committee's hearing on Harlan conditions in Washington last year, in which John was recorded as having said he did not see a parked car. John denied making the statement.

Names Four Men See on Cliff.

The testimony of Markham Clouse was substantially the same as John's. As he recalled, the shooting occurred in April. And he went farther than John in naming the men he saw on the cliff. He said they were Hubbard, Melvin Moore, Wash Irwin and Bill Lewis. Only Hubbard is a defendant.

Other defendants include 22 Harlan coal company executives, 20 companies, and 21 other former or present deputies. The Government accuses them of conspiring—by means including violence—to keep miners from organizing for collective bargaining purposes provided in the National Labor Relations Act.

Protest on Austrian Loan Default.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 8.—British and French trustees of 1933-34 loans to Austria filed yesterday a protest in Berlin against non-payment of monthly interest installments due June 1. Britain, France, Italy and other European countries are guarantors of the capital and interest of the loans, but it is understood Italy did not sign the protest. The Bank for International Settlements at Basel, Switzerland, announced it had protested to Germany against failure to pay interest due June 1 on a 1930 Austrian loan for which the bank acts as trustee.

4 ARMY FLYERS KILLED IN TWO TEXAS CRASHES

Both Planes Fall Within Few Minutes at Randolph Field.

By the Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 8.—Four Randolph Field flyers, two of them instructors, one of them a flying cadet and the other a student officer, were killed in two airplane crashes within a few minutes near the main field yesterday.

The dead: Second Lieut. Nathan H. Coddington, 28 years old, Los Angeles, Cal., an instructor; Second Lieut. Arthur M. Keppler, 29, Houston, an instructor; Cadet William H. Coneby, 25, Washington, air student, and Second Lieut. Frederick M. Thompson, Los Angeles, a West Point graduate.

The planes involved in the two crashes were both BT-9 basic trainers, low-winged monoplanes.

Witnesses who saw the planes fall were unable to supply information as to the cause. The ships were engaged in routine maneuvers and were not taking off or landing.

CONTRACT MEDICINE AND MEDICAL SOCIETY

Three Members Denounce System but Majority of Influential Ones Practice It.

The practice of contract medicine was roundly denounced by three speakers at the St. Louis Medical Society last night, as it has been many times before, but the speakers revealed for the first time why it is that all that the Medical Society does is talk about it: most of the influential members of the society have contracts.

"It is strange," said Dr. Max J. Bierman, "that the men who rule the Medical Society have the best contracts."

He said that eight out of the 12 members of the Council have contracts and that in the State Medical Association six out of the 10 officers have contracts. Combining the five doctors from St. Louis who are members of the American Medical Association's house of delegates and the five alternates, he pointed out that nine out of these 10 "are railroad physicians."

Dr. Bierman estimated that 426 of the society's members, or about 45 per cent, are known to have contracts and that about another 25 per cent have contracts which have not been revealed.

McKittrick Decision Assailed.

The meeting, held at the society's headquarters, 3839 Lindell boulevard, was attended by about 50 physicians. It was the first gathering of the society at which the economic aspects of medicine were discussed since Attorney-General Roy McKittrick rejected the society's request to file quo warranto proceedings against the Missouri Pacific Hospital Association, and this decision came in for a good deal of criticism.

Describing the hearing held by McKittrick on the ouster suit proposal, Dr. Val H. Frederich, secretary of the St. Louis Dental Society, who worked with a committee of the Medical Society in an effort to institute the suit, said: "Strange to say, there were some of our own men appearing against us." He told how the Medical Society's committee was overwhelmed in numbers by the persons who appeared in opposition to the suit and he waxed especially sarcastic when he told of the "50 union men, members of all the railroad brotherhoods," who voiced their defense of the Missouri Pacific Hospital.

Dr. Frederich then told how the society's medico-legal committee was neatly maneuvered out of power. "At a meeting packed with contract men," he said, "it was decided to enlarge the committee from three to seven men and the four new men appointed were all contract men. The powers that be didn't desire any action. Nothing has been accomplished since then and nothing probably will. Everybody knows beforehand what's going to happen."

Dr. Stein Classifies Them.

Dr. Harry J. Stein, former secretary of the St. Louis County Medical Society, divided all contract physicians into four classes.

"There are those," he said, "of inferior ability who could not make a livelihood in private practice, there are those handicapped by a physical disability, those who attempt to gain some security by putting a chattel mortgage on themselves, and those who, because of their professional relations or friendships, accept a contract."

"Their services," he said, "must be mediocre because they receive a minimum of compensation per capita." He criticised them because they constituted "unfair competition" and because "they care only to get as much as possible out of it."

Dr. Bierman enumerated all of the various groups which, by having physicians under contract, provide medical service for their members, including health and hospital associations, various companies and railroads, and many governmental agencies.

Reliefers of "No Value" to Doctors.

He pointed out that there are now 135,000 persons on relief in St. Louis and added: "All of those persons are of no value at all as an income deriving source for the physician in private practice."

Only one physician, Dr. John C. Morfit, took the floor in the discussion period which followed. He urged that members of the society continue their work against the practice of contract medicine.

"We stand before the public," he said, "as a selfish group wanting to break down benevolent hospitals, when, as a matter of fact, all we want to do is to insist that they confine themselves to their benevolencies and wipe out their abuses."

MOVIES OF NUDIST COLONY NOT ILLEGAL, JUDGE RULES

Los Angeles Jurist Points to "Skin Tight" Suits at Bathing Beaches.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—Municipal Judge Joseph L. Call ruled yesterday that since a nudist colony is a legal enterprise, motion pictures portraying life in such a colony are within the law. He held Harold Wenzler was not guilty of law violation in exhibiting nude photographs from the picture in the lobby of the theater in which it was being shown.

"If there is anything indecent about these pictures," said Judge Call, "what about the men and women at the beaches in trunks and skin-tight bathing suits?

"Besides, there is a notable conflict of evidence regarding the black strips of paper which the defendant said were pasted over the display at certain points. I cannot hold him responsible if some of the curious bystanders happened to rip them off."

EDUCATORS CONDEMN ANTI-RED REPORT

Clergymen Also Sign Recommendation Against "Corrective Legislation."

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 8.—Prominent educators and clergymen "strongly condemned as a whole" last night the report of a Massachusetts commission of Communist, Nazi, Fascist and Ku Klux Klan activities and called on the Legislature to reject the commission's recommendations for "corrective legislation."

Denouncing the commission's "whole prejudiced procedure," and terming the report "practically an apology for Fascism," the group made public the statement on the eve of a public legislative hearing on a dozen measures designed by the commission to combat "subversive activities."

"The whole-hearted support given by the notorious Mayor Hague of Jersey City to this report and the recommendations for legislation indicate from what quarters it evokes approbation," the group said in its statement.

"In our considered judgment, this report is intended to divert the public attention from the grave dangers confronting democracy in Massachusetts, and to blunt the vigilance of the people toward these dangers."

Signers of the statement included Prof. Henry J. Cadbury of the Harvard divinity school; the Rev. William E. Gilroy, former president of the American Unitarian Association; William Roger Greeley, architect; Dr. L. O. Hartman, editor of Zion's Herald, Methodist publication; Prof. Kirtley Mather of Harvard; the Rev. George Lyman Paine, chairman of the emergency peace campaign; the Rev. Palfrey Perkins, pastor of King's Chapel, and Prof. D. J. Struik of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Among the commission's legislative recommendations were measures which would punish any person publishing, writing or distributing anything libeling any race, restrict members of private organizations from carrying firearms, and establish a division of citizenship "to eliminate the activities of persons advocating the overthrow of the American form of government."

Arkansas Contractor Ends Life.

MAGNOLIA, Ark., June 8.—Ab Barnett, 35 years old, Pine Bluff contractor, shot and killed himself as he sat in an automobile on a downtown street here yesterday, Sheriff S. J. McCollum said.

9 TELL OF PAYMENTS TO GET 'BURIED GOLD'

Testify at Tucson That Woman Reported Discovery of Millions.

By the Associated Press.

TUCSON, Ariz., June 8.—Nine witnesses testified yesterday they had advanced money to Mrs. Laura Pearson Shepley Clark, who is accused of fraud, after she had told them of discovering a cache of "millions in gold" supposedly buried 300 years ago by Spanish priests.

Amounts varying from $25 to $5000 were paid, the State charges, by a large number of persons induced by Mrs. Clark to defray expenses of turning the gold over to the United States Treasury for payment.

Herbert D. Carrington, 74-year-old retired professor of the University of Arizona, who said he was "old enough to know better," testified he had bought $940 in stock from Mrs. Clark and advanced her $4000 as a loan on the expectation of a $700,000 return.

Dr. Dake Biddle, one of the physicians who examined Gen. John J. Pershing during his illness here last winter, said he had advanced Mrs. Clark $5000 over a period of years, expecting fabulous returns.

Mrs. Clark has contended the funds she received were used in legitimate work on her mining property.

The World Affords No Finer Scotch....

● There is no question in the minds of people as to which Scotch has the most noble quality. The evidence is clearly shown, not only at gift-time when price may not matter, but also throughout the year! That's supremacy, indeed! And one reason is—Haig & Haig Pinch Bottle is comparable in price with other Scotches of equal age.

WITHIN THE POPULAR PRICE RANGE

● Haig & Haig Five Star is made by the distillers of the celebrated Haig & Haig Pinch Bottle—blended for unusual mildness and flavor . . . yet priced no higher than many a less famous Scotch of equal or unstated age.

HA-HA! PARING DOES NO GOOD— I'LL COME BACK BIGGER THAN EVER

CORNS COME BACK BIGGER—UGLIER

unless removed Root* and All

OLD-FASHIONED home paring is dangerous—means the risk of infection and only affects the surface of a corn—leaves the root to come back bigger, uglier, more painful than ever. Don't take chances. Follow the example of millions, and end corns safely—easily—with double-action Blue-Jay that removes corns root and all.

The tiny medicated Blue-Jay plaster ends pain instantly, by removing pressure, then in 3 short days the corn lifts out root and all (exceptionally stubborn cases may require a second application). Blue-Jay acts quickly—safely. There's no pain—no danger of infection. Get your Blue-Jay today. 6 for 25¢. Same price in Canada.

JOHN L. LEWIS CONFERS WITH BARKLEY AND GUFFEY

No Comment on Report That C I O Leader Will Support Senator Davis in Pennsylvania.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—John L. Lewis and Senators Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, and Guffey (Dem.), Pennsylvania, conferred for two hours in Guffey's office yesterday.

When their meetings broke up, none would discuss the conversations or a report that Lewis, smarting under the defeat of the C I O-Guffey-Kennedy ticket in the Pennsylvania Democratic primary, had decided to support Senator Davis (Rep.), for re-election. Gov. George H. Earle won the Democratic nomination.

Asked about this rumor, Lewis said: "We wouldn't have anything to say on that at all."

However, friends of the C I O leader said they thought Lewis had not committed himself to support any faction or candidate in Pennsylvania.

Barkley's version of the meeting was this: "I just dropped in to see Joe (Guffey) and was surprised to see John Lewis there. Pennsylvania politics were not discussed at all."

CRABB DEFENSE RESTS IN PEKIN (ILL.) TRIAL

Drugged Cigarette Testimony Barred in Case Arising From Death of Bride.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, Ill., June 8.—The defense rested today in the trial of James W. Crabb, Delavan banker's son, on charges of manslaughter arising from the death March 1 of his bride, Betty Collison Crabb.

The defense failed in an attempt to offer evidence tending to show there were drugged cigarettes in the handbag of Mrs. Crabb when she was shot to death in her father-in-law's home at Delavan. Judge Joseph E. Daily ruled testimony on this point was inadmissible.

The defense had placed on the stand Dr. R. B. H. Gradwohl, pathologist and head of the research department of the St. Louis Police Department.

The State objected successfully to Dr. Gradwohl's testimony. The defense then placed several witnesses on the stand to identify the bag and trace its connection with the case.

Daniel Crabb, a brother of the defendant; his stepmother, Mrs. Catherine Crabb, and his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Crabb, all testified that the bag was Mrs. Betty Collison Crabb's and that it had been found in her dressing room. At the time of its finding, they said, it contained half a package of cigarettes, or "nine or 10." They testified it had been given to the girl's father, Louis Glenn Collison, for a time and that later only one cigarette was found in it.

Judge Daily dismissed the jury and listened to a long, acrimonious argument by attorneys on admissibility of the testimony. He then ruled that, because the testimony showed there had been an alteration in the exhibit from its state when found, in that several cigarettes had been removed from the bag, the evidence was not admissible.

Special Assistant Attorney-General John Cassidy, prosecuting the case, asked the Court to disallow the testimony as "a nefarious" attempt to blacken the girl's reputation.

In the discussion by the attorneys, a United States Deputy Marshal served Dr. Gradwohl with a subpena from the Federal grand jury in session in Peoria and investigating marijuana in this district.

FORD CO. TO CARRY N L R B FIGHT TO SUPREME COURT

Announces Intent to Ask for Order Staying Decree to Grant Withdrawal of Certain Records.

By the Associated Press.

COVINGTON, Ky., June 8.—The Ford Motor Co. notified the Sixth United States Circuit Court of Appeals today of its intention to carry to the United States Supreme Court its contest of a National Labor Relations Board order to require the firm's compliance with the Wagner Act.

The Ford company advised the court that it would apply Friday for an order staying the tribunal's decree of May 5, granting the request of the N L R B to withdraw certain records in the case—a move made, board spokesmen said, because of a Supreme Court decision in a Kansas City stockyards case.

The court announced on Tuesday that oral arguments, scheduled for Friday, could not be heard and that questions should be submitted in briefs.

The original order was issued by the board Dec. 22 and directed the reinstatement of 29 workers in Ford's Michigan plants.

Eight Killed in Japanese Mine.

FUKUOKA, Japan, June 8.—Eight miners were killed and 37 trapped by an explosion in the Navy's coal mine at Shimemura today. The fate of the entombed men was not known immediately.

SPEEDING CHARGE AGAINST CONSULAR OFFICER CONTINUED

A charge of speeding against Mario Marchi, chancellor of the Italian Vice-Consulate in St. Louis, was continued generally yesterday by Police Judge James F. Nangle, who sustained a brief filed by Marchi's lawyer, contending that Italian consular officers are exempt from arrest and imprisonment in civil cases under a treaty signed in 1878. Violations of city ordinance are considered civil cases under Supreme Court decisions.

Judge Nangle told Marchi's lawyer, Vincent D. Gallo, that he was within his rights in questioning the Court's jurisdiction. A general continuance is tantamount to dismissal, although the city could reinstate the case if it saw fit. Marchi was arrested May 2 on a charge of going 40 miles an hour on Lindell boulevard between Euclid and Boyle.

42-PASSENGER PLANE HAS SUCCESSFUL TEST

Four-Motored Airliner Lands Twice With Novel Tricycle Gear.

By the Associated Press.

SANTA MONICA, Cal., June 8.—The giant Douglas DC-4, first four-motored commercial transport manufactured in the United States, was test flown for one and one-half hours yesterday.

It took off from Clover Field, Santa Monica, was flown over the greater part of Los Angeles, landed at Los Angeles' Municipal Airport, and returned to Clover Field.

Carl Cover, the pilot, said the 65,000-pound, 42-passenger plane "handled beautifully." It was landed twice without any difficulty whatever on its novel tricycle landing gear, which it tucked under its wings while in flight.

With Civer on the maiden flight were John Cable, co-pilot; Al Reed, test engineer; Jack Grant, chief mechanic, and Stanley Beer, electrician.

As the big plane passed over the Los Angeles City Hall it was accompanied by a group of airplanes carrying observers.

The first of the production models of the DC-4, which has undergone construction work and engineering for two years, will not be flown in regular service by commercial air lines until the spring of 1940. The pioneering model flown yesterday cost $1,700,000. In production, these giant air liners will cost about one-third that sum.

The plane, rated at 200 miles an hour at 10,000 feet of altitude on only 65 per cent of the 5000 horsepower in its four motors, exceeded its anticipated speed.

The flight of the Douglas, which has a passenger cabin 18 inches wider than a Pullman car, was made an occasion by thousands who lined the borders of Clover Field. Six thousand others, plant employes, almost drowned the thunder of the motors with their yells as the ship left the runway.

APPROPRIATIONS BY CONGRESS SET PEACETIME RECORD

PUBLIC DEBT LIMIT EXPECTED BY 1939

Taber of New York Predicts It Will Reach $45,000,000,000 — Senate Voted Many Increases.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Appropriations in the current congressional session will reach the highest peacetime peak in American history.

Figures prepared by the House Appropriations Committee on bills pending or already enacted show the total probably will be between $11,838,622,468 and $12,281,994,764.

The previous record, except for World War years, was $10,560,833,165, voted in 1936. That included $2,237,000,000 for payment of the soldiers' bonus. Congress appropriated $9,356,174,982 in 1937.

Two Factors Responsible.

Two factors are responsible primarily for this year's increase:

1. The business slump compelled President Roosevelt to increase more than threefold his original recommendation of a billion dollars for relief of the unemployed.

2. The social security program has meant a billion-dollar addition to the Government's permanent appropriations since last year.

The legislators already have provided an extra $250,000,000 for relief, to be expended by July 1. The relief and public works bill to help the needy after that date carried $2,917,905,000 in outright appropriations as passed by the Senate, but the final figure will be determined by a Senate-House committee.

Representative Taber (Rep.), New York, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, got out a pencil and figured this session's spending at nearly $13,000,000,000.

Since Government revenue will supply only a fraction of that amount, he said, the Treasury will have to do some heavy borrowing and the public debt will jump to forty-five billion dollars by July 1, 1939—the limit now authorized by law.

Outlay for Army and Navy.

Mindful of the President's statement that developments abroad made it imperative to strengthen the nation's defenses, Congress approved a billion-dollar fund for the Army and Navy—another peacetime record.

Following the recommendations of its Appropriations Committee, the House consistently pared appropriations below the amounts suggested by the Budget Bureau. Just as consistently, the Senate increased the totals of almost every bill.

Several heated disputes resulted when joint House-Senate committees tried to work out compromises. The Agriculture Department money bill, the relief and public works measure, and a final deficiency appropriation are not yet ready for the President's signature.

List of Appropriations.

Agriculture Department (a)— — — —	$ 758,572,820
District of Columbia—	47,255,150
Independent agencies	1,423,098,240
Interior Department—	129,678,460
Congressional establishment— — — —	21,663,783
Navy Department— —	546,866,494
State, Justice, Commerce, Labor Departments — — —	130,589,796
Treasury, Postoffice Departments — —	1,403,683,526
Military— — — — — —	459,401,254
Civil Functions of War Dept.— — — — —	196,962,867
First deficiency — —	28,089,009
Relief deficiency — —	250,000,000
Relief-public works (a)	2,917,905,000
Second deficiency (b)	274,332,729
Permanent appropriations — — — — — —	2,718,722,257
Re-appropriations (c)	882,473,375
Miscellaneous— — —	92,650,000
Total— — — —	(d)$12,281,994,764

(a) As passed by Senate.

(b) As approved by House Appropriations Committee.

(c) As estimated by Taber. These consist of re-appropriations of money previously advanced by Congress but not yet spent.

(d) Should Congress finally accept the House totals on the three bills still not enacted—agriculture, relief and public works, and second deficiency—the total would be $11,838,622,468.

SEMINOLE COUNCIL UPHOLDS KILLING BY MEDICINE MAN

Finds Shooting of "Bad Indian," Accused of Beating Woman Was Justified.

By the Associated Press.

FORT MYERS, Fla., June 8.—A Seminole tribal council decided yesterday that John Osceola, medicine man, 80 years old, was justified in killing Johnny Billy. Osceola already had been freed at a white man's inquest.

"Johnny Billy was a bad Indian," said Brown Tiger, reporting the finding of the tribal council.

Osceola shot Billy at an Indian camp near Miami last February.

Osceola, attending a green corn dance yesterday, said, "There my girl," pointing to his daughter Lily. "He beat her."

With that, the medicine man considered the shooting of Billy a closed matter.

JERSEY EJECTIONS MADE FOR SAFETY, HAGUE'S AID SAYS

'SOUND JUDGMENT IN SAVING LIVES'

Co-Defendant in Injunction Suit Asserts Officers Are Instructed to Bar Only Undesirables.

By the Associated Press.

NEWARK, N. J., June 8.—Public Safety Director Daniel Casey testified in the Jersey City "free speech" trial in United District Court today that his police sometimes escorted persons out of the city "to protect them so they won't be molested."

Co-defendant with Mayor Frank Hague in an injunctin suit filed by the C I O, American Civil Liberties Union and others, Casey declared he had instructed his policemen that under certain circumstances they had the right to eject people who were "undesirable."

One of the chief charges made by the plaintiffs is that their constitutional rights were violated in the bailiwick of Hague, vice-chairman of the National Democratic Committee, by "deportations."

Police's "Sound Judgment."

Questioned by Morris I. Ernst of C I O-A C L U counsel, Casey said police were within their rights and "used sound judgment" in "saving lives" by escorting people "from the seat of danger."

Plaintiffs' counsel have said they may call to the stand Socialist leader Norman Thomas, who has sworn out Federal kidnaping warrants against Jersey City police officials, who, he said, ejected him from the city on a ferry boat when he attempted to speak at Journal Square on April 30.

Casey testified that he allowed thousands of Hague's supporters to gather in Jersey City without permits to protest against threatened anti-Hague speeches, but would not allow thousands to gather there without permits to protest against the Mayor.

Witness Parries Questions.

Casey parried questions asked by Ernst.

At one point, Casey said "a park is a public place—anyone can go in there," and declared citizens had a right to assemble to protest against anybody.

He said he did not have power to bar an assemblage unless there were to be speeches.

Therefore, he said, he did not stop the assemblage of thousands of Hague partisans at Journal Square on the night of May 7 when Representative Jerry O'Connell ,Dem.), Montana, and Representative John T. Bernard (Farmer-Labor), Minnesota, canceled plans to speak against Hague there.

Neither did he stop a subsequent meeting of Hague's followers at Pershing Field on the night O'Connell was rushed by opponents and escorted off the field by police, he said.

In each instances, the witness said, the citizens were within their rights in assembling to protest against unwelcome speakers.

Norman Thomas Presents Protest to Newark City Officials.

Socialist Leader Norman Thomas, who was pelted with eggs and vegetables in Newark four days ago, returned today and was cheered as he presented his complaint to the City Commission.

A pro-Thomas crowd of more than 1000 persons, many of whom were members of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union, packed City Hall for his appearance and applauded for several minutes after he concluded a brief address.

The crowd booed former Assistant Prosecutor Michael Breitkopf, spokesman for war veterans who protested against the Thomas meeting Saturday, when he denied the veterans had anything to do with the disturbance which broke up the Socialist rally and forced police to escort Thomas from the city.

Breitkopf declared the veterans were not opposed to Thomas' speaking in Newark, but were opposed to the use of Military Park, dedicated to war veterans living and dead, for such purposes.

"Fine Spirit of Liberty."

The City Commissioners, through Mayor Meyer C. Ellenstein, assured Thomas the city wanted free speech and would defend it. The result was that Thomas left after saying he felt the city had "a fine spirit of liberty."

"All that's necessary is to put teeth into that spirit and not only maintain Newark's fair name but put Newark out in the forefront in combatting suppression of free speech."

Thomas asked for no apology from the Commission, but protested against any investigation by Deputy Police Chief Philip Sebold, who headed the 400 police during the Saturday disturbance.

Public Safety Director Michael P. Duffy told Thomas the inquiry had been taken from Sebold's hands and would be handled by Deputy Chief Frank Brex. Duffy ordered the investigation to determine if police were lax in their duties.

Remarks by Thomas.

Omitting names, Thomas charged four men who wore veterans' caps and carried American flags with throwing eggs at him.

"This is the way Fascism grows," he said. "Men like these like to pose as patriots with American flags in their hands."

Thomas said he feared the "terrorism existing in Jersey City" would come to Newark if instances like the disturbance of Military Park were permitted to continue.

He explained he was not a Communist but instead had long been a critic of Communism and renewed his fight with Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City with this declaration: "Stalin on a large scale is Hague on a small scale."

NURSE BEATEN WITH HAMMER

Found Lying Behind Her Automobile on Illinois Farm Road.

NEWMAN, Ill., June 8.—Retha Jackson, 52 years old, a practical nurse, was badly beaten with a hammer and left lying behind her automobile on a farm road last night. She is in a Tuscola hospital in critical condition.

She was found early this morning by Clinton Boyer and his son, Donald, as they were driving away from their farm home. The back of her head was crushed and a hammer was found in the rear seat of the car. Officers were told the woman had been seen with a paroled convict last evening. She was said to be the former wife of a Danville real estate man, George Jackson.

WHITE COLLAR PROJECTS WILL BE CONTINUED, SAYS PRESIDENT

He Writes to Union Leader That Cost Limitation Does Not Mean End of Jobs.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—President Roosevelt, in a letter made public here yesterday, assured organized office workers that a W P A cost limitation on "white collar" projects would mean no discontinuance of such projects.

Lewis Merrill, general president of the United Office and Professional Workers of America, a Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, said the letter he received was an answer to protests of the union against a W P A ruling limiting per man costs on white collar projects to $1000 a year.

"I have no intention, nor have I instructed anyone, to discontinue these projects," the President wrote. "It has been my hope that some way would be worked out whereby the average annual cost of the projects could be adjusted. We are now engaged in trying to work this out. I am informed by Mr. Harry Hopkins that no one employe on such projects up to this hour has been deprived of his employment and that provisions have been made for the continuation of these projects."

DETROIT MAN ON RELIEF, SHOT ON APRIL 23 BY WIFE, DIES

Autopsy to Be Performed; Divorcee, Wounded With Him, Has Recovered.

DETROIT, June 8.—Joseph Cardella, 33-year-old Detroit resident who was on relief, died today of a bullet wound which police said was inflicted by Cardella's wife, Frances, 24 years old, when she surprised her husband with another woman in their home April 23.

Mrs. Cardella, mother of two children, may be re-examined after an autopsy has been performed, police say.

Mrs. Raymonda Lang, 26-year-old divorcee, was shot in the head, but recovered. Cardella was shot in the back.

Mrs. Lang told police she came to Detroit from Norwood, O., months before the shooting.

MAYOR'S SUPPORT OF DWYER DRAWS FIRE OF DR. KANE

'Politics,' Says Manager for Circuit Clerk Priest When Executive Backs Opponent for Nomination.

ISSUES STATEMENT FOR HIS CANDIDATE

Declares Dickmann Machine Is Trying to Put Office in Hands of "Politically Active Lawyers."

Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann's announcement yesterday that he would support Constable John J. Dwyer, Twentieth Ward Democratic Committeeman, for the party nomination for Circuit Clerk, in opposition to H. Sam Priest, incumbent seeking renomination, definitely threw the Dickmann and anti-Dickmann Democratic factions into a primary campaign contest.

It drew from Priest's campaign manager, Dr. R. Emmet Kane, a former supporter of the Mayor, the assertion: "The issue in the campaign is perfectly clear—it is good, efficient and honest service, as against a personally controlled political machine."

The Mayor's followers have dominated the Democratic City Committee, but Priest asserted to a Post-Dispatch reporter today that 18 or 20 of the 56 members of the committee would back him. Among them are two of Priest's deputies, Henry J. Phelan and Miss Mary Belle Sherry of the Thirteenth Ward, and, Priest said, Justice of the Peace Jimmy Miller of the Fourth Ward.

With Anti-Dickmann Faction.

Priest, whose father, George T. Priest, formerly was a member of the Police Board and whose grandfather, the late Henry S. Priest, formerly was a Federal Judge, was, with Dr. Kane, a worker for Dickmann's election as Mayor in 1933. For a time thereafter he was employed in the city Department of Public Welfare. Since becoming Clerk of the Circuit Court he has been aligned with the anti-Dickmann faction, leaders of which generally have been listed as William L. Igoe, William J. Brennan and Jimmy Miller.

In April Priest received a letter signed by 1200 lawyers, or about half of the registered attorneys here, expressing appreciation of his accomplishments as Circuit Clerk. His candidacy has been indorsed by 110 business executives, who commended him for efficiency and economy in the office.

Mayor's Statement.

It had been known for about a year that the Mayor was opposed to Priest. The Mayor said, in a formal statement handed to reporters when they asked about his attitude in this contest:

"Since Dwyer has filed for Circuit Clerk, I am happy to say that I intend to vote for him for the nomination, because I feel he is fully qualified for the office, having graduated from Christian Brothers' College, where he majored in accountancy. He served as paymaster for the City Treasurer in 1913-16, from which office he resigned to accept an appointment as assistant cashier in the office of Collector of Internal Revenue under George L. Moore, now Federal Judge.

"He was promoted to the position of cashier, which he held until a change of administration in 1922. In this capacity he was responsible for the handling of between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000. His record as a faithful public servant of long experience fully merits the confidence of the people of St. Louis.

"Furthermore, his father (Phil Dwyer, once a Democratic committeeman) was a personal friend of my father (Joseph F. Dickmann) and was interested in his election in 1900 as Sheriff and again in 1912 when my father was re-elected Sheriff, and it is a pleasure for me to reciprocate this loyalty with my support for his highly qualified son."

Dr. Kane's Reply.

Dr. Kane said, in a formal reply to the Mayor's statement:

"We have absolutely no doubt in our minds as to the outcome of the coming primary. It is inconceivable that the people of this city, who have been served in an honest and efficient way by Priest, will turn him out of office so that his office may pass into the hands of the small group of politically active lawyers who, with the assistance of the Mayor's machine, are seeking to control it.

"It is hard to understand why it took the Mayor all of these months to make up his mind that he was so obligated to Dwyer's father for work done in years long past. Gratitude, however, is a most commendable virtue. The pity is it has not been more frequently demonstrated."

There is a third candidate for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Clerk, John J. Mullarkey.

New District 11 Fire Chief.

Capt. Thomas J. Cody of the Fire Department, 4464 Margaretta avenue, was made Chief of District No. 11 in North St. Louis today, Director of Public Safety George W. Chadsey announced. He succeeds the former chief of the district, Arthur Hammer, who has been ill for nearly three months. Cody joined the Fire Department in 1906, was made a lieutenant in 1916 and captain in 1922.

Egg Firm Employe Then Explains He Needed the Money for Operation for Son.

When Leon M. Taylor, chauffeur for the Montgomery Egg Co., 6227 Olive boulevard, University City, reported he was held up by an armed Negro at Eighteenth street and Chouteau avenue shortly before 8 o'clock last night and robbed of about $100 belonging to the firm, police searched his truck and found a wallet, containing $99, hidden in the horn under the hood.

Officers said Taylor admitted placing the money in the horn and then making a holdup report, explaining that he needed money for an operation for his small son.

Taylor is 25 years old and resides at 9450 Baltimore avenue, Overland. He was booked on a police court charge of making a false report of a law violation.

6-RUN RALLY IN SECOND KNOCKS OUT WES FERRELL

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The Browns went after their second straight victory over the Washington Senators here this afternoon with Oral Hildebrand opposing Wes Ferrell in the pitching box.

Ferrell, the leading hurler of the Washington club, has won eight and lost three games so far this year.

Both teams revised their lineups, the Browns replacing Tomy Heath behind the bat with Billy Sullivan and the Senators using Mel Almada in center field instead of Al Simmons and Angelo Giuliani behind the bat instead of Rick Ferrell.

The Browns bunched six hits with a walk to score six runs in the second and at the same tike knocked Ferrell out of the box. Feature of the rally was Kress' triple to the center field corner with two on base. Krakauskas replaced Ferrell on the hill for Washington.

The Senators scored twice in the third when Giuliani, a former Brownie, singled, Krakauskas walked and Lewis drove them both home with a double. The Brown protested that Krakauskas was out at the plate on the play, but apparently Catcher Sullivan only bumped the runner with his shoulder instead of tagging him with the ball.

The attendance was approximately 800.

The game:

FIRST—BROWNS—Travis threw out B. Mills. Clift was called out on strikes. Kress flied to Stone.

SENATORS—Myer flied to West. Lewis flied to Mills. Wright beat out a hit to Heffner. Wright was out stealing, Sullivan to Kress.

SECOND—BROWNS—Bell flied to Almada. West walked. McQuinn singled to right, sending West to third. Sullivan beat out a bunt to W. Ferrell, filling the bases. Heffner beat out a slow tap down the third base line, scoring West and leaving the bases filled. Hildebrand singled to center, scoring McQuinn and still leaving the bases filled. B. Mills singled to center, scoring Sullivan and Heffner, Hildebrand stopping at second. Clift fouled to Lewis. Kress tripled to the center field corner, scoring Hildebrand and B. Mills. Krakauskas replaced W. Ferrell on the hill for the Senators. Bell, up for the second time in the inning, again flied to Almada. SIX RUNS.

THIRD—BROWNS—West struck out. Karakauskas threw out McQuinn. Sullivan popped to Bonura.

SENATORS—Giuliani singled to center. Krakauskas walked. Myer popped to Heffner in short right. Lewis doubled to center, scoring Giuliani and Krakauskas. Play was halted when the Browns protested to Umpire Harry Geisel on calling Krakauskas safe at the plate. The relay from the outfield beat Krakauskas by several feet, but apparently Geisel ruled that Sullivan bumped Krakauskas with his shoulder instead of tagging him with the ball. Wright singled to right, Lewis stopping at third. Stone fouled to Sullivan. Bonura forced Wright, Kress to Heffner. TWO RUNS.

FOURTH — BROWNS — Travis threw out Heffner. Hildebrand walked. B. Mills also walked. Clift struck out. Kress flied to Almada.

SENATORS—Travis lined to McQuinn. Almada flied to Mills. Heffner muffed Giuliani's easy pop fly and drew an error. Krakauskas popped to Clift.

SENATORS—Myer singled to right. Lewis hit into a double play, McQuinn to Kress to McQuinn. Heffner threw out Wright.

SIXTH — BROWNS — Heffner walked. Hildebrand was called out on strikes. B. Mills singled to center, sending Heffner to third. When Almada attempted to catch Heffner at third, B. Mills took second. Clift was purposely passed, filling the bases. Kress was called out on strikes. Bell flied deep to Wright.

SENATORS—Stone flied to Bell. Heffner threw out Bonura. Travis went out the same way.

13-Inning Game Won by White Sox Over Yankees

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The Chicago White Sox spotted the Yankees six runs in the first four innings this afternoon and then came back to whip the world champions, 11 to 10, in the 13-inning opener of a double-header. Gerry Walker's homer with two aboard tied the score in the ninth, and his single drove the winning run across in the thirteenth.

POLO PLAYER HOPPING INJURED IN FALL AT MEADOW BROOK CLUB

NEW YORK, June 8.—Earle A. S. Hopping, high-ranking polo player and a former member of United States international teams, was injured in a fall from his mount during a practice match at the Meadow Brook Club yesterday.

Hopping, playing for the first time since his return from a winter of polo in the Philippines, fell heavily on his head and shoulder while he was reeaching for the ball. A preliminary examination indicated a cracked cheek bone and X-ray examination was planned to learn if there were other injuries.

Saturday afternoon Richards will play a singles exhibition with Markwort, followed by a double match with players yet to be selected. The exhibition also will be free.

EXTRA INNINGS by J. Roy Stockton

We Want Durocher.

The Dodgers look much better this year. There's a new spirit, more speed and much of the credit for the vastly improved infield must be given to an agile veteran named Lee Durocher. Yes, Lippy Leo is playing with the dash and verve he showed during his best years with the Gas House Gang.

It's too bad the Cardinals had to trade Durocher. Everybody admits now that the club needs a shortstop. And when you look around for shortstops, you think of only about three in the league. There's Dick Bartell at New York, Arky Vaughan at Pittsburgh and Durocher at Brooklyn. Bill Jurges at Chicago isn't a bad performer, but we'd take Durocher—the Durocher of his best days with the Cards and the Durocher now playing with Brooklyn—if we had our choice.

Leo is a fighting ball player. He can make a team hustle, he steadies an infield and his saucy insolence has the happy faculty of irritating the opposition. He has color, no question about it.

New Team, New Pepper.

Last year Durocher seemed to be fading rapidly. He showed little of his former dash and enthusiasm. The Cardinals thought he was definitely on the downgrade. It develops now that ill-health had much to do with Lippy Leo's poor showing. Ill-health and a breach between the player and his manager.

During the winter Durocher tackled the job of regaining his health. And judging by his play thus far this season, the repair men knew what they were doing.

It's too bad the Cardinals traded Durocher.

Durocher a Manager?

Leo probably will be given a chance to run a ball club before he winds up his baseball career. There have been rumors that he was slated some day to succeed Burleigh Grimes as leader of the Dodgers.

It's no easy task, however, to direct a ball club. The efficient lieutenant occasionally makes a mess of it when he becomes a captain. Some of the characteristics that make Durocher colorful as a shortstop and captain may cause him difficulty when he is a leader. But he has a winning spirit, he knows his baseball and if he can learn to curb his tongue and control his temper, Durocher may make the grade.

Grimes and Brooklyn.

With the Dodgers playing better baseball, there hasn't been so much talk about Larry MacPhail preparing the skids for Grimes. If the club continues to show improvement, Burleigh certainly will deserve another contract. He started the season without the services of Dolf Camilli and Catcher Phelps, two of his most dangerous hitters.

Burleigh, of course, had two strikes on him when he took the Brooklyn job. Casey Stengel had become an institution with the professional followers of the Brooklyn club. There was much resentment when Casey was ousted and Grimes quickly was given to understand that he'd better be rather good or the

BLEVINS SCORES 144; LEADS IN STATE TOURNEY

By W. J. McGoogan

NORWOOD HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, June 8.—Walter Blevins, Kansas City, made a serious bid for medalist honors in the thirty-fourth annual Missouri amateur golf tournament here today, when he turned in a 70 for his second round to give him a 36-hole total of 144. He had 74 yesterday.

Blevins was helped immensely by two deuces. On the last nine holes. He was out in 34, one under par, then parred the tenth with a four, stuck a tee shot close to the pin and got a deuce on the par 3 No. 11.

He parred five holes in succession then got another deuce at the difficult 200-yard No. 17 hole. He slipped one over at the eighteenth to finish with a 36 for the back nine and a total of 70.

Blevins' card with par:

Vlevins — — — —524 455 425—36—70

Jim Manion, Meadowbrook veteran, and Hugh Logan, young star of Algonquin, were tied with 147 for the lead among the early finishers in the qualifying round of the thirty-fourth annual Missouri amateur gold tournament here today.

Manion had a 72 today to go with his first-round 75, while Logan shot a 74 for his second round. He had 73 yesterday.

Tom Draper, Normandie, and Ray aGtes, Forest Park, early leaders in the first round, slipped in the second round today. Draper posted a 76 to score 148 for the 36-hole qualifying test, but Gates went far off his game and took an 82 for 154, which may not make match play.

Scores generally mounted among the early birds, although the day was perfect for golf and the course was in excellent condition.

Genie Jr., a 9-to-1 shot, was the winner of the race in which Van Hastings went to the post a 3-2 favorite.

Johnson was shaken out of the saddle as his horse stumbled while running in about sixth position in a field of 12 horses. He miraculously escaped flying hooves, rolled over twice, and, after lying still for a moment, scrambled to his feet, picked up his whip and then leaned against the rail. He was walking, apparently unhurt, as the field ambulance arrived to take him to the track emergency hospital for examination.

Johnson fell at almost exactly the same spot last fall, but escaped injury and returned to the saddle after a day's rest. He then went on to lead the riders at the meeting.

Sent to Hospital.

Upon the advice of the track surgeon, Johnson was sent to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, for X-ray and other examination.

Examination at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis, disclosed Johnson had suffered a fractured left collarbone. The probability is that Johnson will be unable to ride any more mounts at this meeting. He was the second leading rider of the nation last year when Johnny Adams won the championship.

Johnson's remaining four mounts were canceled and new riders were named for John Doe, in the fourth; Apropos, in the sixth; Lucy, in the seventh, and Dower, in the eighth races.

Popular Vote, one of the busiest horses in training, went to the post for the twentieth time this year and came home with a victory in the opening race. Among his victims were Oh Ray, which set the pace and finished third; Able Abe, which finished second, running over horses in the run through the stretch; Rosy Doon, a winner five days ago, and eight others.

Among the also rans was Peggotty Ann, a mare which has a four-months-old foal with her in the barn of C. E. Mick here. The mare broke well and was third at the en dof the backstretch but was outrun in the last quarter mile.

Brown Brother Breaks Down.

There was also a bit of tragedy injected into the running of the third race when Brown Brother, a seven-year-old son of Monk's Way, broke down after running a quarter of a mile. Jockey Charlie Fields was able to dismount without being thrown. The 2-to-1 favorite, Little Wichita, was a comparatively easy winner and Mt. Washington, pressing all the way, held on well for the place. Falls City was third.

The daily double on Genie Jr. and Little Wichita refunded $107.40 for $2.

The track was dry and fast despite recent rains.

There were about 5000 persons present for the ninth day's racing of the meeting.

By the Associated Press.

TULSA, Ok., June 8.—Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., defending champion, overcame a spirited challenge by Jenny Grout of Oklahoma City today and defeated her 1 up at the eighteenth hole to enter the quarterfinals of the women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Tournament.

Miss Jameson finished the first nine 3 up, but faltered on the back nine as Miss Grout, Oklahoma State champion, steadied and won the twelfth, fourteenth and seventeenth holes to square the match.

Wind and a drizzling rain troubled the players.

Sarah Guth of St. Louis sprang the first big upset when she eliminated Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., 5 and 3. Miss Miley was badly off her game.

Beatrice Barrett of Minneapolis, who fired the best round of all on the first nine yesterday, blew up with her woods and fell before Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio, 4 and 2.

Mrs. Frank Goldthwait of Fort Worth defeated Mrs. Ted Law of Tulsa, 8 and 6.

Mrs. Opal Hill of Kansas City won over Mrs. Johnny Parnell of Dallas, 3 and 2.

JOCKEY DICKINSON THROWN FROM MOUNT AT SUFFOLK DOWNS

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, June 8.—Jockey Teddy Dickinson, 22, was thrown from the Rosedale Stable's Allentown today during the running of the third race at Suffolk Downs and suffered lacerations of the nose and forehead and contusions of the lower back.

He was given first aid treatment at the track and was sent to the Winthrop Community Hospital to be examined for possible internal injuries.

Dickinson, under contract to the Rosedale Stables, lives in Guthrie, Ky.

Giants Beat Cubs In Ten Innings In First Game

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Mel Ott's twelfth homer of the year, with a mate on base in the tenth inning, broke up a tight pitching duel between Harry Gumbert and Larry French and gave the New York Giants a 4 to 2 victory over the Cubs this afternoon in the first game of a doubleheader to even their current series at one game each.

ADAMICK OUT AFTER 44TH KAYO AGAINST AGAINST TRAMMELL

CHICAGO, June 8. — Jimmy Adamick, the Midland (Mich.) dynamiter hailed by Jack Kearns as "another Dempsey," said today he hoped to ring up his forty-fourth knockout in 54 fights when he faces Jack Trammell, the giant Youngstown (O.) Negro, in Mills Stadium tonight.

The 24-year-old Adamick, who knocked out Al Ettore in Philadelphia in his last scrap, was expected to weigh about 190 pounds when he crawls through the ropes for his Chicago debut. Trammell, whose right hand has gained him a string of knockouts, was expected to weigh 195.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, June 8.—Southpaw Bob Weiland pitched for the Cardinals this afternoon in the second game of the series with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Luke Hamlin, who has bothered the Redbirds in the past, was Burleigh Grimes' selection.

Babe Phelps was suffering from a painful bone bruise on his right hand, and Shea did the catching for the Dodgers.

The Dodgers scored one run in the second on one hit. Camilli walked and Koy's single sent him to third. As Durocher struck out, Koy was out at second on an attempted double steal, but Camilli crossed the plate safely.

About 2000 persons attended.

The umpires were Moran, Magerkurth and Parker.

Coast Boxer Predicts That Armstrong Will Stop Lightweight Titleholder in July 26 Meeting.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, June 8.—Baby Arizmendi upset many an apple from the cart last night when he battled Lightweight Champion Lou Ambers to a draw in a wild 10-round non-title fight before 10,000 fans, kept in a constant uproar at the Olympic auditorium.

Today the Bellicose Baby, veteran of a thousand and one nights in a prize ring, came out flatly and predicted that Welterweight Champion Henry Armstrong, Negro buzzsaw, would knock Ambers out when they meet in New York July 26.

Arizmendi should be an authority on the subject. Two months ago he took a beating—but never a knockdown—from Armstrong in a vicious 10-rounder at the Olympic.

'Armstrong Stronger.'

"Armstrong is stronger than Lou and throws too many punches. Ambers is easy to hit, I staggered him and while I took my best shots at Henry, I couldn't phase him," Arizmendi declared.

Ambers, one-to-three favorite over the Baby, said after the fight that he felt sluggish and couldn't get started. "I hope to do better against Armstrong," he said.

After eight rounds of fighting, with seldom a let-up, Referee Jack Kennedy, who has a custom of giving the round count at that stage, tolled off four rounds for Ambers, three for Arizmendi and one even.

Shade for Ambers.

Arizmendi tore into the champ in the ninth and carried on as they fought after the bell. Again in the tenth he was crowding the weaving, hooking New Yorker when he suddenly pulled up with the left side of his face covered with blood. He claimed Ambers had butted him and the bout was halted momentarily for examinataion.

The consensus of ringsiders, coinciding with the Associated Press score sheet, favored Ambers by a shade. By round count, the Associated Press had it five, four and one for the champion. Ambers scaled 136, Arizmendi 136½.

The home town lightweight was cheered to the echo and a round of boos trailed the champion out of the ring.

MacQUINN VICTOR IN MIDGET AUTO RACES; THREE DRIVERS SPILL

Harry MacQuinn of Indianapolis won the 35-lap feature of the midget auto races held last night at Walsh Stadium, and also turned in the fastest time trial of 15.53 seconds, as well as winning the fastest preliminary event.

Ted Duncan of Chicago was second in the feature, and Ronney Householder, Los Angeles, was third. The time was 8 minutes 18.19 seconds.

Henry "Speed" Baker, 5030 Enright avenue, was injured in one of the preliminary races when his car overturned and he was thrown out of it. He suffered a broken nose and a dislocated shoulder. He was taken to Deaconess Hospital after the accident and released after treatment.

Clint Rose, Maplewood, and Mac McCoy, St. Louis, both had minor accidents, their cars hitting the fence surrounding the track. Neither suffered any serious injury.

The attendance was announced as 7199.

500 TO COMPETE IN DE MOLAY SPORT MEET

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.—Henry Baker Lyon, national director of sports for the order of DeMolay, said today that more than 500 athletes, many of them state champions, would compete here July 4 in the national DeMolay tournaments. There will be competition in track and field events, golf, tennis, swimming and bowling.

Keating Stops Sutka.

By the Associated Press.

WRAY'S COLUMN

THIS was to have been Harlond Clift's big year for the Browns. His record since joining the club showed a continued upturn, year by year. He finished 1937 with a batting average of .306, having driven in 118 runs. His fielding figures also were of the best.

But observe our hero today, after one-fourth of the 1938 season has passed. Left at the post, after a bad start, he is now trailing the third base field with a batting average of .279 and fielding percentage of .944.

What happened to Clift we can't conjecture, unless it was his lateness in reporting and that his mind was not completely on the job in the earlier stages of the season. Whether it was the new baby or pouring concrete for the new bungalow at Yakima that cramped his baseball muscles we can't say.

But his getaway has been so feeble that nothing short of a War Admiral finish can ever make him the outstanding third-baseman of the league by October, as had been predicted.

Not the Only One.

LEFT AT THE POST with Clift was another Brownie who was expected to advance his already fine reputation and help the Browns out of the last place mire. That was our Beau Bell, who knocked them far and wide for a .340 average. He drove in 117 runs last year and between an improved Bell and a whirlwind Clift, Gabby Street appeared to be all set with a standout pair of run-producers.

They were to have been the Mize and Medwick of the New Browns. But Bell, like Clift, is hitting far below his stride with .247 and the punch of the club has been put squarely up to Sam West, .325, and two newcomers—Red Kress and Buster Mills. These boys have delivered, as their previous records indicated. Kress is hitting around .325 and Mills .317.

Gabby Street would not be polishing the bench so nervously if Bell and Clift were doing the expected.

However, the team's average slowly has been climbing. It is now around .265, which is about 20 points lower than the last placers of 1938 batted. No doubt the hitters will begin to show their stuff later—but that may be too late to save the reputation of Gabby Street.

What makes managers wild is to have ball players who can hit, but don't. The morale of the club is weakened and the loss of games such that the gap can't be closed by later improvement.

In the meantime the manager takes the rap for the club's failure; but the ball player, finishing with a rush at the close of the campaign, points with pride to his late record and bases his salary demands on it.

INCIDENTALLY, this kid Sam West is a player after your heart. Sam is getting along—he's 34 plus—but he still comes through, year by year, with a grand job of fielding and hitting. He's one of the most dependable players in baseball. It is just too bad that the Browns can't get up in the world while Sammy is still making centerfield safe.

Thus far Sam has driven in 20 runs, which would mean about 85 at the season's close. He's running right close to his usual. Clift, at his present rate, would have a total of only 65 and Bell only around 90 at their present rate of progress.

Consistency is a jewel in horse or man—especially when the man happens to be a baseball player.

Optimistic Gabby.

A TAIL-END club is a forlorn subject for discussion. And yet the Browns have plenty of colorful material, not the least worthy of mention being the renowned Buck Newsom and the erstwhile winner of pennants and world championships for the Cardinals, Gabby Street.

Buck still is a mighty hurler and a successful pitcher. Of 12 games won by the Browns before yesterday's contest, the big right-hander had delivered just half of those victories. He is still just a big kid and loves the limelight. He also works like a truck horse for every victory. He storms at himself when he loses.

He once had a yen for popping off; but that's all gone, and we have left just a real enthusiastic workman who pours them on at high speed whether he's with a winning or losing club.

When the game gets in jeopardy and the bases are carrying the tying or winning runs, that's the time Buck loves best. He solves the problem by striking out the batters.

Buck has a philosophy about walking batters, even when the bases are loaded. He curves the ball over or gives the batter a bad ball rather than take a chance to speed one across the plate and trust to the fielders, in order to avoid walking in a run.

"Better walk a batter than pitch him a home-run ball," he says. And, in Buck's case, it has seemed to work, in the long run.

It's About Time!

FROM THE EAST comes word that Gabby Street thinks his team is about ready to click. It's about time, Sarge. Because if the team doesn't click, neither will the turnstiles.

And if the turnstiles don't turn, then the stockholders will. And when those 200 or more stockholders do decide to turn, nobody can guess in what direction that will be.

Like Gabby, we believe the club will improve and that it will not be a tailender. The club still is trying hard and the hitters who are now below their level—Clift, Bell, McQuinn, Allen, Mazzera, etc.—are certain to add punch to the team's attack, soon.

In one way the Old Sergeant is being vindicated by his team's performance. In training camp he declared that with so many new elements he believed the team would require about six weeks to get going.

Well, the six weeks are up and the team is just beginning to stir. If it could get some solid pitching from throwers other than Newsom, it could easily attract attention, even though it is too late to climb very high.

GULDAHL, SNEAD AND COOPER TOP U. S. OPEN FIELD

By the Associated Press.

DENVER, Colo., June 8.—America's finest professional golfers, plus a sprinkling of fairly solid contenders from the amateur ranks, fired final practice shots today in the warm-up for the 1938 National Open championship.

The big show gets under way tomorrow. On the basis of practice spins and form-charts, it shaped up as a wide-open scramble, with the seasoned campaigners apparently holding no great advantages over a contingent of lesser lights from all sections of the country. Only three places remained to be filled, by alternates, to bring the starting field up to maximum of 170.

Fairways of the Cherry Hills course were a patchwork of divots which only bore mute testimony to the fact that the par 35-36—71 layout is considerably tougher than it looks on the surface.

Its 6826 yards spread out over narrow fairways, fringed by some ball-snaring water hazards, and terminating in postage-stamp-size greens. Despite considerable "squawking" over the extent of the rough and furrowing of sand traps, most pros rated Cherrry Hills a "fair test."

Sub-par and even par performances for a full round have been conspicuously lacking during the pre-tournament play. Striking illustrations were yesterday's practice rounds in cold and rainy weather. Only Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., had a par-equaling effort of 18 holes. It's the consensus of railbirds that 285 won't be broken for 72 holes.

Whether the training sessions should serve as a medium of forecast was questionable, however, as most of the entrants obviously were not bearing down. Some played two balls on every shot, such as Gene Sarazen, twice former champion, and Dick Metz, the good-looking young Texan now campaigning out of Chicago. Others hit three or four shots from one spot, seeking the easiest way to master a course which thus far has yielded a minimum of golf prescribed for it as "standard," and which features the toughest three finishing holes any Open has known in years.

The 68 produced by Sam Snead, a few days ago, remained as the best practice round as the championship aspirants took their last flings. Since then the West Virginia swatsmith has had his troubles. He took an approximate 78 yesterday.

Snead was playing in the same foursome with defending champion Ralph Guldahl, who had his share of grief, too. Guldahl, fumbling shots from the rough, unburdened himself of caustic comment at the idea of being compelled to play from "such heavy grass." A number of rivals made similar shots appear easy, however, and as Horton Smith pointed out: "One of the objects of this game is to stay on the fairways."

Sarazen, the only two-time winner on hand, dismissed the grumblings of some of his colleagues with the explanation: "They haven't played a course like this for years. Some of them want a polo field to work on. You have to control the ball here, and some of the second shots call for real judgment."

Betting books listed Guldahl and Snead, with Harry Cooper, all at 8 to 1. A poll of players also revealed sentiment for the chances of Paul Runyan, Tony Penna, Horton Smith, Dick Metz, Henry Picard, Tony Manero, 1936 title winner, and John Revolta. There was some question as to Revolta becoming a starter, however, due to a finger cut suffered during the Kansas City Open last week.

The Passing Show.

ROY HENSHAW won his second fray
Since Landis said he'd have to stay
With Rickey's Redbird crew.
As scout without portfolio
His ivory he seems to know,
To give the "Jedge" his due.

Kampouris to the Giants went
For Wally Berger, who was sent to Cincy-on-the-Rhine.
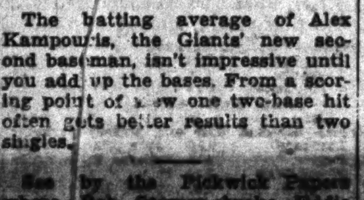
The Giants got back in the race—
They plugged the hole at second base,
And everything is fine.

But what about the Gashouse Gang
Whose praises everybody sang
About three years ago?
Well, while at present they are not
What one would call so very hot,
They'll finish in the dough.

When at their peak, the Redbirds struck
A fatal streak of adverse luck,
That dashed their pennant hopes.
The Dean boys folded overnight,
Which left them in a sorry plight,
And hanging on the ropes.

The Giants' victory over the Reds Monday ended a six-game losing streak. With seven clubs in first division it begins to look like a dog fight.



With Cleveland leading and only four and one-half games separating the first and fourth clubs, the American League seems to have gone Democratic or something. But the Browns, like good old Vermont, refuse to be stampeded.

"Schmeling Advised to Change Headgear."

But Max refuses to shift his gear for any matchmaker.

The batting average of Alex Kampouris, the Giants' new second baseman, isn't impressive until you add up the bases. From a scoring point of view one two-base hit often gets better results than two singles.

See by the Pickwick Papers where Bob Sawyer broke Eddie Tolan's 12-year-old record in the 220-yard dash the other day. Bob was timed in 22 2-5.

We have been looking for some Boy Scout to come along and do his good deed for the day by getting Olive Oyl out of the knot she got herself into.

Why, Sammy!

Sam Plan says it was only out of consideration for Mike Jacobs and the customers that he didn't pull Barney Ross out of the ring when Arthur Donovan was announced as referee, over his protest. Outside of awarding Barney the fight on a foul instead of the round which he had lost by a wide margin, we don't see how any other referee could have been of any more help to Barney. Maybe it was just the principle of the thing.

Anyway, Sam has only himself to blame for what happened. He protested to the wrong man. Henry Armstrong was the guy who did the dirty work.

BUDGE MOVES INTO FRENCH SEMIFINALS

By the Associated Press.

AUTEUIL, France, June 8.—Playing virtually errorless tennis, Don Budge swampel the young Frenchman, Bernard Destremeau, 6—4, 6—3, 6—4, today and gained a berth in the semifinal round of the French hard court championships.

Louis Listless; Handlers Say He Was "Too Tired"

POMPTON LAKES, N. J., June 8.—Former Champion James J. Braddock, who can speak with considerable authority on the subject, doesn't think Joe Louis' sudden loss of form will have any serious effect on his heavyweight title bout with Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium, June 22.

Braddock, from whom Joe won the title, saw Louis put on a listless exhibition in six rounds of sparring yesterday. The champion was pounded and roughed up by two of his sparmates, George Nicholson and Jim Howell. While Joe's handlers scurried around looking for an explanation and finally decided Louis was tired after spending a couple of hours under a hot sun posing for photographers, Braddock merely commented.

"You'll see a different fighter by this time next week. He's not burning up any unnecessary energy, and when he gets ready he'll open up. He worked the same way for our fight, but there's no denying he had everything when the bell rang."

Braddock celebrated his thirty-third birthday by visiting the camp. Others present included Henry Armstrong, who trained here for his recent bout with Barney Ross.

MRS. WALLACE HAS 82 IN WEEKLY GOLF PLAY

Mrs. Mahlon B. Wallace Jr., St. Louis Country Club, paced her team to a 28-16 victory over Algonquin yesterday in the district women's weekly team-play golf tournament. Mrs. Wallace had 82, low score for the day and only two over women's par. Algonquin still holds the lead with 144½ points, with St. Louis Country Club second with 139, and Westborough 125½.

Other scores yesterday were: Westwood 31, Norwood 13; Westborough 23½, Meadow Brook 14½; Glen Echo 28, Triple A 16; Bellerive 23½, Normandie 20½.

EXTRA INNINGS

Answer.

Ray Gooris Jr.: The "hop on a fast ball" is difficult to describe. The trade recognizes it, however. There was a "hop" on Dizzy Dean's fast ball. It seemed to jump as it reached the batter. Mungo and Lefty Grove threw a fast one that hopped. If a scientist would condescend to explain it, he probably would attribute the hop to the terrific speed of the ball and the resultant air pressure built up by it as it sped on its way, the hop occurring when the ball slides over or past this compressed air. Some pitchers have such a definite hop on their fast ball that batters and umpires frequently suspect that a rough spot on the leather is causing it to sail or hop. When a batter asks the umpire to look at a ball it frequently is because the pitcher's delivery has sailed.

$2 mutules paid: Little Wichita, win $5.80, place $3.60, show $3.00; Mt. Washington, place $6.00, show $4.20; Falls City, show $6.80.

Little Wichita, racing in her best form, moved into the lead soon after the star, and, showing good speed, was never seriously threatende. Mt. Washington was unable to reach the winner under strong urging but easily held Falls City safe at the end. The latter, close up from the start, could not reach the leaders under pressure.

MODEL YACHT RACES AT FOREST PARK THIS WEEK

Five hundred and fifty-two boats will be raced in the seventh annual public school yacht regatta to be held in Jefferson Lake, Forest Park, this week-end. Preliminaries will be held Friday and finals on Saturday morning.

All of the boats were made last winter in the seventh and eighth grade industrial arts classes of the public schools, and no boy can sail a boat which he did not make himself.

Four types of crafts, made according to specifications of the Model Yachting Association, have been entered. They are a two-masted schooner with a hull of 30 inches or less, and three kinds of single-masted yachts—class "M," a 30-inch hull; class "R," a 30-inch to 42-inch hull with sloop or marconi rig, and class "50-800" (Marblehead) with 50-inch hull.

Boats in the first two classes will sail from the east to the west side of the lake, making a short and a broad reach. The "R" and "50-800" classes will sail from the north to the south shore, with a beat to the windward and a run back.

Newark Leading By Eight Games In International

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—The champion Newark Bears, a bunch of sluggers who don't pull any of their punches, left the Orioles reeling in Baltimore today, victims of the Bears' eleventh consecutive triumph and suffering their own twelfth straight defeat.

The Bears, already eight games in front of the second-place Buffalo Bisons, who open a series with the league leaders in Newark today, walloped 20 assorted hits last night in trouncing the Orioles, 18-6. It was the fourth straight win over the Orioles for the leaders, who lost their last game to the Orioles 11 days ago, and a day later started the Birds on their losing streak.

Nine of the Bears' hits went for extra bases, three of them for the circuit. Clouting Charley Keller led the bombardment with five hits in six tries and drove in three runs. Everyone in the Bears' starting lineup got at least one safety, and Merrill May, Mike Chartak and Pitcher Johnny Haley hit homers.

The Syracuse Chiefs, who met the Bears just before the Orioles and were taken for three in a row, found the pickings more to their liking in Jersey City, where they hung up their third straight victory by 5-3, in the only other game on the International League program.

Cornell Captains Named.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 8.—William W. McKeever of Spring Lake, N. J., and Robert F. White of Cleveland, yesterday were elected track and baseball captains, respectively, at Cornell.

McKeever, a hammer thrower, and White, a catcher, also are football players.

O'BRIEN FILES ENTRY FOR WESTERN OPEN

Chester O'Brien of Westborough, who won the district golf championship Sunday by defeating Tom Draper in the final round at Glen Echo, said this morning he had filed his entry for the Western open, to be held next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at Westwood Country Club.

O'Brien, who had won the State championship in 1933 and 1934, caused quite a stir yesterday when he failed to appear for the first qualifying round in the 1938 Missouri championship. He had figured as a prominent favorite in the tournament.

"I passed up the State tourney to compete in the Western open," Chester told Westwood officials this morning. "I cannot take enough time off from business to give three entire weeks to golf so I decided to wait until next week and try my luck in the Western."

Beware Two Germs
that cause tortures of ringworm or Athlete's Foot

Medical authorities agree that Athlete's Foot is caused by both a vegetable (fungus) and an animal parasite. In many cases there is a "mixed" infection. That's why it's important that you use a treatment designed to kill both types of germs. What you need is a-m SOLUTION. It penetrates deep into the infected areas. First application stops the itching. Quickly attacks both types of parasites and helps to speed away the scales, sores and blisters. Easy to use. Try a-m SOLUTION for 5 days. If your Athlete's Foot, ringworm or jockey itch does not improve to your entire satisfaction, your money will be refunded. Only 50c at druggists on this positive iron-clad guarantee.

OLD MUSICK'S FERRY INN BEING WRECKED

Once Stopping Place for River Men, Fur Traders, Overland Travelers.

Musick's Ferry Inn, at Douglas and New Hall's Ferry roads, a three-story stone structure which has been a landmark since the early days of St. Louis County, is being torn down and its limestone blocks and maple and gum beams sold.

Old residents of the Missouri River settlement known as Musick's Ferry say the house is about 100 years old. John C. Heins, however, who has owned it since 1908, believes it is much older than that. He says an engineer's survey made in his early youth showed the house was standing in 1800.

Built as an inn for river boatmen, fur traders and overland travelers from Northern Illinois to St. Louis, it was the scene of many a riotous revel during the heydey of river travel.

"A landowner named Reuben Musick built a cable ferry on the river here," Heins said to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "an old hand ferry. It was a little dangerous when the wind was whipping the water up, and the travelers would stop at the inn until the weather was good again."

Old Residents Watch Work.

In the group watching the wrecking work yesterday were a few whose memory of the stone house went back nearly 70 years. They looked on a little wistfully, for they have grown used to its solid bulk towering over the one-story dwellings of the community. Too, the facade, looking across the trees and the river to the lowlands of St. Charles County, has been an easy marker for boatmen.

John Kelly, who lives nearby, said he used to play in the "rock house," when he was a boy. "It was old when I came here from England," he said. "That was 69 years ago. It was being used then as a stopping place for farmers who were taking produce into St. Louis, and for men who came to buy stone at the quarry up yonder."

The quarry, a few undred yards down the river from the house, supplied the limestone blocks that went into its two-foot walls. Some of the blocks are five feet long, and the total weight of the stones is estimated at 1000 tons.

"The stones are all sold," said Heins, "and I expect some of them are resting comfortably in foundations right now." He said he thought the stone and the maple and gum beams would be good for another hundred years.

19 Rooms in Structure.

The house was built on the sloping river bank, with two stories on the east side and three on the west. It is rectangular in shape, and the interior is divided into three sections by two cross-walls, of the same thickness as the outer walls. There are 19 rooms.

"There were eight in my family when I started renting the house and farm in 1898," Heins said. "We moved in and had a little better than two rooms apiece. There were days when I didn't know which of my children were on the second floor and which were on the third." He said they had difficulty heating the cavernous rooms with coal stoves. This, with the work it caused his wife, induced him to wreck it. Since 1932 Heins and his family have been living in a cottage on the hill.

Work of razing the structure should take about 10 days. One wall was pulled down yesterday by a truck with a cable, and three men were carefully salvaging the stone. It does not come down as easily as other, newer, houses, for the old residents who were watching agreed that when "they built houses in those days they built them to stay."

ILLINOIS JUDGE RULES CONVICTS MAY NOT MAKE AUTO TAGS

Competition With Private Industry and Against Law, Decision Says.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 8. — The Public Welfare Department plans to appeal a decision of Circuit Judge L. E. Stone that the manufacture of automobile license plates in Stateville Prison is in competition with established private industries and therefore a violation of the Prison Industries Act.

The system is used in many other states, including Missouri.

Judge Stone's ruling Monday was the second setback the department has received in its legal efforts to require the Secretary of State to award the contract to the penitentiary. Secretary Hughes has been awarding the job to private concerns.

5 PCT. PAYMENT TO CREDITORS

Additional Distribution by Community Estates, Inc.

Distribution of a 5 per cent payment to creditors of the Community Estate, Inc., a real estate holding concern which went into receivership in 1927, was authorized yesterday by Circuit Judge Eugene L. Sartorius. The payment, recommended by Allen C. Orrick, receiver, will amount to $9000. Previously, payments of 20 per cent had been made.

Claims of 150 creditors originally amounted to $180,262. The company was headed by Conrad Paeben, an attorney, who was made receiver but was removed because of criticism of his conduct of the receivership estate. Later, he committed suicide.

CAT BLOCKS PLANE CONTROL

Stowaway Animal Found Soon After Army Plane Takes Off.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Col. Jacob H. Rudolph and Master Sergent George Mendel of Maxwell Field, Ala., barely escaped injury Friday, May 13, because a black cat stowed away in their plane.

The men had gone aloft to practice instrument flying. When a few hundred feet off the ground, Col. Rudolph found that his controls were jammed. He looked back for Mendel, but he wasn't visible. In a moment, however, the controls came free. When the Colonel looked around again, the Sergeant was holding aloft the cat. It had crawled between the control column and the housing around it, completely "freezing" the control system.

U-M-M-M CREAMY FOAM COLLAR...
IT'LL "TASTE LIKE A MILLION DOLLARS"
...and it does too.
$1,250,000 in additional investment was made to perfect Griesedieck Bros. Light Lager Beer.

Help yourself to a sparkling bottle of Griesedieck Bros. Beer. See the firm, creamy-fine foam atop the flashing, brilliant, deep, mellow beer? Makes your mouth fairly quiver.

Actually the famous collar and the million dollar taste of Griesedieck Bros. Light Lager Beer is the result of putting money and more money into plant, equipment and method. With demand constantly mounting, an additional million and a quarter dollars were quickly invested.

New buildings sprang up—every department expanded, making possible greater above-ground space for storage, more room for fermentation. New, modern, glass-lined aging tanks—a shining new streamlined bottling plant followed, until today, with its capacity tripled, Griesedieck Bros. Brewery is undoubtedly the finest equipped in the Middle West.

So phone for a case now. Drop in at your favorite tavern for a cold bottle. Just say, "I'll take Griesedieck Bros. Beer." No money has been spared to please your taste.

MAN WHO KILLED ANOTHER INDICTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Grand Jury Also Accuses Brother of Frank J. Glon of Attempted Subornation of Perjury.

Frank J. Glon, 2314 Blair avenue, killer of Harry Laux, a shoeworker, in a brawl Memorial day in front of 2718 St. Vincent avenue, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of murder. Glon, a laborer, shot Laux after the latter had been walking with Mrs. Irene Coughlin of the St. Vincent avenue address, who had left Glon after living with him for about six years.

His brother, William Glon, 6500 Woodrow avenue, Wellston, also was indicted on a charge of attempted subornation of perjury. He was arrested at the inquest when Mrs. Rose Primrose, mother of Mrs. Coughlin, testified he had threatened her if she did not testify that his brother fired on Laux in self-defense. Penalty for attempted subornation ranges from two to three and a half years in prison.

William Glon is at liberty on bond. His brother is held in jail.

WOUNDED MAN IDENTIFIED

Sum Corresponding to That Taken From Bank Found in Automobile.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.— T. J. Higgins, Chief of Detectives, said yesterday the bank robbery suspect caught Monday by police after a running gun fight through the south side, was identified as Marvin Bryant, 30 years old, who had served sentences in Oklahoma and Indiana reformatories. Bryant was wounded in the body and legs and his condition today was critical.

Higgins said $571.98—the amount taken from the Citizens' Bank of Belton, Mo., in a holdup an hour prior to the shooting—was recovered from Bryant's car.

MAN AND DAUGHTERS UNITED AFTER 8 YEARS

Girls, 12 and 14 Years Old, Reach St. Louis From Austria.

Adolf Stipsits, who came to St. Louis from Austria eight years ago, was reunited with his two daughters, Theresa, 14 years old, and Hildegarde, 12, yesterday when they completed a 16-day trip from Hackerberg, in the Austrian district of Burgenland, where he left them in 1930.

At his home, 2638 Keokuk street, Stipsits told of his efforts to comply with immigration regulations, while Mrs. Stipstis, whom he married a year ago, showed the girls American dresses she had bought for them.

Stipsits' first wife, mother of the girls, died in Austria in 1927. Stipsits, planning to emigrate, married again. The second wife, he said, wanted to come to America with him but was unwilling to bring the girls, so they were divorced.

Unable himself to bring his daughters, Stipsits left them with their aunt and uncle and made the trip to St. Louis alone in 1930. For two years he tried unsuccessfully to find work and in 1932 got a job as machinist at the Mesker Bros. Iron Co., where he has worked since. Two years ago he obtained his final citizenship papers and asked the immigration authorities about sending for his children. He would have to show he had a home and means for caring for the children, he was told.

A year ago he married the present Mrs. Stipsits, who is a native of Switzerland and forewoman in a totato chip and popcorn plant.

"I had to show I had an income and money in the bank," Stipsits said. "We sent statements from my boss and her boss showing we both had incomes. That was fine. We had to get letters from the insurance company, and even had to show we had four rooms, with a place for the girls. Everything had to be just so."

All the formalities complied with, Stipsits, forwarded the passage money. It would have been more convenient for the girls, sailing from Hamburg, to come on a German ship, but Stipsits explained that, as an American citizen, he preferred the President Harding, which took 11 days for the crossing.

He will send the daughters, neither of whom speaks English, to school here in the fall.

BURLEIGH GRIMES ATTACKS COUNTER-SUIT FILED BY WIFE

Contends, in Motion, That His Divorce Plea Takes Precedence Over Separate Maintenance Action.

Burleigh A. Grimes, manager of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, filed a motion in Circuit Court yesterday attacking the court's jurisdiction to proceed with the trial of a separate maintenance suit of his wife, Mrs. Laura Virginia Grimes. The case is pending before Judge Max G. Baron.

In his plea, Grimes points out that before the separate maintenance suit was filed he instituted suit for divorce in Franklin County, Mo., his legal domicile, which case is still pending. He contends that his suit has priority over his wife's suit.

Grimes, a former Cardinal pitcher, and Mrs. Grimes were married in 1931, and separated last Dec. 27. Each charges the other with general indignities.

Deputy Indicted for Killing.

By the Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 8.— Deputy Sheriff J. D. Connor was indicted by the Pulaski County grand jury yesterday on a charge of voluntary manslaughter for the killing of J. D. Flynn, 37 years old, oil company executive, near here May 30. Conner said he shot in self-defense after Flynn attacked him.

INDICTMENT IN KILLING DENIED

Grand Jury Refuses to Act Against Louis de Burgh.

The grand jury yesterday declined to indict Louis de Burgh, 5953 Wells avenue, after an investigation of the stabbing of Fred Moll in a brawl in front of a tavern at 1391 Hodiamont avenue on May 21. Moll, who lived at 6475 Moll place, Wellston, died Friday of pneumonia superinduced by stab wounds.

De Burgh had been ordered held for the grand jury after a Coroner's jury had returned a verdict of homicide.

MAN ASKS FOR $18,000 IN SUIT AGAINST AUNT

Trial of a suit by Charles Albert Fernald Jr., Harvard student, against his aunt, Mrs. Mary R. Myers, and her husband, John B. Myers, for an accounting of his estate, continued today before United States District Judge John Caskie Collet.

Fernald, now 26 years old and married, resides at Columbus, O. He testified yesterday about his life in the home of his aunt on Ballas road near Big Bend road, Kirkwood, after the death of his father in 1925 until he reached his majority in 1933. His mother had died earlier and his aunt was appointed guardian of his person and estate, said by the petition to have had a value of $27,000. The suit alleges his aunt made improper charges of $18,461 against his estate and asks for recovery of that amount.

He went to live with his aunt when he was 13 years old and he testified that she provided him with meager clothing and that he never had a full suit until he entered the University of Missouri. He attended the Kirkwood public schools and Western Military Academy.

Testimony about stock market accounts carried by Mrs. Myers in 1927 and 1928 with the firm of Francis Bro. & Co. was given by three witnesses connected with the firm in various capacities. Oliver Grote, cashier, said Mrs. Myers paid in $10,500 and received $611 when she closed the account, the loss being $9889. Paul Biesinger, a customers' man at the time, said most of the trading in the account was done by Mrs. Myers' husband. Clifford House, auditor, also testified about the account.

W P A MAN OUT FOR CONGRESS DOESN'T RISK HIS JOB

Deputy Administrator Rules on L. E. Smith's Right to Run in Eleventh District.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 8.—The candidacy of Lawrence Edward Smith, St. Louis W P A worker seeking the Democratic nomination for Congressman in the Eleventh District, does not violate a W P A regulation prohibiting W P A workers from becoming candidates for state or local offices, it is announced today at State W P A headquarters.

The announcement said Aubrey Williams, Deputy National W P A Administrator, had ruled that Smith's candidacy did not jeopardize his W P A job. Williams interpreted the regulation to forbid W P A workers from becoming candidates for state, county and municipal offices.

Land Bank Interest Bill Passed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Senate passed a bill yesterday to continue the 3½ per cent interest rate on Federal Land Bank loans made through national farm loan associations. The measure, which now goes to the White House, would continue the rate for another two years.

"MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY" FINALLY LANDS IN AMERICA

Seaman Made 12 Trips Around World Before He Got Right to Enter U. S.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—For the first time in three years, Bernard Malkowski, a "man without a country," came ashore yesterday when the Isthmian freighter Steel Traveler docked here.

"Now I have a country," he said. Malkowski, a seaman, had made 12 trips around the world without once setting foot on the soil of the United States, which he had chosen for his home.

Because he could claim citizenship in no other country, he was rarely permitted to go ashore elsewhere.

Stranded in Baltimore in 1933 when his ship sailed while he was on a party with Polish friends, Malkowski took out first citizenship papers. Later in Portland, Me., he said, immigration authorities discovered his papers had been falsified. Malkowski said a notary was responsible. He was taken to Ellis Island for deportation in 1935, but no country would receive him. He was born in 1907 in a Prussian village which became Polish territory after the World War and neither Germany nor Poland would acknowledge his citizenship. Now he may become an American citizen. Capt. Thomas Flannery, master of the Steel Traveler, sent him ashore under guard at Penang to establish his status as a non-deportee and obtain a United States visa.

MOTHER SAYS BOY, 19, WED AFTER 3 DAYS OF DRINKING

Suit Filed to Annul Marriage of William Van Voorhees, Bride 24 Years Old.

A suit filed in Circuit Court today to annul the marriage last week of William Van Voorhees, 19 years old, stated the youth went through a marriage ceremony at St. Charles with Miss Alpha Sanders, 24, after a three-day drinking bout.

The petition, filed by Van Voorhees' mother, Mrs. Mary Van Voorhees, 1501A Farragut street, stated the marriage was without the consent of the mother and resulted from persuasion and coercion. Van Voorhees began drinking in Madison, Ill., on Friday, May 20, the petition declared, and was married late the following Sunday afternoon. He returned home after the ceremony, and has not lived with his wife, it was stated. Van Voorhees' attorney said he did not know where the wife was living.

CHARLES P. O'REILLY ESTATE

Property of Contractor Valued at $25,000 in Inventory.

The estate of Charles P. O'Reilly, a contractor, who died April 21, is valued at $25,508 in an inventory filed in Probate Court yesterday. The principal assets consist of United States Treasury bonds amounting to $13,887; notes totaling $4794 and realty valued at $4650.

SCHOOLS' COAL COSTS LESS

Bids for Next Year's Supply $3300 Below Last Term.

Low bids for coal for the public schools for the next year, opened by the Board of Education Supply Committee yesterday, aggregated $98,709, or about $3300 less than for the 12-month period now ending. Officials attributed the decline to competition and uncertainty as to what might be done by the new Bituminous Coal Commission. Contracts would be subject to change in accordance with any price changes ordered by the commission. The order is for 41,123 tons. Award of contracts may be recommended next Tuesday.

FALL FATAL TO WIDOW, 80

Mrs. Alice Frankel Plunges From Second Floor Porch.

Mrs. Alice Frankel, 80 years old, a widow, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 5748A Etzel avenue, of injuries suffered three hours earlier when she fell from a second-floor porch.

Neighbors, who found her lying in the yard, reported that the porch railing had broken. Mrs. Frankel made her home with her son, Frank E. Frankel.

ROOSEVELT DEEMS HOPKINS' MIXING IN IOWA PROPER

President Says He Himself Would Feel Free to Express His Views on Affairs in Own State.

Senator Gillette's Victory "Good Carrying Out of Perfectly Good Form of Government."

By RAYMOND P. BRANDT,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In his dual capacity of chief executive and head of the Democratic party, President Roosevelt late yesterday absolved Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins for his participation in the Iowa senatorial primary in which Representative Otha D. Wearin, who claimed administration support, was defeated by Senator Guy M. Gillette.

With considerable heat, President Roosevelt told reporters at his semi-weekly press conference that if he had been born and educated in Iowa, as had Hopkins, he would feel absolutely free to express himself as to what was going on in his own State.

Then, as he warmed up to his subject, he reverted to an old theme that the Washington political reporters were not permitted to write impartially about his administration.

He referred the reporters to Hopkins' brief statement that the Iowa vote showed that his repeated reminders to W P A workers that they were to vote as they pleased had not been disregarded.

With obvious bitterness, the President observed that a smoke screen had been thrown up by charges that relief funds were being used for political purposes. Stories along this line, he added, had been written with the idea of pleasing the owners of the newspapers. At first he said editors of the newspapers, and then corrected himself, saying he wanted to make a distinction between editors and owners.

Comment on Iowa Outcome.

Speaking generally about the Iowa contest, he said it represented the "good carrying out of a perfectly good form of Government."

The President's views were obtained by this question, "Now that the Iowa primary is over, do you think it proper for a W P A official to take sides in a party primary?"

The President's animus against newspaper owners and publishers has increased during the last two years. It was first discernable before the 1936 campaign and became more manifest in the Supreme Court controversy and during the debate on his taxing and relief programs. His general thesis is that the Washington correspondents in general are favorable to his administration but are constantly finding fault with it in their articles. What he does not seem to realize is that many of the Washington correspondents feel it their professional duty to call attention to what they think are trends not always apparent on the surface of the news, and leave routine reporting to the press associations.

The question yesterday about Hopkins' participation in the Iowa primary was typical. It was asked in good faith by a reporter for a Pittsburgh paper which has been pro-Roosevelt. According to all the rules, it was a proper question to put to the President. It seemed to the reporters present that the voters of the country were interested in knowing how Mr. Roosevelt justified the Relief Administrator's aid to a candidate who was claiming New Deal support against another Democratic candidate who had a New Deal record as good or better.

Joy in Camps of Candidates.

Despite the President's defense of Hopkins' activities, Senator Gillette's victory over Representative Wearin brought joy to many Senators and Representatives who are up for renomination this year. While Hopkins' statement indorsing Wearin was characterized today by a seasoned congressional politician as "the act of an amateur," these candidates were happy over the setback given the White House strategists.

The "anti-court packing" bloc of Senators rushed into print with comments yesterday interpreting Gillette's victory as a vindication of their stand against the President, but the greatest satisfaction was expressed privately by Southern Congressmen who had been fearful that the White House politicians would invade their districts because of their opposition to the administration wage-hour bill. While they would be gratified

Dispute Over Alleged Joker In Drug Act in Conference May Cause Measure to Fail

Alliance Disclosed Between Patent Medicine Interests, Under Cover, and Apple Association, Fighting Provision of Bill.

A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Owing to a deadlock among Senate and House conferees over the court review provision of the 1938 pure food and drug bill, it appeared likely today that this measure may fail of passage during the present session of Congress. The controversial clause, inserted by the House, is denounced by spokesmen for the Department of Agriculture as a joker designed by patent medicine, cosmetics and apple-shipping interests to paralyze enforcement of the statute.

Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has asserted that if this section remains in the bill, "its effect will be to hamstring its administration so as to amount to a practical nullification of the substantial provisions of the bill," and added "it is the department's considered judgment that it would be better to continue the old law in effect than to enact the bill with this provision."

The conference leader against the court review clause is Senator Royal S. Copeland (Dem.), New York, by profession a physician. His leading opponent is Representative Clarence F. Lea (Dem.), from the fruit-growing state of California. The House passed the bill Wednesday. During conferences held since then, Lea's attitude is declared to have been adamant, and Copeland's inflexible.

Talk of Reprisal.

The conflict has aroused such public interest that representatives of 14 national organizations of women, in an appeal to Senator Copeland, declared they would seek a presidential veto unless the court review section were eliminated. Plans also under discussion among the leaders of these organizations, it is said, are to contest Lea's reelection to Congress next November. He has served continuously since 1917, and was elected for nine consecutive terms as nominee of both the Democratic and Republican parties. Lea is chairman of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce, and as such reported out the House bill containing the objectionable section.

According to the House bill, any person considering himself aggrieved or injured by a ruling of the Secretary of Agriculture as to alleged adulteration, misbranding or false advertising of food, drugs and cosmetics in foreign or interstate commerce, may within 90 days appeal to a United States District Court for an injunction. It is the contention of Lea's opponents that a single injunction issued by any one of the 82 district courts, would be sufficient to tie up the administration of the law throughout the country, on the particular item at issue.

A minority of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, led by Congressman Carl E. Mapes (Rep.), Michigan, declared it was not opposed to court review in principle, and offered an amendment, voted down in the House, restricting the right of appeal to the circuit in which the aggrieved person resides or has his principal place of business, or to the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia.

Another provision of the House bill to which exception is taken is to the effect that if "a substantial portion" of the industry affected by an adverse ruling demands its amendment or repeal, it would be mandatory on the Secretary of Agriculture to reopen the case.

This dispute reflects a curious alliance between the patent medicine interests and the International Apple Association, an organization of 24,000 shippers, with the former remaining under cover and the latter conducting the open campaign. The point of attack chosen was a regulation of the Department of Agriculture forbidding a higher tolerance than .018 of a grain of lead to a pound of fruit, deposited by sprays against insect pests.

Because apple growers spray their orchards several times during a season, and frequently use adhesives, such as albumin and oils, to prevent the poison from being washed away, the accumulation often rises above the permitted quantity of lead. The shippers are, therefore, put to the expense and trouble of washing the apples with a hydrochloric acid mixture, on pain of having their consignments seized in transit by the Department of Agriculture.

Death of Boy Cited.

During the two-day debate in the House last week, Congressman Robertson (Dem.), Virginia, asked whether there had ever been a single case, in the history of the country, "where anybody has been poisoned through eating an apple with undue spray residue." "The gentleman," he continued, referring to Mapes, "cannot cite one case."

In reply, Congressman Jerry J. O'Connell (Dem.), Montana, flourished a photostat of the death certificate of Ralph Dodge, 12 years old, of Jefferson County, West Virginia, who died after eating a dozen sprayed apples. An autopsy showed, O'Connell declared, that per kilo of sample the liver and other vital organs contained 6.3 milligrams of lead and 2.5 milligrams of arsenic. "This," the Montanan declared, "absolutely destroys the argument made here that there has never been a death from poisoning by spray residue."

Cumulative Poisons.

The Department of Agriculture points out that lead and arsenic are cumulative poisons, the former being stored in the bones and the latter in the soft tissues, and that it is essential, in the case of lead particularly, to reduce the intake to a minimum. This poisonous metal, it is stated, is constantly absorbed by the body from many sources, such as motor car exhausts, drinking water passing through lead pipes, toys colored with lead paint, tins the seams of which are soldered with lead, canned sardines cooked on lead grills and even cocoa and chocolate in bags fastened with lead seals.

The department declares the apple shippers are short-sighted in view of the fact that in 1926 England declared an embargo on American apples bearing an illegal residue of lead and arsenic, and that Massachusetts some years ago threw into Boston Harbor several carloads of fruit from Oregon and Washington that had been sprayed with a strong arsenic-lead preparation.

EVEN SMALL FUNDS DENIED TO JEWS LEAVING GERMANY

From a Correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, Copyright, 1938.

BERLIN, June 8.—Whatever hopes German Jews may have had of leaving the Third Reich with even small funds apparently vanished yesterday when the Ministry of Economics issued a decree preventing them from exchanging Reichsmarks (the so-called emigrant mark accounts) for foreign currency abroad.

The Jew emigrating from Germany already is forced to sacrifice 85 per cent of his fortune in order to send out the remainder. The decree prevents the legal transfer of any of his funds.

It was assumed that the measure was a step toward application of the severe provisions of the recent decree for registration of Jewish property. This decree provides for the registration by June 30 of all non-corporate Jewish-owned property, including that held in the Reich by foreign Jews, and authorizes Field Marshal General Hermann Wilhelm Goering to use the property according to the needs of the German economy.

NO TAX ON OLD-AGE BENEFITS

Income Ruling on Social Security Allotments.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Internal Revenue Bureau ruled today that payments of old-age benefits by the Social Security Board to persons reaching the age of 65 are not subject to income taxes.

At the present time persons reaching 65, who have paid social security taxes, receive lump sum settlements equal to 3½ per cent of the amount of wages they received from Jan. 1, 1937, until their sixty-fifth birthday. Starting in 1942, monthly payments will be substituted for the lump sum settlements.

$1,500,000 RELIEF LOAN BILL DRAFTED IN OHIO

Legislative Leaders Seek Temporary Fund While Waiting for Federal $20,000,000.

COLUMBUS, O., June 8.—Leaders in the Ohio Legislature hoped today to obtain passage of a $1,500,000 loan bill to meet poor relief needs while waiting to see if the Federal Government would provide $20,000,000 for direct relief in the State.

Prospects for speedy enactment of a relief program appeared to have been abandoned temporarily. Instead, the House of Representatives adopted a resolution asking Congress to set aside $250,000,000 for direct relief, of which Ohio would receive $20,000,000. It must be approved by the Senate.

Such action by Congress would relieve the Legislature of the problem of raising $13,000,000 to $17,000,000 estimated as needed to finance relief uuntil the end of 1938.

Expecting a delay pending Congressional action, members of both houses concentrated on putting into shape a bill that would appropriate $1,500,000 in sales tax revenue for 1939 and then permit local Governments to issue notes in anticipation of their share.

Senate Passes St. Louis Bridge Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The Senate passed and sent to the House yesterday a bill extending to Aug. 30, 1941, the time for completing a proposed bridge across the Mississippi River from a point between Cherokee and Osage streets, St. Louis.

MEXICAN COURT UPHOLDS SEIZURE OF OIL INDUSTRY

District Judge Denies Injunction to British and American Companies—Condemns Cash Seizure.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., June 8.—District Judge Manuel Bartlett upheld yesterday the constitutionality of President Lazaro Cardenas' expropriation of the foreign-owned oil industry, valued at $400,000,000.

His decision denied an injunction requested by the British and American companies whose property was taken over March 18 in a move that resulted in severance of diplomatic relations with Great Britain.

The Judge said, however, that the Mexican Government was at fault in seizing bank deposits, archives and correspondence of the companies, and ordered that the cash and records be returned.

The constitutionality of the expropriation law, invoked by Cardenas, was upheld, Bartlett said, "insofar as it affected the properties actually appertaining to production, exploitation and distribution of oil."

Companies to Appeal.

The oil companies plan an immediate appeal to the Mexican Supreme Court.

B. T. W. van Hasselt of Aguila (Royal Dutch Shell), one of the largest oil property owners, said the district court's decision was not unexpected and an appeal would be made within the next five days, as provided by law.

The oil companies' attack on expropriation, alleging 22 violations of the Constitution, had centered principally on the assertion that it was counter to the constitutional prohibition of monopolies.

They argued that the taking over of 95 per cent of the nation's oil production sources gave the Government a virtual monopoly, an argument which Judge Bartlett rejected.

Refusal of the oil companies to abide by an arbitral award increasing wages for their 18,000 employes and otherwise increasing production costs was the immediate reason President Cardenas gave for expropriation. It was another step in pursuit of his policy of "Mexico for the Mexicans."

Oil Production Halted.

Oil production, one of Mexico's main sources of wealth, has been virtually halted since then.

Expropriation strained relations with Britain, which sent three notes demanding payment of old civil war damage claims. Mexico was so offended that it recalled its Ambassador from England May 13.

Britain followed suit, completing the rupture of diplomatic relations.

The United States, whose citizens owned about one-third of the expropriated property, took the position that diplomatic intervention could come only after the companies had exhausted all steps in Mexican courts.

Pension Bill Sent to White House.

LA GUARDIA URGES COMMITTEE TO FORM ECONOMIC PROGRAM

Wants Congressional Leaders to Collaborate With Industrial and Labor Men.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Mayor LaGuardia proposed yesterday that Congress create immediately a joint committee to collaborate with industrial and labor leaders in formulating a national economic welfare program.

Addressing the National Confectioners' Association, he suggested that the committee be composed of senior members of major standing committees and that it remain in session until an agreement could be reached.

The Federal Government's new spending program, LaGuardia declared, would not accomplish recovery unless government and business produce a formula to cure the basic causes of depression.

The unemployment problem, he continued, "cannot be solved by speechmaking, snappy sayings or political slogan. We should have less politics. Politicians never contributed a thing and I ought to know. I don't know much about the chemistry of marahmallows, but I know something about the chemistry of politics because I've been in it for 34 years, and I'll tell you that politicians are of absolutely no use at a time like this or at any time."

Harry R. Chapman of Cambridge, Mass., succeeded Thomas J. Payne of Chicago as president of the confectioners. George T. Peckham of St. Louis is first vice-president.

60-Year Age Limit on New Judges.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Roosevelt said yesterday he would adhere, as far as possible, to his custom of selecting men under 60 years of age for Federal judgesihps. He is to appoint 24 new judges under a bill recently passed.

MANIPULATION OF CREDIT BY GOVERNMENT CHARGED

San Francisco Financier Says Bankruptcy System Is Used to Meet Deficits.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—Charges that Government credit is being manipulated to cover deficits were made yesterday by two speakers at the convention of the National Association of Credit Men.

Howard Whipple of San Francisco, vice-president of the Bank of America, said: "Government here, as well as in Europe, is using the banking system as an instrument of national policy. Banking is not engaged primarily in financing trade but in meeting Government deficits."

One effect of Government financial policy, he said, "has been the creation of a new paradise for the spenders; for what better device could be had than that of borrowing as a means of postponing or concealing the bitter pill of taxation which must eventually be swallowed?"

BRITISH BLUEJACKETS LANDED TO PREVENT RIOTS IN JAMAICA

Colonial Police Also on Patrol; 11 Persons Killed in Lebor Trouble.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 8.—British Bluejackets and Colonial police patrolled Jamaica yesterday to prevent recurrence of riots in which 11 persons have been killed since labor trouble started three weeks ago.

One man was killed and 12 were injured Monday night when police fired into a demonstration of strikers and unemployed sympathizers. The outbreak occurred at Stellin, in Trelawny Parish. Police arrested 74.

Other riots spread through St. James Parish where three persons were injured. British Bluejackets were landed at Montego Bay to maintain order in that section and a naval plane scouted the island to spot assemblies of strikers as potential danger points.

In the last two weeks workers, mainly those on sugar plantations, have demonstrated against working conditions and wage scales.

FRENCH SOCIALISTS SPLIT OVER DALADIER

Leftist Faction Withdraws and Forms "Workers-Peasants' " Party.

By the Associated Press.

ROYAN, France, June 8. — The French Socialist party was split wide open today after former Premier Leon Blum forced a resolution through the party's national congress for continued support of Premier Edouard Daladier's government.

The extreme "revolutionary left" wing of the party announced its withdrawal early today, five minutes after the vote was taken in the Congress' closing session.

In a mimeographed satement prepared before the vote began, the "revolutionary left" announced formation of a new "workers-peasants' Socialist party" and called a national convention for July 16 at Paris.

The congress last Saturday expelled the Socialist Federation of the Paris region, the party's stronghold, for a demonstration in front of the Senate last March 26 despite the opposition of Blum, then Premier.

Blum based his resolution for qualified support of Daladier's "national defense government" on the contention that the danger of new international difficulties necessitated unity.

The congress gave the Socialist bloc, numerically the largest in the Chamber of Deputies with 136 seats, the right to vote in support of Daladier as necessity seemed to dictate.

The vote was 4872 to 3165. The opposition included 1450 votes by the group that bolted.

CARDENAS BEGINS INSPECTION OF EXPROPRIATED FARM AREA

Tour Follows Short Crops, Which His Opponents Lay to Inefficiency.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., June 8.—President Lazaro Cardenas began yesterday an inspection tour of the Laguna region where his Agrarian policies are undergoing their major test.

Short crops of cotton, wheat and alfalfa on the farmlands there which the President expropriated Oct. 6, 1936, have been attributed officially as primarily due to climatic conditions, but some observers assert that inefficiency of the Government system of operation is partly the cause.

The Laguna district, lying in the north central part of Mexico on the borders of the states of Coahuila and Durango, has some of the finest land in the country.

Miss Taussig Writes to Mr. Hopkins.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I HAVE sent the following letter to Harry L. Hopkins, W P A Administrator:

My Dear Mr. Hopkins: I am an unimportant citizen. I have no political power. I vote for individuals and not along party lines, but I have a deep interest in the welfare of the country, and I try to keep sufficiently informed to cast my vote with a certain degree of intelligence.

I have watched you rise to power with hope and sympathetic understanding, believing that you agreed with me that the holding of public office is a public trust and that while politics, and not statesmanship, may control other governmental agencies, those conducted by you would remain free from this menace.

Being an average citizen, one of the middle third of small income, who stands in danger of being thrust into the lower third if the depression continues, I should like to feel that the sacrifice entailed in caring for the lower third is not in vain.

I used to believe that relief funds could be administered wisely and honestly without political implications, but recent events have made me doubtful.

Surely you are not going to "let us down." Say the word, Mr. Hopkins; clear up the mess. Perhaps, because of your position and the unprecedented power which it gives you, you can ignore temporarily the accusations which have been brought against your department, but in so doing you are undermining the faith of those who have asked no aid from the Government and are destroying the principles of those who receive and administer relief.

I realize that letters such as this generally land on some secretary's desk, but if this one does, I shall lose what little faith I have left.

The Mayor's New Car.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

DOES it not seem strange that our Mayor, who is so frantically seeking more revenue for the city through strange taxes, should consider it necessary that he have a new $7000 automobile? One would think that he could struggle along with a "cheap" $2000 car and use the $5000 for relief purposes. I suppose, though, that poor folk would much prefer the sight of a magnificent automobile to the taste of a few good meals.

TAX-CONSCIOUS.

What She Got for $5.27.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I WAS astonished to read in Pictures of the needlessly distressing diet of John Windle and his family, although $8.75 a week is spent for food. I will feed my family of three adults, including myself, for less and we will have meals as good, if not better, than any well-to-do family.

See what I was able to do for $5.27, by buying as wisely as I know how and by going to the public markets, such as the one at Ninth and Soulard streets: three pounds spinach, 5 cents; three quarts cherries, 35 cents; four bunches fine asparagus, 35 cents; 15 pounds potatoes, 35 cents; eight pounds apples, 25 cents; three nice bunches lettuce, 10 cents; one bunch carrots, 5 cents; four heads cabbage, 15 cents; four pounds fresh peas, 20 cents; six ears corn, 25 cents; three bunches beets, 10 cents; two cantaloupes, 15 cents; three bunches rhubarb, 10 cents; two pounds string beans, 15 cents; one pint honey, 25 cents; one dozen eggs, 20 cents; one bunch parsley and two bunches onions, 5 cents, and one stalk celery, 5 cents.

At a Sixth street market, I got two pounds salt pork, 28 cents; two pounds lamb chops, 33 cents; two and one-quarter pounds of ground round steak and pork for meat loaf, 61 cents, and a three-and-one-half-pound rib roast, 90 cents.

Out of this, for example, we had last night half of the meat loaf, at 32 cents; one bunch of the asparagus, 9 cents; potatoes, about 2 cents; lettuce, about 1 cent; parsley at a fraction of a penny; green onions, 1 cent, and cherry pie, 15 cents.

I do not mean to criticise, but am offering this as a constructive suggestion for the benefit of others who must operate on limited incomes.

CLAYTON TAXPAYER.

Prefers Noisy Town to Quiet Cemetery.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I SEE that the Chamber of Commerce intends to have dogs stop barking, roosters stop crowing, hens stop cackling, by ordinance. What does the chamber suggest that we do, we people with dogs and chickens? Shall we move out to the country and pay a non-resident tax or shall we board our pets out there and stay in town ourselves?

During prohibition, we heard much about personal liberty. What's become of it? The cemetery is quiet, but I prefer to stand the noise a while longer.

FANCIER.

BLOW AT RUBBER-STAMPISM.

Senator Guy M. Gillette has come through with a decisive victory over Otha Wearin in the Democratic senatorial primary in Iowa. In ordinary circumstances, since both ran under the New Deal colors, the result would have but little significance outside the State of Iowa. The circumstances, however, were made unusual by the interference of Harry Hopkins, W P A Administrator, on behalf of Wearin and the further blessing given that candidate by the "my friend" telegram of the President's son and secretary, James Roosevelt.

Undoubtedly, the head and front of Senator Gillette's offending against the administration consisted in his vote against the President's Supreme Court packing scheme. Barring that vote, there was no conspicuous difference between the records of the two candidates. Both had been generally sympathetic with the New Deal aims and had voted for its concrete measures in about the same proportion. The conclusion, therefore, was inescapable that a group of advisers close to the President—though Mr. Roosevelt himself remained nominally neutral in the contest—had marked Senator Gillette for slaughter, in pursuance of a campaign to "purge" the Democratic party of Senators who had voted against the court-packing scheme.

It is clear from the Iowa vote, which went so substantially for Gillette over Wearin and three other candidates as to obviate the necessity of a nominating convention, that the James Roosevelt-Hopkins interference was deeply resented. "Home, James!" was the order of the Iowa Democrats.

The outcome is a fortunate one for representative democracy. A victory for Wearin, as the issue shaped itself up, would undoubtedly have been read nationally as an indorsement by Iowa's Democrats of complete rubber-stampism in the Senate, as against Gillette's announced policy, of selective voting in accord with his views on individual measures.

Senator Gillette was the first of the Democratic anti-court-packing Senators to face a primary test. His defeat would have been read by the would-be purgers as a clear signal to them to proceed, with similar tactics, against other Democrats in the same category—to carry on even more openly a fight which is being made in repudiation of the definite "no reprisals" pledge of the Democratic national chairman. As our Washington correspondent put it: "There is no doubt that New Dealers here, in the group close to the White House, placed great hopes in the outcome of the Iowa primary. It was generally felt that if Wearin were nominated, the White House would have what would amount to a veto power in later primaries. Decisions important to primaries in other states waited on the Iowa result."

The result in Iowa, happily, stands as a rebuke to the "elimination committee" of White House advisers. More particularly, it stands as a rebuke to Harry Hopkins for having embroiled himself and the W P A in a political fight. Mr. Roosevelt can serve not only the cause of political morality, but his own political welfare, by telling James Roosevelt, Harry Hopkins et al to stick to their proper jobs in Washington.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL McKITTRICK DISSENTS.

Disagreement has arisen in the Board of Permanent Seat of Government over the plan to obtain a $650,000 P W A grant for the erection of an annex to the ill-conceived Missouri Office Building, now under erection on an Alpine slope south of the State Capitol. Attorney-General McKittrick stayed away from the meeting of the board which authorized the official request for a Federal grant, and then described the proposal to attach an annex as a plan to waste public funds. "It's time," he said, "that somebody started thinking about and working for the taxpayers."

It's too bad that Mr. McKittrick did not take a public stand against the mislocation of the office building in the beginning and use his influence to prevent the blunder by the board. Had he offered himself as the center about which the opposition to the office-building site could have rallied, this unharmonious structure might not now be rearing itself on a slope which dominates the State Capitol.

THE BOMBING RAIDS ON CANTON.

> We cannot afford to conduct a war with all the niceties demanded by international law. In order to win, we must fight, and fight as hard as we can.—Gen. Araki.

On maps of the Chinese war zones, Canton does not appear. It is more than 700 miles from the major battlefield in Central China. Canton is an important seaport, defended by Chinese troops, but no Japanese move for its capture has been launched. Nevertheless, the city has been subjected steadily since May 28 to some of the war's most murderous aerial bombardments. The toll in the series of raids has risen to at least 3000 dead and 5000 injured.

Japan, hard pressed elsewhere, cannot spare the men necessary to capture the city and stop the shipments of arms and supplies that arrive there for the Chinese armies. So her militarists carry the war to the civilian population. They slaughter women and children in open market places. They hurl bombs on the crowded houseboat community anchored in the Pearl River. They shatter schools and hospitals, bridges and power plants indiscriminately.

There is a direct connection between this new campaign of frightfulness and the recent Japanese Cabinet shakeup. The raids began, in fact, only two days after four powerful figures, three of them army Generals, were installed in the Cabinet for the purpose of carrying on the war with greater energy and determination. Their principles are exemplified in the statement, printed above, by Gen. Araki, made when he assumed the post—Confucius save the mark!—of Minister of Education. With extreme militarists in the saddle, the inhuman raids on Canton are a natural result.

BLIND PENSIONERS WHO DRIVE CARS.

Persons who receive blind pensions, yet continue to drive their automobiles—that is one of the fantastic disclosures in Wisconsin's checkup on its pension system. Comparison of names on the two rolls showed that more than 300 blind pensioners and applicants held drivers' licenses. The licenses were revoked at once. "If a person has such poor vision that he wants a blind pension, he has no business driving an automobile," said George M. Keith, State Supervisor of Pensions. The statement is a masterpiece of restraint. Certainly cancellation of licenses is a moderate penalty for persons who are deliberate traffic menaces or outright chiselers.

Every plan for social security and aid to the handicapped encounters the relief swindler. A major administrative duty is to weed them out, in order to protect the deserving and save the whole system from being discredited. Rarely is so flagrant a practice discovered as that exposed in Wisconsin, but other states, including Missouri, still have much to do in tracking down their pension chiselers.

WHY INVESTIGATE?

Great Britain wants the United States to join an international investigation of recent aerial bombings in Spain. What is there to investigate?

In the past few weeks there have occurred the market-place bombings of Alicante and Granollers, killing hundreds of women and children lined up in food queues. There have been bombings at Barcelona, Valencia and many other points along the Spanish coast. Numerous British vessels in Spanish harbors have been hit, and the raiders have even been so bold as to drop bombs in French territory north of the Spanish border.

All these bombings have occurred either on Spanish Government territory or have been directed at lines of communication into that territory. Many of the planes have been definitely identified as of German and Italian manufacture.

Prime Minister Daladier of France, disturbed by the bombing of the Toulouse-Barcelona railway line in French territory, made a trip to the border and, after looking over the ground, has a very definite idea as to who is doing the bombing and why. He has moved up French infantry, aircraft batteries and fighting planes to prevent a recurrence. That is the language raiders understand.

Investigations are for the purpose of clearing up mysteries. There is no mystery about the bombing of civilians in Spain; no mystery about the bombing of British ships or French railway lines.

The bombings are the work of Generalissimo Franco and his German and Italian allies in their desperate attempt to beat the Spanish Government to its knees.

DEMOCRACY'S BEST WEAPON.

What is democracy's chief defensive weapon against the menace of dictatorship? "To make sure that its own house is in order," answered Dr. Isidor Loeb, dean of Washington University's School of Business and Social Administration, in his commencement address at the University of Arkansas.

This is a truth that cannot be too often or too widely stressed. It is commonly forgotten that the threat to democracy in such a powerful country as ours comes not from foreign pressure or propaganda, but from internal conditions. In these times of economic crisis, the people want security and social justice. These can undoubtedly be attained without resort to a regimented system, but, as Dean Loeb points out, "The chief task is one of educating our people to an understanding of the problem before despair leads them to dictatorship, as it has in other countries."

An alert citizenry, schooled in the issues and exercising its franchise intelligently, can make democracy yield benefits beyond the most generous promises of the dictators, and without loss of liberty.

THE THOMAS WAGE-HOUR COMPROMISE.

Senator Thomas of Utah, chairman of the conference committee on wage-hour legislation, is proving himself a good harmonizer. The compromise he drafted has become the working basis for a possible adjustment of the differences between the Senate and the House.

The Thomas proposal was in two general sections. The first, which stands intact, calls for the establishment of a flat national minimum wage of 25 cents an hour, this rate to be increased to 30 cents an hour in two years. The section comes bodily from the Norton bill, which the House passed as a substitute for the Senate differentials bill.

The second section proposed that during the next five years minimums be revised upward, by a fact-finding board, from 30 cents in individual industries until a 40-cent minimum should become universal at the beginning of the eighth year. The purpose of this was to extend the period of adjustment to a 40-cent wage and thus relieve Southern industry of the necessity of making the change quicker than it felt it was able to.

As modified by Senate conferees, 4 to 3, the five-year time limit has been removed. It will become the duty of the administrative board, in the event that the modified plan becomes law, to advance the minimum to 40 cents an hour as soon as such a wage becomes "economically feasible." Under this plan, not only would the principle of wage-hour legislation be adopted, but the authority and machinery for the eventual realization of the House goal would be set up.

The conferees are going about their task in a workmanlike manner. If the progress of the last several days is continued, an acceptable wage-hour law will be written on the books in short order.

MARYLAND WILL AFFORD A TEST.

What may very well turn out to be the most significant of all the senatorial primaries of the year is in the making in Maryland. The sitting Senator whose term is expiring is Millard E. Tydings, a member of the Senate for more than 11 years and before that a member of the House for two terms. Opposing him for the Democratic nomination will be Representative David J. Lewis, first a member of the House from 1911 to 1917, and back in his old seat since 1931, after long and able service on the United States Tariff Commission.

The issue unquestionably will be the policies of the Roosevelt administration. Senator Tydings parted company with the New Deal early in its life and has been a frequent critic of administration measures. He belongs in general with the Glasses and Byrds and Burkes of the Democratic side in the Senate. Representative Lewis, on the other hand, has been a steadfast supporter of the administration's economic and social program.

It is three full months until the primary, but they will be busy ones for the contending sides. For Maryland, it is to be remembered, has proved the barometer which Maine has shown itself not to be. The Baltimore Sun's presidential poll of two years ago was remarkably close to the final result in Maryland, and Maryland has voted the way the country has voted for President in every election since 1888. A victory for Lewis would be interpreted generally as an administration victory, and the renomination of Tydings would mean just the opposite. Here is a race to watch from the start.

RETREAT FROM IOWA.

Is Democracy Abdicating?

Democratic nations face two challenges, says educator; internally, they must see that individual is not suppressed in supposed interest of the mass; internationally, they must be alert to preserve order against designs of dictators; urges liberal governments to take concerted action comparable to use of police to prevent personal assaults.

IDEAS and principles, as well as kings, can abdicate. There are many disturbing signs—and not in Europe or in Asia alone—that democracy is moving, in no small measure unconsciously, toward abdication. The long and steady progress of democratic principles and ideals which had continued for some 300 years and which the great World War was to defend and to establish firmly forever has all too plainly been brought to a halt.

By those peoples who have so quickly and so eagerly accepted the rule of dictators and who are just now enthusiastically engaged in upholding and applauding the grotesque and the untrue, democracy is treated as though it were a sorry and abandoned relic of a day long since gone by. The most fantastic outgivings by dictators and their cheering mobs are hailed as though they were new discoveries in the world of highest intelligence.

Not so long ago, that public official whose proud business it is to control and to discipline the German press announced to a welcoming audience that no such thing as individual liberty exists.

"There is no freedom of the individual," he cried; "there is only freedom of peoples, nations or races, for these are the only material and historical realities through which the life of the individual exists."

Evidently, this thoroughly modern expounder of the absurd had never heard of Goethe's dictum: "Mankind? It is an abstraction. There are, always have been, and always will be, men and only men."

How often must it be repeated that democracy rests upon moral principles and that only when these are recognized and supported does it concern itself with the purely material interests of individuals and of groups? The individual human being whose life and conduct are inspired by an understanding of moral principles will not impose upon his fellow man, nor will he take part in depriving that fellow man of any of the vast and many-sided opportunities which life may offer to him.

The chief problem of democracy, if it is to be successful and continuing, is the moral education and guidance of the individual and not the suppression of the individual in the supposed interest of some mass or group. If democracy be worthy and true to its aim, then the abler, the richer, the more successful the individual, the abler, the richer, the more successful will the entire democratic state become.

It is the imperfection and moral dereliction of mankind which trouble democracy, which attempt to divide the state into permanent conflicting groups or classes and which prevent democracy's advance, rather than any unsoundness of the principles on which democracy rests. When that state which is democratic in form accepts the doctrine of permanent conflicting classes, the abdication of democracy has begun.

Democracy may choose any one of several forms of political organization and effective administration. It may choose the monarchic form, as in Great Britain and in Sweden. It may choose the republican form, as in France and the United States. Or it may, very infrequently and under very unusual circumstances of geography and population, choose direct democracy.

For obvious reasons, the democratic monarchy and the democratic republic are the most efficient forms of democracy's political organization, but neither form will work itself. The democratic state is confronted day by day with precisely the same moral problems and duties which confront the individual citizen in a democracy.

If the democratic state insists upon making it permanent policy to engage in war—whether that war be military or economic or political—then it is paving the way for its own destruction, since in war dictatorship instantly asserts itself, either in political form or under the guise of military necessity. Therefore the only hope of a continued and strengthened democracy is the avoidance of war by the prevention of war and by removal of the causes of war.

No one of these very practical ends can be accomplished by yielding to the threats of dictators, or by accepting the challenge which dictators offer in the form of written pledges which they have no intention to keep if found to be in conflict with what are called their interests.

Therefore, in this highly practical world there is a point at which the rule of force may be needed in order that democracy can survive, just as in any modern community there is need of police in order that riots and personal assaults may be prevented and punished.

In a perfect community there would be no need of police, and in a perfect world there will be no need of force. Until, however, the world approaches perfection in higher degree than has yet been the case, there must be force in reserve—moral force, political force, economic force and, in last and unwelcome resort, even military force—if progress toward greater liberty, greater fairness and larger opportunity for all men is to be effectively protected.

Just now three powerful dictatorships have bluffed the democracies into giving aid to the crippling of the one hopeful and progressive institution which modern man has brought into existence to make possible that constant and effective international consultation and international action, on the part of small nations as well as great, which alone can lay the foundations for a prosperous and a peaceful world in which democracy may live and grow and serve.

Those dictatorships have forced a return to that old and fatal system of group alliances between nations which contemplate war, which, at huge and destructive cost, prepare for war and which end in war.

When democracy fails to realize these fundamental facts and to act upon them, it abdicates. It turns over the rule of the world to cruel and relentless force wielded by dictators, and it offers dictatorship a subtle but inviting opportunity to enter its own territory and to overturn the very institutions whose excellence it continues to acclaim.

If democracy is to continue in any form, it must assert the power which belongs to it as a great ruler.

Ahead of the Graduates

From the Kansas City Star.

THIS month some 165,000 young people, degree in hand, are leaving the colleges of the land with their sheltering elms, ivy and ideals. Going out to what?

Of course, the circumstances vary widely, from the youth who will step into a ready-made job to the larger number who will be forced to struggle for a toe-hold. But this they all have in common: They are going out to face a national psychology of security. They are going out to a country that is geared to looking after the elderly with pensions and the helpless with relief.

But these young people under 25 are not hunting for security. They have been looking forward to a world of opportunity. They want to try their strength in competition with older men, to take their chances on the turn of the wheel. They are going out into the world equipped with optimism and a sense of adventure. They will find around them a psychology of easing the pain of failure.

Because a part of this year's graduating classes will fail to find immediate jobs, many persons may say, "Too many are going to college." But that is contradictory.

Presumably education offers young people better tools for approaching the job ahead of them. It should help them to sane and balanced thinking. Through education they should learn how to live. The more unbalanced the times, the more important is this type of sound training.

The trouble is not with the number of trained and competent young people, but with the defeatist psychology that they face. The trouble is not with the increasing spread of education but with the type of national mental wool-gathering that shows the need of more education.

The young graduates are being told that the future is in their hands. For generations the commencement speakers have been handing the torch to graduating classes. It is old stuff; but there does happen to be a lot of truth in it.

The future of the country cannot stand indefinitely with those who are resigned to their fate, with worried individuals who have settled down to keep the watch of a national sick room. It turns, instead, to the men and women who still believe in adventure and are ready to take their chances on it, a large unbeaten group that should include most of the graduating 165,000.

RANSOM AND KIDNAPINGS.

From the Chicago Daily Tribune.

"HARD cases make bad laws" is a proverb perpetually illustrated. The latest instance is the proposal of a law to punish individuals who pay ransom. We cannot recall a worse law. A parent who refused to pay a ransom in the hope of saving his child would be little less than a monster. No jury would ever convict under such a law.

It would add to the agony of the innocent individual who is caught in the terrible toils of a kidnaping with someone dear to him in danger, but it would seldom, if ever, restrain him, and he would never be punished for breaking it.

We have had too many unenforced and unenforceable laws. The theory that this one would, or could, discourage kidnaping by preventing or even discouraging the payment of ransoms is obvious nonsense, and the law would be both futile and mischievous.

ELECTRICAL ACTIVITY IN BRAIN DISCUSSED

Report to Psychiatrists Says Current Is Positive in Consciousness, Negative in Coma.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8.—Electrical activity in the brain was discussed today at the meeting of the American Psychiatric Association.

A report said that a direct current from the brain is positive during consciousness, negative in unconsciousness and apparently the forerunner of death when it lasts too long.

The brain gives off the direct current simultaneously with alternating current. One wave of the direct current lasts 10 to 30 minutes while the alternating pulsates at an average of 10 a second.

The dynamos in the brain appear to be the individual cells of gray matter. According to the discussion here, these brain dynamos can link up like the stations of a superpower system. They combine into networks which change their size and their voltage in tune with physical changes in gray matter during health and disease.

Discovery of Current.

The direct current was discovered by Dr. Robert Cohn and Dr. Carl Langenstrass of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Wash. It was detected while giving the new insulin shock treatment to persons suffering from schizophrenia.

Under insulin shock, a patient usually becomes unconscious. While the St. Elizabeth patients were conscious, the long waves of direct current were positive electricity. When they became unconscious the electric current was negative.

The change from positive to negative was not abrupt. The current would swing back and forth, gradually becoming more uniformly negative.

Experiments on cats with insulin shock were tried. Waking the animals up after they became unconscious usually caused the current to swing back to positive until the animals closed their eyes again. To avoid death it was necessary to prevent the current from running negative too long.

Psychoanalysis and Morals.

Complaints that psychoanalysis sometimes interferes with morals were reported by Dr. Gerald R. Jamieson, and Dr. Edwin E. McNeil, of the New York Hospital, New York City. They told of a study of 17 psychoanalyzed persons.

"One of the complaints frequently expressed by relatives of these patients," they said, "was that moral codes and inhibitions had been disrupted by the analysis. Explanations to the family that psychotic patients are unable consciously to conform to the usual social patterns were brushed aside by reference to the patients' behavior being otherwise before analytic treatment began."

They suggested that psychoanalysis be done in hospitals.

Lead Poisoning in Brain.

Lead poisoning sometimes causes death of children by producing increased brain pressure, it was reported by Andrew J. Akelaitis of the University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry.

Children who survive, he added, are apt to show some degree of mental retardation. In adults, this type of lead poisoning leads to delirium.

A newly recognized brain trouble was reported by Dr. R. W. Waggoner and Dr. K. Lowenberg of the University of Michigan. Autopsies showed sponginess of the brain of a different type than known before.

Insanity in University.

A report on 114 psychotic students found in the University of Michigan in a seven-year period showed some of them afflicted with a relatively severe form of insanity, yet 16 of the group continued to achieve scholastic distinction and 30 received degrees.

The report, by Dr. Theophile Raphael and Mary A. Gordon of the university's health service, said the academic averages of the group under treatment were "satisfactory" in 44.7 per cent of the cases; "fair" in 23.6 per cent, and "unsatisfactory" in 14.9 per cent.

Sixteen of the group remain at the university. Fifty-six of the 114 did not continue their studies. Two of these committed suicide.

PALO ALTO, Cal., June 8.—Edwin Herbert Lewis, 72 years old, former professor of English at the University of Chicago, died here Monday night. He wrote the Chicago U. alma mater song.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Her Engagement Announced

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

MISS DOROTHY DEIBEL,

DAUGHTER of Mrs. Charles Bond Deibel, 1178 Moorlands drive, whose engagement to W. Paul Harper was announced Saturday at a tea. The wedding will take place next fall.

AN abundance of summer flowers were used in the Blessed Sacrament Chapel of the St. Louis Cathedral for the wedding today at noon of Miss Joy Gross, oldest daughter of Mrs. Sol W. Gross, 15 Portland place, and Campbell Edwin McCaskill. The families and a few close friends knelt on prie-dieux in the small auditorium for the service and mass conducted by the Rev. Harry B. Crimmins, S. J., president of St. Louis University.

Easter lilies, gladioli and larkspur were sprayed in the semicircular apse behind the altar and below the crucifix. Flanking the altar on either side which was lit by many condles in gold candelabra, was a tall standard of the same white flowers. Marking the entrance t othe sanctuary were smaller vases of blossoms.

Sol Gross Jr. gave his sister in marriage. Sisters of St. Philomena's Convent, who made Mrs. Gross' wedding gown, appliqued imported point angleterre lace on net with the design outlined in minute crystal beads for the nuptial dress. It was designed with long sleeves and close-fitting bodice with a heart-shaped neckline. The very wide skirt was made to stand full by underskirts of taffeta and tulle. Illusion, finger-tip length, fell from a halo of hair-braid outlined in orange blossoms. A lace frill outlined the Colonial bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The same wide skirts characterized the bridesmaids' dresses of her sisters—Miss Abigail Curran Gross in pale pink chiffon and Miss Margaret Ann Gross in pale blue. The sleeves were short and puffed and the bodice tight-fitting. The pink dress had a blue sash and the blue a pink one. Each wore a large picture hat of natural hair-braid banded in pink moss roses and finished with streamers the same shade as the sash. Their bouquets, frilled by the hair braid were blue delphinium, sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. McCaskill, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Grover McCaskill, 6637 Waterman avenue, had Joseph Schramm for best man and Dr. Francis J. Medler, groomsman.

Mrs. Gross' gown was iris blue chiffon, with tucked bodice and skirt. She wore an orchid corsage. Mrs. McCaskill was in ashes of roses lace complemented by orchids.

The families were invited to the Gross' home afterward for a reception. The large drawing room mantel had a tall standard on each side of delphinium and white flowers. A Dresden vase had the same blossoms spraying from it on the shelf above and the fireplace was screened by a fourth large container of flowers.

The bridal party was seated at an oblong table centered by delphinium and pink and white roses. Above the fireplace in that room these flowers were also used. Other guests were served buffet-style.

Mr. and Mrs. McCaskill have left for New York and after a few days will sail for Bermuda on their wedding trip. They will make their home at 5604 Kingsbury court.

The bride, a graduate of Villa Duchesne, combined a winter of travel with four months at the Sacred Heart Convent in London before her debut two winters ago. She was introduced at a reception and served as maid of honor at the Veiled Prophet ball. Mr .McCaskill was educated at Spring Hill, Jesuit College in Alabama, and the St. Louis University School of Commerce and Finance. He is a member of the Missouri Athletic Association.

Mrs. Garretson Wade of Cleveland, who was Miss Irene Love before her marriage, is making a brief visit here with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Love, 44 Westmoreland place. She will leave tomorrow for her home.

This is Mrs. Wade's first visit here in about two years. She is being entertained informally.

Miss Eleanor Conant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kimball Conant, 19 Portland place, and Miss Ellen Bates, are spending two weeks as guests of Miss Bates' aunt, Mrs. William Maffitt, at her summer home, the Patch, in Hot Springs, Va. They are expected home Monday.

Mrs. Calvin R. Lightner, 4 North Kingshighway, accompanied by Mrs. Charles S. McKinney, 5696 Kingsbury court, departed a few days ago for the former's summer place at Fish Creek, Wis. They will be joined later in the season by Mrs. Allen V. Cockrell, Mrs. Lightner's sister, who is at present in Philadelphia with her son-in-law and daughter, Major and Mrs. Gilder D. Jackson, and their young son. The Jacksons also plan to visit Fish Creek, where Mrs. Lightner and Mrs. Cockrell have gone for many years, later in the season.

The wedding in New Orleans of Miss Margaret Carroll Loker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Cartan Loker, and David Cottrell Jr. of West Point and Gulfport, Miss., took place last night at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Sylvester Pierce Walmsley, 2507 Prytania street.

Mr. Cottrell is the son of David Cottrell of West Point and Gulfport, Miss., and of Mrs. Elma Cottrell of El Paso, Tex. He is a nephew of Mrs. Carl Fox of Webster Groves, who attended the wedding. Mr. Loker, father of the bride, is a former St. Louisan, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Loker, and related to the Cartan, Chopin, Gleeson and Brokaw families here. Mrs. Loker was Miss Myra Walmsley, a sister, of New Orleans' former Mayor, T. Semmes Walmsley.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room by the Rev. William Harty, S. J., of the Church of the Holy Name of Jesus in New Orleans. White peonies, gladioli and seven-branch candelabra decorated the improvised altar.

Mr. Loker gave his daughter in marriage. She wore her mother's wedding dress of white satin and lace. The bodice was of duchesse lace, fashioned with a V neckline and short sleeves. The satin skirt, made with a broad panel of matching lace trimmed with orange blossoms, fell into a long train. Her lace veil was worn by her mother, her grandmother, Mrs. Walmsley, and by her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. Thomas J. Semmes, at their weddings. The lace was arranged over a long tulle veil, held by a coronet of duchesse lace. The bride carried lilies of the valley and white roses.

Miss Miriam Loker attended her sister as maid of honor, and bridesmaids included Miss Janet Loker, also a sister, Mrs. Douglas Koye of Gordo, Ala., and Mrs. John Johnson of Muncie, Ind., the latter two sisters of the bridegroom. Miss Miriam and Miss Janet wore forget-me-not blue organdy frocks, made bouffant, and Mrs. Koye and Mrs. Johnson wore pale pink organdy. All carried white peonies. The following ribbon bearers, also in pink organdy and carrying streamers of pink tulle, included: Mrs. Fernand Lapeyre, Mrs. Thomas Beasley of Meridian, Miss., Miss Virginia and Miss Esther Helis, Mrs. I. Shelby Friedrichs, Miss Dorothy Charbonnet, Miss Gladys Coiron, Miss Virginia Liggett, Miss Adele Penrose Loker, sister of the bride, and Mrs. John Allen Swanson.

The bridegroom had for best man and his only attendant, Mr. Koye, his brother-in-law.

An informal reception was given after the wedding. Mrs. Loker received guests in a gown of powder blue chiffon, while her mother, Mrs. Walmsley, was in black and white chiffon, as was Mrs. Cottrell. All wore corsages of white stock and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Cottrell and his bride have gone on a wedding trip, and on their return will live at 2401 Kelley street, Gulfport.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church at Belle River, Ont., was the scene last night of the wedding of Miss Mary Jane Stonehouse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Stonehouse of Detroit and Belle River, and Ensign Harvey Hillyer Sims. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Sims, 88 Arundel place. The marriage service was read by the Rev. W. A. Moore at 8 o'clock.

The quaint little church was illuminated entirely by candle light. Palms and ferns were arranged in a canopy effect above the altar and the bridal party stood beneath an arbor of white posts tied with heavy white cord. Satin-tied clusters of white peonies marked the family pews.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of white satin made on slim princesse lines, the front of the skirt slashed at the hem to reveal a flounce of heirloom lace, that adorned the wedding gown of the bridegroom's mother. The bodice, with a V-neckline, had sleeves puffed to the elbow, where there was a long tight cuff of more of the family lace. A lace coronet secured the tulle veil which fell over a long court train. The bridal bouquet was of calla lilies.

Miss Evelyn Lee Stonehouse was maid of honor for her sister and Mrs. Walter Warne of Lansing, matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Bourke, Miss Marie Kuhn, Miss Doris and Miss Janet Condron. They wore gowns of ivory toned net designed alike with shirred bodices and full skirts. The maid of honor wore a tiara of white flowers from which fell a shoulder-length white veil. Her flowers were Joanna Hill roses and blue delphinium. The matron of honor wore a tiara of orchid colored flowers with a matching veil, and the pastel tints of yellow, green, madonna blue and peach were evident in the flower tiaras and veils of the bridesmaids. Their bouquets were talisman roses tied with ribbon to harmonize with the veils.

William Howard Sims was best man for his brother. Ushers were Fred Kuhn, Guy Rogers Sr., Wichita Falls, Tex.; Harold Shaw, St. Paul, Minn.; Walter Warne, Lansing, Mich., and Raymond Fayette Stover, Belle River.

A reception for 250 guests took place at Beech Grove Country Club, which was decorated with antique Italian standards filled with calla lilies against greenery.

Mrs. Stonehouse wore turquoise blue chiffon with a turban of lilies of the valley. Mrs. Sims was in blue and white printed crepe with which she wore a blue hat. Both had corsages of white orchids.

The bride was graduated last June from Chevy Chase Seminary, Washington. Mr. Sims, a graduate of Country Day School, was graduated last week from the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis. He and his bride will live at Long Beach, Cal.

Mrs. Leland Chivvis, 1437 McCausland avenue, and her daughters, Miss Susan and Miss Sarah, departed today by motor for Vassar College to attend commencement activities. Mrs. Chivvis' older daughter, Miss Nancy, a student at the college, will assist Mrs. Roy Battenburg, 7646 Forest View drive, Normandy, in chaperoning a group of girls on a trip abroad. They sail July 2 on the 'Bremen.

Mr. and Mrs. Chivvis' son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Glion Curtis Jr. of Wellington, New Zealand, are parents of a daughter according to a cablegram received yesterday. Mrs. Curtis was Miss Mary Ellen Chivvis. Mr. Curtis is in the diplomatic service.

Dinner parties will be seated at tables arranged on a lantern-lit terrace at Greenbriar Country Club, formerly Osage Country Club, for the Artists' Guild out-of-door party tonight. Mr. and Mrs. George Dobler have arranged a Dutch treat table for 28; Mr. and Mrs. Scott MacNutt will have 20 guests; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kaiser, 14, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Blackmer, 12.

Others with smaller groups include Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Chadeayne, Mrs. Clark McAdams, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fry, Mr. and Mrs. Walston Chubb, Mr. and Mrs. John Longmire, Mr. and Mrs. William Ricker, Percy Ramsay, Warren Ludwig, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Bergfeld, Miss Agnes Lodwick, Miss Mary Powell, Mrs. Everett Pattison, Mrs. Fred G. Carpenter, Mercer Orwig, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Rickly, Frank Curtis, Mrs. Mary Evans Hallock, Miss Helen Beccard, Miss Jessie Gleyre, Dr. William Cherry, Mrs. Emily Phelips, Miss Amy Isaacs, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Corrubia and Miss Florence Hazeltine. The "Idylls of Iran" will be presented in two parts under the direction of Percy Ramsay, general chairman, and Paul Friess. Persian costumes will be by Margaret Bishop Breen. Martin Kaiser is chairman of decorations.

MEDICAL STUDENTS FORM CHAPTER HERE

Association on Medico-Social Problems Organizing at Washington U.

Realization that poverty and other social problems have a bearing on the practice of medicine that can no longer be ignored was one of the prime causes leading to the organization of the Association of Medical Students, a chapter of which is being established in the medical school of Washington University.

"The doctor, besides being responsible, as an individual, for the lives of the isolated people who may come under his care, is also responsible, as a member of the profession at large, for the health of the community as a whole," said W. Dewey Davis Jr. of Chicago, national president of othe A. M. S. to a Post-Dispatch reporter.

"The public naturally looks to the profession for a solution of these problems, which the latter is all too inclined to throw back into the hands of the sociologist. The experience of European nations is all too rich in proving that such negligence on the part of doctors has very often been a factor in the rather harsh treatment they received at the hands of the governmental authorities when these were pushed into belated action by an aroused national feeling."

Social problems surrounding medicine are by no means the only concern of the association, Davis pointed out. It interests itself in the prevalence of tuberculosis among students, questions of curriculum, internships and just about everything in the medical schools and the medical profession.

No Extreme Positions.

The association has not taken any extreme or doctrinaire position on medico-social problems, many of which are controversial, Davis said.

"Take, for example, the difference between the American Medical Association and the so-called Committee of 430 (a liberal group in the profession whose activities have been chronicled in the Post-Dispatch). We have not taken sides in that argument, but we have, through our Journal, tried to bring all the facts to the attention of medical students."

Part of this fact-presentation process was an invitation to Dr. John P. Peters of the Yale medical school and one of the leaders of the 430, to address the association's convention, and the reprinting in the Journal of his remarks on the improvement of medical care.

This little magazine, now entering its second year, always seems on the alert for news such as the report of the National Institute of the United States Public Health Service. This not only disclosed slums as the great breeders of tuberculosis, heart disease, pneumonia, syphilis and other ailments, but also showed statistically that, as the incidence of illness increases, provision of medical care decreases. But the pages of the Journal are also devoted to more technical articles, many of them by distinguished faculty members.

To date the association has enrolled about 3000 of the 24,000 medical students of the United States and Canada, and many new chapters, such as the one at Washington, are planned for the beginning of the next school year.

Aid of Medical Leaders.

In its expansion, the A. M. S., which grew out of a little nucleus at the University of Pennsylvania five years ago, has the help of 20 outstanding medical men, among them Dr. Thomas Parran, surgeon-general of the United States Public Health Service; Dr. Emmet Bay of the University of Chicago's Rush Medical College, Dr. Hugh Cabot of the University of Minnesota/ Dr. J. F. Fulton of Yale, Dr. James H. Means of Harvard, Dr. Joseph Earle Moore of Johns Hopkins, Dr. Martha Tracy of the Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania, and Dr. David J. Davis of the University of Illinois.

"The members of the association have been of great help to us," Dr. B. C. H. Harvey, dean of the University of Chicago Medical School, told the Post-Dispatch. "They are not the impulsive radicals found in many student groups but are good, sound men who are tackling the problems that they must face sooner or later."

"The association is one of the best things that ever happened to the medical students," said Dr. Gordon H. Scott of Washington University, "because it is making them think about all important social problems.'"

OSCAR SHAW TO BE A PRINCIPAL IN 'OF THEE I SING' AT OPERA

To Play Role of Wintergreen in Pulitzer Prize Play Beginning Monday.

Oscar Shaw, stage and radio comedian, will head the list of new principals appearing in the first Municipal Opera presentation of the Pulitzer prize musical play, "Of Thee I Sing," beginning next Monday night and continuing through June 19. He was engaged for the role of John P. Wintergreen, a part he played with the road company.

Lori Trivers, who is known on the screen as Florine McKinney, will be seen in the leading feminine role of Mary Turner. Ralph Riggs and George E. Mack, principals of the current Municipal Opera attraction, "Gentlemen Unafraid," will appear in their original roles of the Chief Justice and Senator Robert Lyons, respectively. Other members of the cast are Kay Picture, Annamary Dickey, Marcella Uhl, Earle MacVeigh, Al Downing, Jerry Sloane and the Diamond brothers.

MRS. ELIZABETH ROEVER TO BE BURIED TOMORROW

Retired Buyer Was 98; Widow of Captain of City's First Volunteer Fire Department.

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Roever, 98 years old, who died of the infirmities of age yesterday at her home, 3722 Sylvan place, Pine Lawn, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home, with burial in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

Mrs. Roever, who was born in Germany, was taken to America on a sailing vessel when she was 2 years old. In 1858 she married John Roever, captain of the first St. Louis Volunteer Fire Department, whose engine is now in the Jefferson Memorial. He died less than two years later. In 1865 she joined the firm of Rosenheim-Levis-Zukoski, for which she served as buyer until her retirement in 1901.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Hancock, with whom she resided.

PRIEST'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY

The Rev. J. J. Duggan of St. John's Church to Be Honored.

The Rev. James Joseph Duggan will celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood with a solemn high mass tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at St. John's Church, Sixteenth and Chestnut streets, of which he is pastor.

Clergy of the diocese will attend the mass and will be Father Duggan's guest at a luncheon. There will be an anniversary mass for children of the parish Friday morning at 7:45 o'clock, and one for members of the congregation and friends of the parish Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

CHURCH UNION TURNED DOWN

Reformed Group Rejects Move for Merger With Evangelicals.

By the Associated Press.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 8.—The general synod of the Reformed Church of America turned down yesterday a proposal looking toward organic union of the Reformed and Evangelical Churches of America. The delegates voted to accept a committee report rejecting the move by the Albany (N. Y.) synod for a study of the possibility and need for the union.

"Your committee feels that the present is not propitious for taking aggressive action toward an organic union." the report said.

PUBLIC MEETINGS AND ANNOUNCEMENTS

The annual banquet of the School of Commerce and Finance, of St. Louis University, wil be held at 6:30 o'clock tonight at the Missouri Athletic Association. Faculty members will speak, and there will be a program of entertainment.

SAFETY COUNCIL HEAD CITES CUTS IN ACCIDENTS AND FIRES

70 Pct. for Commercial Autos, 30 Pct. for Industrial Plants in 10 Years.

Accidents involving automobiles in commercial fleets affiliated with the Safety Council have been reduced 70 per cent and accidents in St. Louis industrial plants 30 per cent in the last 10 years, while fire losses here have declined from $4,250,000 in 1920 to about $1,000,000 last year, Carl Barker, president, said at the council's annual meeting at Hotel Statler last night.

Barker, public relations manager of the Shell Petroleum Corporation, was re-elected head of the council. Other officers re-elected are Sam W. Greenland, Harry P. Hubbell, David L. Millar, Edward J. Miller and Paul J. Wielandy, vice-presidents; Herman Spoehrer, treasurer, and Reyburn Hoffmann, secretary-manager. A new place as vice-president was given J. L. Stevenson. Thirteen new members were elected to the Executive Committee.

An address on safety was delivered by D. D. Fennell of Chicago, president of the National Safety Council.

JEWS URGED TO PROTEST AGAINST PERSECUTIONS

Abraham Goldberg, New York, Advises St. Louisans to Act Through Jewish Congress.

St. Louis Jews were urged last night by Abraham Goldberg, New York writer and lecturer, to protest through the American Jewish Congress against the worldwide persecution of Jews. He spoke at a meeting, sponsored by the St. Louis chapter of the Congress, at the Y. M. H. A., Union boulevard and Enright avenue.

Goldberg told of a recent meeting in New York attended by 35,000 Jews. Before it was held, he said, telegrams, presumably dictated by Nazi officials, were received from Jews in Germany, urging that the meeting be abandoned.

DR. L. H. JORSTAD APPOINTED

Becomes Missouri Chairman of Society for Control of Cancer.

Appointment of Dr. Louis H. Jorstad, a member of the staff of Barnard Free Skin and Cancer Hospital, as State chairman for Missouri of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, was announced today. He was chosen by the society's executive committee at New York to succeed Dr. Ellis Fischel, recently killed in an automobile accident.

Dr. Jorstad is a member of the State and St. Louis executive committees of the society. The State organization will move its headquarters from the Metropolitan Building to the Beaumont Building within the next few weeks.

REUNION OF CLASS OF 1898

Twenty-one of the 86 members of the 1898 class of the old Missouri Medical College, predecessor of the Washington University School of Medicine, held a reunion Saturday at the home of Dr. R. C. Harris, 120 Linden avenue, Clayton.

Other St. Louis physicians present were Dr. R. Backhusen, Dr. W. H. Becker, Dr. J. J. Jeude and Dr. J. M. Trigg.

TWO YOUNG GORILLAS OBTAINED BY ZOO

Friendly Pair to Arrive Tomorrow, Vierheller Has Other New Additions.

Two young and friendly gorillas will be added to the monkey collection at the St. Louis Zoo tomorrow when Director George P. Vierheller arrives from New York with a shipment of more than 50 animals.

The gorillas, from French Equatorial Africa, will be accompanied by the man who caught them, Bill Carroll. Vierheller, instead of keeping them in cages, plans to drive them out to the Zoo from Union Station in an open automobile. There will be a male, weighing 45 pounds, and a female, weighing about 80.

They are among the first gorillas to be brought into this country in several years, Vierheller said, and will be the first that the Zoo has had since December, 1936, when Yonnah, the only gorilla ever to be here, died. The new ones are fine specimens, Vierheller said, pointing out that the female is already larger than Yonnah ever was. Yonnah never scaled more than 65 pounds.

In time the gorillas will be exhibited in the new monkey house, plans for which were announced recently. The new house will have cages where the apes can be seen only from the outside, but will be especially designed to provide healthful living quarters.

Among the other monkeys which Vierheller will bring along is a young female orang-utan to provide company for Jiggs, which, it will be recalled, was brought here as a companion for Patti Sue, which subsequently died. Other apes in the shipment include some Gibbon, spider, Diana and woolley monkeys.

There will be reptiles in the shipment also, including two pythons, some cobras, boas and rat snakes, a rhino iguana, which is a type of lizard, and some electric eels. The eels are the kind which give off electric energy while swimming lazily in the water. The Zoo's previous specimens died several years ago.

To add to the already notable collection of birds of paradise in the aviary, Vierheller is bringing a pair of king and red birds of paradise, which have never been here before.

Other birds include some Manchurian cranes, some Ibis, and trumpeter swans. There will also be four black bear cubs, a jaguarondi, and a serval, the latter two being small members of the cat family.

DR. A. H. ARMSTRONG FUNERAL

Services for Church Federation Secretary Emeritus Tomorrow.

The funeral of the Rev. Dr. Arthur H. Armstrong, secretary emeritus of the Metropolitan Church Federation, who died at his home in Vinita Park yesterday, will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at Pilgrim Congregational Church, Union boulevard and Kensington avenue. Interment will be in Chicago.

Dr. Armstrong, who was 71 years old, was executive secretary of the Church Federation from 1919 to the end of 1936. He is survived by his wife and a son, Arthur A. Armstrong, of Washington.

with Roosevelt indorsements, they did not relish running against candidates having White House support. According to their interpretation, the Iowa primary served notice on New Dealers that intervention from outside forces was a handicap when used against an incumbent.

Senate Inquiry Sought Into Any Charges of Politics in Relief.

By the Associated Press.

Ten Democratic Senators proposed today that a three-man senatorial committee be appointed to investigate any charges of politics in relief which might arise during the 1938 election campaign.

Their resolution was introduced by Senator Tydings (Dem.), Maryland, about the time Harry L. Hopkins was telling reporters that Senator Gillette's renomination in the Iowa Democratic primary showed the W P A was not playing politics.

The resolution, which made no specific reference to the Iowa situation, was offered by administration supporters as well as Roosevelt critics.

The signers, in addition to Tydings, were Senators Adams of Colorado, Bulkley of Ohio, Burke of Nebraska, George of Georgia, Gerry of Rhode Island, Hatch of New Mexico, King of Utah, McAdoo of California, and Wagner of New York.

Gillette's Unofficial Plurality 36,534; Dickinson's, 33,566.

DES MOINES, Ia., June 8.—United States Senator Guy M. Gillette was renominated in Iowa's primary election by 36,534 votes, complete unofficial tallies from all the State's 2447 precincts showed today. Lester J. Dickinson won the senatorial nomination on the Republican ticket by a margin of 33,566 votes, according to complete unofficial returns.

Gillette polled that number of votes over his nearest opponent, Congressman Otha D. Wearin, the unofficial figures showed. The complete unofficial senatorial vote:

Democratic: Gillette, 77,801; Wearin, 41,267; Joseph J. Meyers, 16,977; Mrs. Ellsworth Richardson, 9282, and Wilson G. Byerhoff, 5339.

Republican: Dickinson, 137,598; Lloyd Thurston, 104,032.

The complete unofficial tabulations showed the Republican candidates polled a total of 241,630 votes against a total of 150,666 for the five Democratic candidates. In the 1936 primaries, Republicans cast 260,000 votes against a total of 141,000 for Democrats.

HEARING ON APPRAISAL FOR RIVERFRONT MEMORIAL

$115,600 for Valentine Warehouse Property Too Low, Owners Say; Too High, Government Asserts.

Testimony as to the value of the Valentine Warehouse property, northeast corner of First and Valentine streets, was heard today by Federal Judge Charles B. Davis. The price of $115,600 fixed for the property by Government appraisers, in the riverfront Jefferson Memorial condemnation proceeding, has been excepted to by the owners, who contended that it is too low; and by the Government, which says it is too high.

Witnesses for the owners were heard first. E. R. O'Donnell, president of the O'Donnell Mercantile Co., and part owner of the building, in which the company has quarters, estimated the property was worth $160,000. He based this on rentals, which he said were $11,332 a year, and the physical condition of the warehouse property, occupied also by the St. Louis Terminal Warehouse Co. and the Diamond Match Co.

Statistics on the growth of river traffic, since the Federal barge line revived this branch of shipping, were presented by the Terminal Warehouse Co., as showing a condition favorable to its business, which is the handling of river freight. The statistics were read by a statistician of the United States Army Engineers' Corps, and were admitted by the court over the objection of Government counsel.

DETECTIVE QUOTED IN SUIT OVER ARREST

Witness Says Officer Told Socialist He Would 'Take Care' of Him.

Testimony that City Detective Walter Bauer promised to "take care of" David Thayer Burbank, after his arrest in a downtown Socialist demonstration more than four years ago, was given today in Burbank's $55,000 damage suit against Bauer and four members of a former Police Board, before a jury in Circuit Judge Joseph J. Ward's court. Burbank charges that Bauer beat and kicked him at Police Headquarters.

Gerard M. DeHoog, 4320 Wyoming street, testified that he was one of the Socialists arrested as they were picketing at Fourth and Olive streets, in the late afternoon of Feb. 16, 1934. That was shortly after the street fighting between Austrian Socialists and the Dollfuss Government in Vienna, and the demonstration was in front of the Rialto Building, where the Austrian Consulate was located.

DeHoog said he was placed in the police patrol with Burbank, and that he heard Detective Bauer say to Burbank, "I'll take care of you when we get to the station." He said that after seeing Burbank led away at the station, he heard yells, which he believed came from Burbank, lasting about five minutes.

Jacob Plax, 4052 Manchester avenue, substitute postal clerk, and a member of the Young People's Socialist League, testified that he helped arrange bond for Burbank's release, and that when Burbank left the police building, his face was bruised and swollen. Pete Hanggee, Globe-Democrat photographer, identified a picture made by him after Burbank's release, showing marks on the young man's face.

Norman Twist, 1316 Geyer avenue, also a member of the league, testified yesterday that he saw Bauer cuff Burbank on the head, and that the detective held the prisoner by the coat collar.

Burbank, who was 21 years old at the time, is a grandson of the late United States District Judge Amos M. Thayer. He was distributing bills of an anti-Hitler film when he and others in the picketing group were arrested.

Burbank charged, in depositions taken for the suit, that Bauer tore a sign he was carrying, said he then "flicked" Bauer's hat off. Later, he said, Bauer choked, slapped and beat him. The suit was filed against Bauer and members of the Police Board, who were then William L. Igoe, Albert Bond Lambert, George T. Priest and John J. Phelan. Priest and Bauer were in court yesterday.

David A. McMullan, associate city counselor, representing the defendants, said the defense would contend that Bauer did not strike Burbank, and that he was not otherwise mistreated while in police custody.

Bauer, in a deposition, denied striking Burbank, but said he did take hold of Burbank's collar because Burbank "started to walk in the wrong direction" away from the patrol "wagon." The Police Board, after a hearing, cleared Bauer of the charge of mistreating a prisoner, and a grand jury later returned a no-true bill.

SKINNER & KENNEDY OFFICERS TO TESTIFY

Called in Labor Board Hearing After Worker Tells of Being Asked to 'Spy' on Others.

Officers and printing plant foremen of Skinner & Kennedy Stationery Co., 416 North Fourth street, were called to the stand today as the company began presentation of its defense at a hearing of a National Labor Relations Board complaint charging the firm with unfair labor practices.

The hearing, before Trial Examiner Harlow Hurley at the Federal Building, began Monday. The complaint, based on charges of the Allied Printing Trades Council and five affiliated unions, alleges the company promoted and assisted a company union to discourage membership in the craft organizations, and discharged five employes for union activities.

The Labor Board completed its case with testimony by James Gessel, former employe at Skinner & Kennedy, who said he had been asked by Henry Beyer, company superintendent, to "spy" on the other employes in the plant and find out which employes were in favor of joining the craft unions, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The conversation took place last August, he declared, after the Printing Trades Council had been attempting for several months to organize the employes of the plant by having them sign cards authorizing the council to represent them in negotiations with the firm.

"Told to Keep Mouth Shut."

"Beyer stopped me one day when I was passing his office and asked me to give him the names of the workers who favored the outside union," Gessel related. "He told me to 'keep my ears open and keep my mouth shut' and to report back to him. He said if I would do that I would have a steady job."

The witness said later that day he saw Joseph Hillgaertner, an employe who had been trying to get him to sign a representation card, and when Hillgaertner brought up the subject again he told him: "Stay away from me—I don't want to lose my job and don't want you to lose yours." Hillgaertner was one of the five discharged.

Gessel, who was employed as a pressman's helper, testified he quit his job early in April because he felt he was not receiving sufficient pay. He said he had not signed one of the representation cards and had not joined any of the A. F. of L. unions.

Afraid of Losing Job.

On Cross-examination by Francis M. Curlee, attorney for the company, Gessel admitted that he "had it in for Skinner & Kennedy" because he was not getting enough pay and that he wanted to join a craft union but couldn't because "I was afraid I would lose my job."

When asked with whom he had discussed the case prior to the hearing, Gessel said he had gone to three of the employes who had been fired and talked it over with them.

"In other words, you sought out those three to get even with the company?" Curlee asked. "Yes, sir," he replied.

Ted L. Prott, formerly secretary-treasurer of the independent organization of Skinner & Kennedy employes, which the board charges is a company union, testified that the firm contributed $40 to the organization to help pay for a picnic last August and donated $30 more for a Christmas party.

While still an officer of the independent group, known as the Grasshopper Welfare Association, he signed a representation card, attended all organization meetings of company employes called by the Printing Trades Council, and attempted to get other employes in his department to sign the cards, Prott said.

"Talk to Wrong People."

When he was laid off last Feb. 15, he was told his dismissal was due to a slack in business and that he would be called back to his job when work increased, he said. Several weeks later, he related, he went to the plant to learn why he had not been recalled and was told by his foreman that "nothing can be done for you now—you talk to the wrong people."

Bernard Bralove, attorney for the board, dismissed a charge in the complaint that Joel Blanchard had been fired by the firm for union activity, leaving five former employes alleged to have been discharged for that reason. Bralove said Blanchard had secured other employment and did not desire reinstatement.

TWO FREED OF KIDNAPING PLOT CHARGE IN KANSAS CITY

Police Say John Radcliff Was Neither Abducted Nor Threatened With Harm.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 8.—Police closed last night an investigation of an alleged plot to kidnap John Radcliff, president of a local motor car company, by releasing an automobile theft suspect and a Sedalia motor car dealer.

"So far as the Police Department is concerned," Sergt. A. E. Greene said, "the case is closed. Radcliff was neither kidnaped nor threatened with bodily harm."

The theft suspect made the kidnaping plot charge yesterday, naming the Sedalia dealer as a principal, when he was arrested here on a warrant sworn out by the dealer. He told police the Sedalia man and two St. Louis gangsters planned to kidnap Radcliff and ask for $250,000 ransom.

50,000 Trout for Current River.

One Group of Women on Wires Against Proposal, Another for It; Vote Tomorrow.

Telephones in Webster Groves were kept busy today as proponents and opponents of the $70,000 park bond issue which will be submitted to voters tomorrow began a telephone campaign to present their views to residents of the community.

Mrs. William W. Stamm, Republican precinct committeewoman, heading the opposition, said she had about 20 women working against the bond proposal. Mrs. James E. Crossman, president of the Women's Chamber of Commerce of St. Louis County, claimed 50 women were working in favor of the proposal.

Defeated by a close vote in April, the bond issue proposition is being submitted for the second time. It would provide $60,000 for a swimming pool and playgrounds at Elm avenue and Glendale road, and $10,000 for a Negro community center. A W P A grant of $182,000 will be available if the bond issue is approved.

One of the Greatest Love Stories Ever Told

"MARIE CURIE, MY MOTHER"

by Eve Curie
translated by Vincent Sheean

"A RECORD to bring hope to a discouraged world". . . "More inspiring in its facts than any imaginative fiction could be". . . "Her life was more thrilling than the life of any courtesan or warrior heroine". . . "A book which reconciles us to belonging to the human race". . .

These are a few of the phrases with which the foremost critics of the country have tried to describe the impression left by this memorable book.

The world has long known Madame Curie as a heroic scientist and discoverer of radium—a rare genius—one of the great spirits of the modern world.

Now, with delicacy, tenderness, reverence, her daughter, Eve Curie, tells of Madame Curie, the woman; tells the story of her wonderfully romantic personal life; how she came, a little Polish girl, beautiful and poor, burning with unappeasable ambition, to work and study and starve in Paris. Of her meeting with Pierre Curie, their courtship and marriage—a marriage which was to be one long magical adventure of work and love.

Not to read this book is to miss one of the great treasures of your generation.

LEGAL NOTICE

TO THE HOLDERS of the First Baptist Church of Columbia, S. C., "6 pct. serial real estate first mortgage gold notes," dated July 1, 1930:

You are hereby notified that pursuant to the provisions of the indenture dated as of the first day of July, 1930, between the First Baptist Church of Columbia, S. C., of the city of Columbia, County of Richland, State of South Carolina, as the grantor, and William J. Jones of the city of St. Louis, Mo., as the trustee, which indenture was recorded in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas and General Sessions for Richland County, S. C., on Sept. 13, 1930, in Book GN of Real Estate Mortgages at page 1, the grantor therein, having given notice of its intention, made necessary deposits, and in all other respects complied with all of the terms, provisions and conditions of said indenture of July 1, 1930, relating to the prepayment and redemption of its "6 pct. Serial Real Estate First Mortgage Gold Notes" has elected to prepay and redeem, and will on Friday, July 1, 1938, prepay and redeem its "6 pct. Serial Real Estate First Mortgage Gold Notes" numbered forty-four (44) to ninety-two (92), both inclusive, and one hundred four (104) to one hundred seven (107), both inclusive, of the total aggregate par value of forty-one thousand five hundred dollars ($41,500.00), issued under said indenture and now outstanding, by paying to the holders thereof the principal together with the interest accrued and unpaid thereon up to July 1, 1938, plus a premium of two dollars ($2.00) on each one hundred dollars ($100.00) par value of notes outstanding and not matured as of July 1, 1938, in lawful money of the United States of America, and that on said date you are required to present and surrender your "6 pct. Serial Real Estate First Mortgage Gold Notes," together with coupons thereto appertaining maturing July 1, 1938, and subsequent at the office of the Lafayette-South Side Bank and Trust Co., No. 1731 South Broadway, St. Louis, Mo.

Upon the surrender of your notes you will receive in payment for each note and its accompanying coupons so surrendered a sum equal to the principal thereof together with accrued interest thereon to July 1, 1938, plus a premium of two dollars ($2.00) for each one hundred dollars ($100.00) par value note, not matured as of July 1, 1938, in lawful money of the United States of America. On and after such redemption date no further interest shall accrue or be paid on said notes, and said coupons maturing after said redemption date shall be null and void.

SALESMEN WANTED

MEN—STEADY WORK

We will hire 7 men at once who live in St. Louis and vicinity, train them thoroughly at our factory branch at our expense, and employ them immediately in permanent positions, full time.

Married men preferred, as these positions are responsible and we require no investment or deposit—but you must be reputable and able to learn this work as taught. This is steady, profitable sales work, but our method of putting the prospect into the market for our invention is so unusual that you must be trained in it. While learning, new men must be satisfied on earnings of $35 to $45 per week, but later can increase this substantially. Previous experience not important because our method is so unusual, but applicants must be willing to work hard and study to qualify for the higher incomes. Apply THURSDAY AT SUITE 512, PAUL BROWN BLDG., 9th and Olive sts., between 9:15 a. m. and 1:15 p. m.

WOMAN CHUMS WHO SHOT SELVES LIKELY TO RECOVER

Bullets Fired in Suicide Compact in Graveyard Struck No Vital Organ, Doctors Say.

City Hospital physicians announced today that, barring complication, they expected Margaret Thums, 21-year-old waitress, and her friend, Virginia D. Gerner, also 21, to recover from self-inflicted bullet wounds.

The girls, who told a Post-Dispatch reporter they were "tired of damn near everything," shot themselves at New St. Marcus Cemetery, 7901 Gravois avenue, Gardenville, Monday evening in an agreement to end their lives. Each fired a bullet from an automatic pistol into the left side of their chest, near the armpit. The bullets emerged from the back without striking any vital organ, it was stated at the hospital.

Miss Thums, who worked in a downtown coffee shop, and Miss Gerner, a clerk, quit their jobs three weeks ago preparatory to carrying out the compact to end their lives. They left their rooming house at 4349 Arco avenue Monday afternoon and spent an hour and a half in the cemetery chatting beside the grave of Miss Thums' mother before firing the shots.

LACLEDE PAVILION CLOSED AFTER FLOOR COLLAPSES

City Engineers to Determine Whether to Repair or Wreck 40-Year-Old Structure.

City engineers are making an examination of the Laclede Pavilion, at the Lindell-Kingshighway entrance to Forest Park, to determine if the building can be repaired or must be wrecked following the collapse yesterday of a section of flooring about 25 feet square. The structure has been closed to the public.

Director of Public Welfare Joseph M. Darst said the fallen floor, in the northwest part of the building, was under a refreshment stand, weight of which may have weakened the supports.

The pavilion, about 40 years old, formerly was the western terminus of the Laclede car line.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES RAILWAY JOB INSURANCE

Bill Provides 3 Per Cent Payroll Tax All of Which Employers Would Pay.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The House Interstate Commerce Committee today approved legislation to establish an unemployment insurance system for railroad employes.

The bill would authorize payments of from $1.75 to $3 daily to be financed by a 3 per cent payroll tax the employers would pay. Workers would not be taxed.

FARMER, HUNTING SQUIRRELS, KILLED WITH OWN SHOTGUN

Apparently Accidentally Shot When Trigger of Weapon Caught on a Twig.

Ira Bohrer, 60 years old, a farmer of Troy, Mo., was shot to death when hunting squirrels yesterday near his farm. A shotgun charge entered the right side of his head, ranging upward. Authorities think he shot himself accidentally when a twig caught in the trigger guard of his weapon as he raised it from his right side to his shoulder to shoot at a squirrel.

George Tothe, 16 years old, his hunting companion, had circled a tall tree to chase a squirrel in Bohrer's direction, when he heard the discharge of the shotgun. He called to Bohrer, but getting no answer, searched, and found him dead in a patch of brush. Tothe is the son of a farmhand employed by Bohrer.

HAZLETT CAMPBELL ESTATE CLAIMANTS TOTAL 201

The number of claimants to the $1,800,000 trust estate released to relatives by the death of Hazlett Kyle Campbell reached 201 today, with the filing of 22 claims, additional to the 179 on file previously. The time for filing such claims, unless extended by court order, will end this evening. Attorney Samuel H. Liberman filed the latest claims.

Probate Judge Glendy B. Arnold today heard arguments in support of the petitions of three woman claimants, residing in Missouri, each asking that Public Administrator Thomas R. Madden be removed from administration of the estate, and that the claimant be appointed. The women are: Mrs. Mary Anderson Kahmann of Kansas City, Mrs. Margaret Campbell Johnson of Jansas City, and Mrs. Charlotte Calvin of St. Louis, each claiming the relationship of cousin.

Former Circuit Judge J. Wesley McAfee, as counsel for the Public Administrator, argued that the women were disqualified for the administratorship by the fact of their interest in the trust estate. Judge Arnold gave the lawyers two weeks to submit briefs. Litigation is now under way in Circuit Court to determine whether the $1,800,000 trust estate shall be treated as part of Hazlett Campbell's estate, which otherwise would be inconsiderable.

MAN ACCUSED OF $3900 FRAUD PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Former East St. Louis Salesman Indicted on Charge of Padding Bills to Two Customers.

Arnold Miller, 5115 Palm street, a former salesman for Swift & Co., in East St. Louis, pleaded not guilty at Belleville yesterday to charges of defrauding two customers of a total of $3900 by means of a confidence game. He was released on $2000 bond.

Two indictments against Miller were returned by the St. Clair County grand jury at Belleville a week ago, but were suppressed until yesterday, when Miller was arrested. Assistant State's Attorney Fred J. Bier said Miller is accused of padding monthly bills collected over a period of two years from two storekeepers, Mrs. Mollie Kline, 922 North Second street, East St. Louis, and John Steckert, Washington Park. The company repaid the alleged overcharges, Bier said.

EXECUTION OF DALHOVER STAYED BY APPEAL COURT

Gangster's Counsel Give Notice They Will Take Case to U. S. Supreme Bench.

CHICAGO, June 8.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals extended indefinitely today the date of the execution of Rhuel James Dalhover, Brady gangster, for the murder of an Indiana State Highway policeman.

The stay was granted on the application of counsel for Dalhover, who said they would file a writ of certiorari for a review by the United States Supreme Court.

The Circuit Court of Appeals recently upheld the death sentence. Dalhover was scheduled to die in the electric chair at Michigan City prison Friday.

COMMODITY MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 8.—Cotton futures at New York closed 45@50 cents a bale higher, with buying support developing whenever liquidation appeared.

Wheat futures at Chicago, depressed by uncertainty over the Government loan price, finished ⅛@¾ cents a bushel off. Corn forward contracts ended ⅜ cent off to ¼ cent up, and oats futures closed ⅜@¾ cent down.

Higher at New York were rubber, coffee, cocoa and cottonseed oil forward contracts. Lower were copper, tin, silk, hides, sugar and wool top futures. Lead and zinc futures were unchanged.

Big packers continued to support the highest hog prices in weeks in the Chicago livestock market, while steers, heifers and lambs also sold at new highs on the crop.

The Associated Press index of 35 weighted wholesale staple prices, with 1926 as 100, advanced to 64.29 from 64.25 Tuesday.

COTTON MARKET CLOSES 9 TO 10 POINTS HIGHER

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Cotton rallied early today in sympathy with firmer Liverpool cables but advances above the 8-cent level for nearby positions attracted renewed liquidation and partial reactions followed.

October sold off from 8.04 to 7.96 and in mid-afternoon was selling at 7.98 in quiet trading, with the list 4 to 5 points net higher.

July opened 7.94; October, 7.98; December, 8.01; January, 8.02; March, 8.07; May, 8.10.

Orders from abroad were mixed but were on the buying side of balance. The market proved responsive to moderate scattered covering and commission house buying but advances met renewed offerings.

After Oct. had sold up from 7.98 to 8.04, it reacted to 8.01 late in the first hour, when the list was 5 to 9 points net higher.

The market became quiet later with prices showing little further change. The generally favorable conditions for cotton were noted in the weekly weather report, but the weather bureau had advices of appearance of weevils in many parts of the belt.

Oct. at midday was selling at 7.99, with the list 5 to 7 points net higher.

Futures closed 9@10 higher.

STOCKS SHOW STEADINESS; INDUSTRIALS ARE FAVORED

Creeping Advance Is Extended as Buyers Bid Prices Up in One of the Quietest Sessions of the Last Few Years.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A creeping advance in stocks was extended today as small buying orders stirred the market fitfully in its premature summer siesta.

Buyers bid prices of many shares up fractions to more than a point in one of the quietest sessions of the last few years. In the fourth hour only 20,000 shares were traded and the ticker frequently was at a standstill. Transactions totaled 278,410 shares for the day.

The few traders who continued to take a hand in the dealings were inclined to play for a further June rise in view of the small offerings shaken out lately by poor business news and dividend cuts and omissions.

A contrasting note in the dividend news was the announcement of an extra payment of $1 by American Shipbuilding Co., causing a spurt in the stock. At one time it was up about 4.

Small Speculative Trade.

So small was the speculative participation, the market lacked its usual sensitivity to political and industrial developments. Most analysts interpreted the slow drift of prices as indicative of a waiting mood, in hope business trends would turn upward in the second half of the year.

Narrow fluctuations up and down also ruled in most other markets, including bonds. Wheat at Chicago ended ⅛ to ¾ cents a bushel lower. Corn was off ⅜ to ⅛ up.

Aircrafts and electrical equipments benefited from selective buying. Heading the uneven rise were such shares as Westinghouse, Douglas, International Harvester, Santa Fe, Anaconda Copper, Allied Chemical, International Paper preferred, U. S. Gypsum, Bethlehem Steel, Union Carbide and U. S. Rubber preferred.

Owens Illinois Glass was one of the few soft spots. Also lower most of the time were J. C. Penney, International Nickel and Oliver Farm equipment.

Up about a point at the finish were Caterpillar Tractor, Monsanto Chemical and Texas Gulf Sulphur. Fractionally to a point off were Johns Manville, Corn Products, Otis Elevator and Phelps Dodge.

Cotton closed 45 to 50 cents a bale higher.

At mid-afternoon the British pound was $4.95 5-16, up ⅜. The French franc traded at 2.77⅞ cents, up .00¼ of a cent.

News of the Day.

The significance of the Iowa primaries in portraying underlying political currents came in for much discussion in brokerage circles, as traders sought slants on the fall elections. However, the stock market appeared to be unconcerned, content to prolong the June drift.

Probably the major deterrent to selling at the moment, some held, was expectation Federal spending for relief and public works would be speeded up the next few months so that autumn industrial and trade trends might begin to reflect the augmented stream of dollars pouring from Washington.

The slump in automobile buying, touching a strategic industry, was shown in General Motors' May sales figures. Sales to dealers in the United States were only 71,676 units compared with 78,525 in April and 180,085 in May, 1937. For the first five months total sales to consumers were 522,049 units against 717,360 in the comparable 1937 months.

The outlook for extension of this session of Congress beyond the current week was rated a disappointment in financial quarters which had been looking for early adjournment. An offset, however, was found in reports prolongation of the session might revive efforts to push through a railroad aid bill.

Mid-Weed Industrial Survey.

Trade indicators continued to point toward summer industrial slack, emphasized by curtailment plans in key industries producing raw materials in order to bolster prices.

Reporting steel business continues to decline, the "Iron Age" said:

"Whatever activity there is during the summer will probably emanate largely from Government spending and lending. The automobile industry is not likely to make any important purchases before August, when preparations for 1939 models will be fully under way."

The Edison Electric Institute reported power output last week was 11.8 per cent off from the comparable 1937 figure against a year-to-year loss of 10.6 per cent the preceding week.

More corporate financing came into sight.

A Consolidated Edison unit moved to sell $32,000,000 in bonds.

Textile Market.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8. — Cotton goods markets were fairly active today but prices on many cloths were easier. Demand for finished goods was spotty. Raw silk was down 2 cents a pound, the cut bringing in substantial orders from hosiery manufacturers. Rayon yarns were slow. Wool goods continued to sell in moderate amounts. Burlap was quiet and steady.

Odd Lot Stock Trade.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 8. — The Securities Commission reported today these transactions by customers with odd lot dealers or specialists on the New York Stock Exchange for June 7: 2651 purchases involving 68,587 shares, 2797 sales involving 67,888 shares.

Elected Bank Vice-President.

Anton Fohrell was elected vice-president of the Jefferson Bank and Trust Co. at the annual meeting of the board of directors today. He succeeds Robert Swift, who recently resigned, upon moving to California.

All other officers were re-elected.

FOREIGN MARKETS AT A GLANCE

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 8.—Unfavorable employment figures, coupled with lower overnight Wall Street prices and the lack of constructive news, confined price movements in the stock market to very narrow changes. Investment demand for British funds was fair and this group moved fractionally higher. Polish and Japanese liens moved up while the remainder of the bond group was easier. Other sections of the list were neglected.

PARIS, June 8.—Trading in the Bourse today was very light and a heavy tone prevailed at the close. Suez Canal shares dropped 225 francs and Royal Dutch lost about 70. Government bonds remained quiet and were 30 centimes up to 40 lower at the finish.

LIVERPOOL, June 8.—Scattered buying in cotton futures was followed by realizing and hedging, but firmness in the Alexandria market promoted local support in the late dealings. Final quotations were 3 to 5 net advance.

Wheat futures closed 1½d to 1¾d net higher, advancing on less favorable American winter wheat crop reports and purchases of Australian wheat by Italy.

TODAY'S NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Production in Holiday Week 11.8 Per Cent Below Year Ago.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Electric power production in the United States ended a month's week-to-week advances with a drop of 4.8 per cent in the latest period from the preceding week, the Edison Electric Institute reported today.

Output in the week ended June 4, which included the Memorial day holiday, declined to 1,878,851,000 kilowatt hours from 1,973,278,000 in the previous week and was 11.8 per cent under 2,131,092,000 in the like 1937 week.

The more than seasonal decline carried the Associated Press index of power production, with 1929-30 taken as 100, to 103.9 from 104.4 a week earlier. A year ago the index, which is adjusted for seasonal and long-term trend, stood at 119.

The range for recent years follows:

	1938	1937	1936	1935	1934
High	11.8	125.2	119.8	105.5	97.4
Low	102.8	111.8	102.0	94.1	91.9

The institute reported the following percentage declines from a year ago according to major geographic areas: New England 11.2, Middle Atlantic 6.7, Central Industrial 17.8, West Central, 10.1, Southern states 10.1 (CQ), Rocky Mountain 28.4, Pacific Coast 2.8.

BOSTON, June 8.—(U. S. D. A.)—A few transactions were being closed Wednesday on fine wools in the Boston market. Graded French combing fine territory wools brought 60 to 62 cents scoured basis. About 60 cents scoured basis was about the maximum price that could be realized on spot good French combing length bulk fine territory wools in original bags. Similar wools recently purchased in the country were sold to arrive at 55 to 57 cents scoured basis delivered east.

WHEAT MARKET LOWER DESPITE EXPORT SALES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Despite late estimates that North American export business totaled 500,000 bushels including fair purchases from the United States, Chicago wheat prices fell a cent today.

Buying of futures here was restricted owing largely to the fact that newest reports about the Government wheat loan price were insufficiently clear to allow definite trade conclusions. Increased arrivals of newly harvested wheat southwest, especially 120 cars at Fort Worth, Tex., served also as a weight on values.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were ⅛ @ ¾ lower compared with yesterday's finish, July 72½ @ ⅝c, Sept. 73½ @ ⅝c; corn ⅜ off to ⅛ up, July 56⅜ @ ⅝c, Sept. 57⅝ @ ¾c, and oats ⅜ @ ⅝ down.

An early advance of almost a cent was wiped out in the wheat market and fractional losses were substituted.

Prices sagged about ⅝ cent below the previous close at times and were more than a cent below early highs. At noon wheat was ⅛ @ ¾ below yesterday's finish, July 72½c, September 73⅝c.

Export trade continued slow although Winnipeg reports said a load or two had been sold overnight. According to the Kansas weekly report weather was favorable for growth and maturing winter wheat, which is fair to very good, though showing damage from late spring freezing and wet weather.

The corn market was unsettled, prices at noon were ¼ lower to ⅛ higher. Slowing up of foreign demand for corn has had some effect on buying here.

Liverpool upturns of nearly 3 cents a bushel overnight attributed to Italy re-entering the market as a large buyer, were responded to only in part and in a halfhearted manner by the Chicago market. The effect here was minimized by word that Italy's purchases had been confined to Australian wheat. A further unsettling influence in Chicago was less optimism that the United States Government loan price on wheat would be fixed at a relatively high rate.

Adding to the downward trend of the Chicago market at times was hesitancy of buyers who kept an eye open for the Government crop report due from Washington Friday. A sustaining factor on declines here, however, was a continuance of advices of shrinkage of crop prospects in parts of Kansas and Oklahoma. Forecasts, too, pointed to unwanted showery warm weather Southwest, conducive to spread of black rust.

Price changes in corn, rye and oats were almost negligible and trade was light.

Provisions held about steady.

ST. LOUIS MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, June 8.—There were no local wheat quotations.

Winnipeg wheat opened ¼ @ ⅜c higher and early was ¼ @ ⅜c up. Closing prices were ⅛ @ ⅞c net lower.

Liverpool wheat opened ¾ @ 1d higher and in later cable was 2¼d up. The close was 1½ @ 1¾d higher.

Argentine wheat opened unchanged to ¼c lower and corn unchanged to ¼c up. Wheat at noon was unchanged to ⅛c higher, and corn ¾c up.

St. Louis Cash Grain.

In the cash grain market today wheat was steady. Corn was unchanged to ½c higher. Oats were ½c to 1c lower. Sales made on the floor of the exchange were as follows:

Wheat—No. 3 red winter, 73½c.

Oats—No. 1 mixed, 27 @ 28¼c; No. 2 mixed, 27½c.

Local wheat receipts, which were 12,000 bu, compared with 4500 a week ago and 9000 a year ago, included 7 cars local and 1 through. Corn receipts, which were 21,000 bu, compared with 7500 a week ago and 39,000 a year ago, included 14 cars local. Oats receipts, which were 8000 bu, compared with 8000 a week ago and 18,000 a year ago, included 2 cars local and 2 through.

BOND TRADING SLOW, PRICE TREND MIXED

Irregular Rebound in Some Secondary Rails After an Early Sag.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Bond market movements were uneven and mostly narrow today with dealings at low ebb.

An early sag in rails prompted a slightly better support which brought an irregular recovery in some secondary issues early in closing hour.

Ahead fractions to around two points at this period were Kansas City Southern 3s, Chesapeake & Ohio 3½s "D" of '96, Union Pacific 3½s of '71 and Rock Island general 4s of '88.

Some Nickel Plate loans gave up one to around five points on small dealings. Down fractions to around two were Southern Pacific, 3¾s of '46, Reading 4½s "A" of '97 and Santa Fe 4s of '95.

Most utility and industrial loans moved in a fractional range.

United States Governments firmed in the late dealings, some Treasuries showing gains running to 6-32 of a point, against a few small declines.

Higher prices were established by a number of foreign groups led by Japanese, Polish and Italian issues.

A few more minor losses showed up at the finish. Illinois Central 4¾s dipped 1½ to 29, Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s were ⅜ lower at 37⅛ and Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s lost ½ at 14. International Hydro-Electric gained 1 to close at 69½.

BOND NOTES.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—A special meeting of the stockholders of Devoe & Raynolds has been called for June 14 to consider creation of an issue of 15-year sinking fund debentures, to be issued serially in an amount not to exceed $2,000,000.

UTILITY REFUNDING PLANS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—New York Steam Corporation and Consolidated Edison Co. of New York has filed with the State Public Service Commission an application for approval of issuance by the Steam Corporation of $32,000,000 of bonds, to bear interest at not more than 3½ per cent per annum and ot mature in not more than 25 years.

Payment of interest and principal would be guaranteed by Consolidated Edison, which owns 97 per cent of the Steam Corporation's common stock.

Proceeds of the proposed issue would be used for redemption Nov. 1 of $27,003,500 of the Steam Corporation's first mortgage bonds and also to reimburse the Steam Corporation's treasury to the extent of $1,058,700 for first mortgage bonds it has re-acquired and retired along with some preferred stock. The balance of proceeds would be applied against indebtedness of the Steam Corporation to affiliated companies totaling $4,800,000.

The petition states the company is "unable at this time to state a definite price at which the proposed issue of bonds can be sold."

First mortgage steam bonds which the company wold redeem are $5,605,500, Series A 6s, due 1947; $12,698,000 of 5 per cent series, due 1951, and $8,700,000 of 5 per cent series, due 1956. Each series is redeemable at 105.

New York Steam Corporation is engaged in the generation, purchase, distribution and sale of steam in New York City.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Most European currencies again advanced in terms of the dollar today, in quiet foreign exchange dealings.

Sterling gained ⅛ of a cent and the French franc .00¼ of a cent. The guilder was favored with a boost of .06 of a cent and the Swiss franc added .00½ of a cent. The belga was unchanged.

The Federal Reserve Bank reported the engagement of $1,750,000 in gold in England for shipment here.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Foreign exchange closing rates were as follows: Great Britain in dollars, others in cents. Great Britain, demand, 4.95 5-16; cables 4.95 5-16; 60-day bills 4.94 9-16. France, demand 2.77⅞; cables 2.77⅞. Italy, demand, 5.26¼; cables 5.26¼. Demands: Belgium 16.92; Germany 40.19, benevolent 21.15, travel 23.65; Holland 55.28; Norway 24.88½; Sweden 25.53½; Denmark 22.11½; Finland 2.20; Switzerland 22.79; Spain unquoted; Portugal 4.50; Greece .91; Poland 18.87; Czechoslovakia 3.47¾; Yugoslavia 2.35; Austria unquoted; Hungary 19.85; Rumania .75; Argentina 33.08n; Brazil (free) 5.90n; Tokio 28.90; Shanghai 20.65; Hongkong 30.93; Mexico City 22.00n; Montreal in New York 98.68¾; New York in Montreal 101.31¼.

n—Nominal.

PARIS, June 8.—United States dollars were quoted at 35.95 francs (2.782 cents to the franc) in final foreign currency trading today. In comparison the franc rate was 2.772 cents in New York overnight. Exchange on London, 178.27.

Three per cent rentes in the Bourse were 73.35; 4½s "A," 76.50; 4½s, 1937, 122.30.

LONDON, June 8.—In foreign currency trading today, the United States dollar declined ⅛ of a cent in terms of sterling, ending 4.95⅝ to the pound. In contrast, sterling in New York over night was $4.94 15-16.

The French franc closed 178.25 to the pound, against 178.37 yesterday.

Postpone "Call" Rule Consideration.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Board of trade directors have deferred action for two weeks on a petition signed by a group of members requesting a vote on a proposal to eliminate the 30-year-old "call" rule covering grain buying activities. The "call" rule in general tends to keep grain bids in line among various exchange members and specifies minimum commission charges.

SHIPBUILDING HOPE OF NEARBY STEEL ORDERS

Industry Will Have About 100,000 Tons to Place for Contracts Recently Closed.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Steel makers looked forward today to the shipbuilding industry for nearby new business.

"The only important steel tonnage in early prospect is from shipbuilders who have about 100,000 tons to place for contracts recently closed," "Iron Age" said in its weekly survey of the steel industry.

"The Maritime Commission last week awarded four cargo to the Newport News Shipbuilding & Dry Dock Co., which also has a contract for a passenger liner. Steel is also to be bought for 12 cargo ships previously awarded, four each to Federal Shipbuilding, Sun Shipbuilding and Tampa Shipbuilding companies."

Public activities to "take increasing amounts of steel as Government-financed projects come into the market," the publication added.

Heartening steel men were structural steel projects awarded this past week, which totaled 19,000 tons, compared with 6500 tons in the previous week.

But the organ remarked:

"Whatever activity there is during the summer will probably emanate largely from Government spending and lending. The automobile industry is not likely to make any important purchases before August, when preparations for 1939 models will be fully under way, though meanwhile the truck branch of the industry is expecting a good demand from farm areas resulting from large crop movements. Prospects of railroad loan legislation before adjournment of Congress are dimmed by the opposition of railroad workers to wage reductions."

The nation's steel mills this week are avering 25 per cent of capacity, the same as last week, but the publication said the current week's rate is "in reality a reduction because some mills operated only five days last week against six days scheduled for this week."

The "Iron Age" scrap composite index has dropped to $11, the lowest since July, 1935.

OIL PRODUCTION INCREASES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Crude oil production increased 6300 barrels daily during the week ended June 4 to 3,107,950 barrels, the American Petroleum Institute estimated today.

Refinery operations were cut from 78 to 77 per cent of capacity, runs-to-stills droppnig 45,000 barrels daily to 3,105,000 barrels.

Cracked gasoline output dipped 25,000 barrels daily to 725,000 barrels. Imports of crude and refined oils totaled 717,000 barrels compared with 1,188,000 barrels a week earlier.

STORE SALES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Sales of Interstate Department Stores, including grocery and leased departments, amounted to $1,876,338 in May, compared with $2,585,979 the corresponding month last year, a decrease of 27.4 per cent.

A MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF COMFORT FOR YOU, NEIGHBOR...

ON THE

AIR-CONDITIONED L&N

Ride the L & N today and you'll feel like a million dollars. And no wonder! We've spent well over that amount just to make you feel that way . . . completely air-conditioning all our main-line trains except locals.

It's like being your own weatherman, just to buy an L & N ticket. What matter if it is blistering hot? We've turned on the cool spring air indoors on 44 of our main-line trains, in coaches and dining cars as well as sleepers. At no extra cost, your ticket buys both transportation and comfort.

Train time can be springtime all summer long . . . all you need to do is say "L & N" at the ticket window. Rail fares are low . . . no other form of transportation is so safe . . . so why not sample now the million-dollar comfort of your air-conditioned "Home Sweet Home on Rails?" All aboard neighbor!

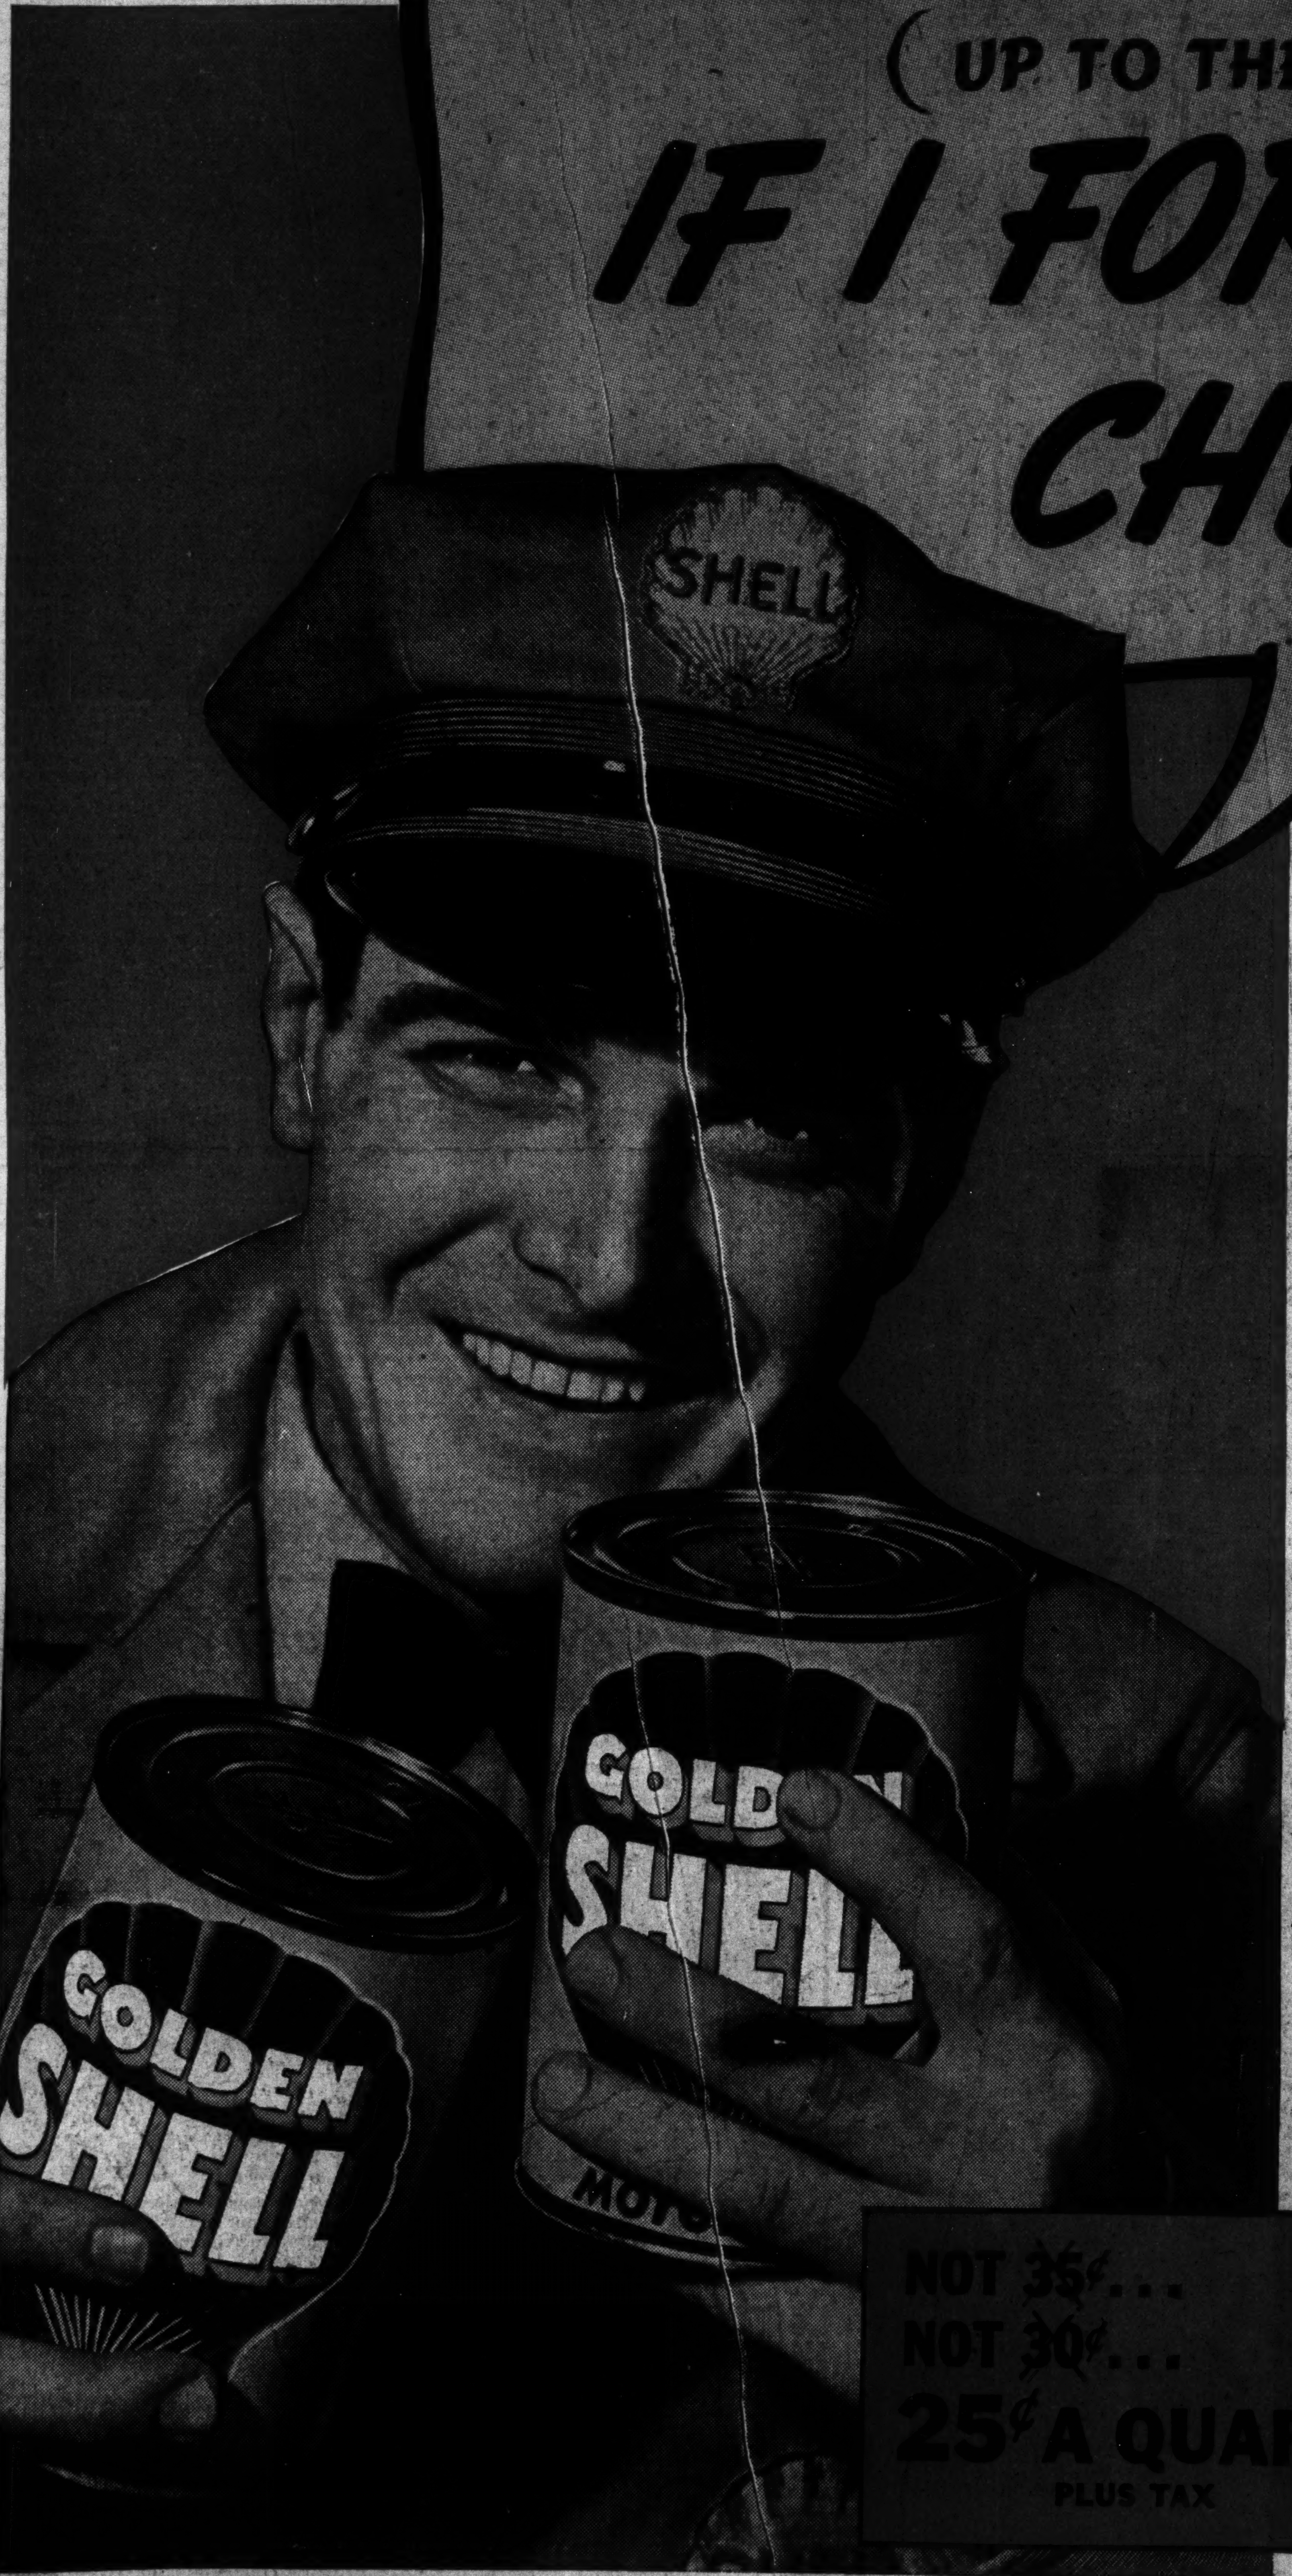
FRIENDLY L&N SERVICE

YOUR OIL FREE

(UP TO THE FULL MARK)

IF I FORGET TO CHECK IT—



IT'S mighty important that you always have enough oil in your engine. If you don't, you're headed for trouble.

To save you grief, all of us Shell dealers make you this proposition:

Drive into one of our stations. If we don't check your oil—AUTOMATICALLY—we'll bring your oil level right up to the full mark FREE OF CHARGE.

We will put in our Golden Shell Oil, too ...the oil that's been refined especially for today's stop-and-go driving.

Maybe you never knew that stop and go calls for a certain kind of motor oil. Well, it does—and here's the reason why...

You average ten cold starts a day. If your oil is sluggish and slow-flowing, one start can cause as much wear as fifty miles of steady running.

Golden Shell changes all this. It's fast-flowing. The second you step on your starter, Golden Shell coats each engine part with a tough oil film that does not break down... even under the heat of your steady running.

ON BROADWAY with Walter Winchell

Is There a Doctor in the House?

FORTY THOUSAND dangerously insane persons, who have been paroled from asylums, are now at liberty in this country. The heart isn't shaped like a valentine—it's pear shaped. A flat chest, according to a Minnesota scientist, is a sign of intelligence. Depressions have their good points. According to the medics, people eat more and are healthier during depressions than in times of economic prosperity. (They relax more and dissipate less.) 246,000 persons in the United States have glass eyes.

WALTER WINCHELL.

—o-o—

REDUCED to commercial products, the human body contains enough fat for seven bars of soap, enough phosphorus for 2000 matches, enough lime to whitewash a small house, enough iron for two nails, two pounds of sugar, six tablespoonsful of salt, 10 gallons of water, one dose of magnesia and a small amount of sulphur. (Put them all together, they spell Hellinger.) The cure for a headache in the sixteenth century was to drill a hole through the patient's skull to provide an exit for the evil spirit causing the disturbance. (It was also the treatment for insanity and epilepsy.) Lack of Vitamin A is responsible for most night automobile accidents, according to Dr. Harold Jeghers, of the Boston University School of Medicine. (People who don't eat enough butter, milk and green vegetables are subject to night blindness.)

FOUR HUNDRED YEARS ago, the state executioner pulled teeth as a sideline. Barbers and keepers of public bathhouses were also dentists. . . . In those days, dentists believed decay was caused by worms eating away the substance of the tooth as they eat away the flesh of an apple. You and you are idiots! (The word comes from the Greek and simply means "private citizen.") There is a disease called progeria, or anticipated senility, in which a two-year-old baby starts to develop a careworn expression. By nine, its skin is wrinkling and its hair falling out. At 12, it looks like a miniature old man or woman. Death follows soon after. Diplomatic didoes: Ambassador Mario Pimentel-Brandao of Brazil is one of the few diplomats in Washington who wears a monocle; bad eye. . . . While prospecting in Canada, Joao Antonio de Bianchi of Portugal, learned to chew tobacco. Quite properly, Cuba's Ambassador, Pedro Martinez Fraga, dances the rhumba. . . . As a journalist, Finland's Minister Eero Jarnefelt used to interview celebrities by long distance phone, recording their answers on a dictagraph. . . . Faik Konitza, of Albania, both reads and speaks 13 languages. Both sons of Swiss Minister Marc Peter (Pay-tehr) have married American girls. . . . All three sons of Ambassador Colon Alfaro of Ecuador are at West Point or preparing to enter—and the two now at the Military Academy are getting higher grades in all subjects than the Ambassador got in any when he was a cadet there. . . . The Struggle Against Cruel Materialism

Fair Play by Nations and Individuals Is Only Worth-While Program.

By Elsie Robinson

CROOKEDNESS and cruelty everywhere . . . chaos and corruption . . . screaming from the headlines . . . thudding over the air waves. What can you believe in any more? What's worth fighting for? Do you still cling to your principles? Or do you turn away, crying—"aw, what's the use?"

Even the children echo our bitter doubt. Here's 16-year-old Evelyn Barnes of Sheridan, Ark., voicing, perhaps, your own disgust and disillusionment.

"Dear Miss Robinson:

"They're at it again! The same old hooey about 'making the world safe for democracy' and 'protecting the underdog.' And we Young Americans are as patriotic as those who went before us. But why should we fool ourselves? Why go into the horror of war 'to make the world safe for democracy' when we know it will never stay safe? Why 'protect the little nations' when we know they will never stay protected?

"Ideals . . . principles . . . even patriotism . . . they all sound fine—and I suppose if a war comes our men will go marching off, just as they did before. But what's the use of it all? Can't we see it's all propaganda? Why not face the ugly reality and admit that the sacrifice and struggle are all useless?"

I understand, little girl. No one could hate war more than I, or despise propaganda more completely. And I know, too, how cruelly hard it is to hold on to faith and fineness in the face of sneering materialism. Never did Decency appear less worth while nor Democracy seem a more futile dream. . . .

Yet I'm telling you youngster—the fight does pay! I do not mean the fight against any foreign nation—which, pray God, may never come. I mean that perpetual struggle against cruelty and unfairness, dishonesty and indecency, greed and lust which men have waged within and between themselves since the dream of civilization first began.

It is true, as you have said, that Democracy does not "stay safe." It is also true that in our private lives we lapse from honor, kindness and courage. But this is to be expected. It is part of our long climb up from the jungle. National wars and personal excesses are both part of that struggle against the Powers of Darkness.

But, in the end, decency will triumph! We will not always be sneaking savages . . . torturing and betraying each other. Surely and steadily the lovelier dream comes true . . . that dream of a finer, braver brotherhood which we call civilization.

And each noble gesture, however small, which you or I may make, brings that civilization nearer. What's the use of playing fair—as nations or individuals? What's the use of having faith . . . of struggling and sacrificing . . . in the face of a world gone mad? Why not forget all these fine-sounding phrases and grab while the grabbing's good? Because decency is the real, the lasting, the only worth-while program for any two-fisted mortal to choose.

Hate war! Hate the corruption and greed which breed war! But do not despise those sacrifices and struggles which men make for principles — any time — anywhere. For without those struggles, we would still be one with the beasts.

UNIQUE SHOW PRODUCER

By Lucius Beebe

NEW YORK, June 8.

DWIGHT DEERE WIMAN, who has sponsored, underwritten and produced more successes along Broadway than you can shake your best Malacca evening stick at, is the last man in the world to be frightened by what is laughingly known as the end of the theater season. Come the time when Claude Greneker is beginning to dream of lilacs and brown Swiss cows, and the waiters at Sardi's are thinking about vacation, Wiman will sweep elegantly into town, in defiance of season, reason and even gravity, as he did recently with "I Married an Angel" and as he has done for several years, and make a great go of it. Other managers may be putting up the shutters for the summer, but May and June almost invariably find Wiman just going to work.

This season Wiman went to work with such enthusiasm that he contrived to smash his foot over a piece of scenery back stage, and had to attend his opening in a not too gaudy combination of broadcloth and surgical dressing.

The only precedent for his generally emergency-ward appearance seems to have been set a number of years ago my Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston, who broke a leg the night before the opening of Mary Garden's opera season in Mr. Mudgett's Huntington avenue opera house. It was unthinkable that opera should open without Mrs Gardener, so she occupied her box sitting backward with her leg in a cast stretching out into the dressing room behind while she surveyed the house and bowed to the adjacent Saltonstalls and Frothinghams with the assistance of a hand mirror. Wiman was at least able to face his first-night audience.

"As a matter of fact, it was just a chance that we opened in the late spring," Wiman said. "We had been working on the show for something over two years, both in its actual preparation and in dissolving legal difficulties which stood in the way of its production. It just fell out that the people we wanted for the parts were available a little while ago, and so we went right into production regardless of the season.

"SPEAKING generally, I don't particularly favor springtime for new shows, although I've had very good luck during the last four years with May and June productions. I'd rather bank on the conventional fall season, but this year I feel the summer is going to be exceptional so far as New York is concerned.

"There are, for example, going to be a great many people in town on business for the World's Fair, but there isn't going to be any fair to give them their amusement, so that, I hope, a large potential box-office clientele will be created that wouldn't exist in ordinary years. Despite the fact that New Yorkers are going away in larger numbers during the summer than ever before, the town is also becoming one of the greatest summer resorts for outsiders, who compensate for the natives who go in such numbers to Long Island, Connecticut, Maine and heaven knows where."

Wiman was lying in canopied state in his bedroom in his Seventy-first street house. A trained nurse was administering orange juice to her patient. A houseman administered Martinis to the visitor. A valet arranged Wiman's gold brushes and toilet articles on the dresser. A row of bells and telephones was ranged to summon other functionaries. Wiman was being ill in style, but still was nervous as a witch, what with an expensive show having its Broadway debut. Adjoining his bedroom is the library, its shelves indicating a chaste and classic taste with sets of Hugo, Burton, Bulwer-Lytton, Walpole, Pyle, Ruskin, Disraeli, Carlyle and bound volumes of "Punch," but his morning mail was dominated by a copy of "Variety."

"I don't think the season of year is of nearly such great importance to the prospective show producer as are the omens of the social and economic times," Wiman said. "A few years ago theater business was a very accurate harbinger of prosperity or depression. If you make a survey of it, you'll find that in New York theater business would fall off badly about six months ahead of the various financial crises we had before the war. By the same token, apparently, theater business used to boom between four and six months ahead of general good times. Nowadays, the time lag is much less; simply, I suppose, because everything in the world has been speeded up and the relationship between amusement spending and public affairs is much more immediate.

"SO far as musical shows are concerned, I think the function of the legitimate theater lies more in the production of book shows than of revues, for the simple reason that patrons get so much uncorrelated material, so many songs, ballets, choruses and what-have-you in night clubs and casinos that the smart producer will try to land himself a show with at least some semblance of a plot or theme. That doesn't, however, mean that I am dedicating my capacities toward book shows and large-scale productions exclusively. As a matter of fact, Dick Rodgers and Larry Hart and I have always said we wanted to do something intimate, only we always seem to get involved in the end in something that ought to be put on at the Hippodrome. I still have a hanker in the back of my mind for a 'Fourth Little Show,' and one of these days I'm really going to get around to doing it."

For his next production Wiman plans to produce "Great Lady," an operetta, which should reach New York in the fall. The music is by Fritz Lowe, and the show will be a big one, with a costume setting in nineteenth century Paris.

"The principal function, as I see it, of the theater producer today," Wiman said, "is to keep an eye on the times and to try to exploit new talent. I study the political and economic horizon as carefully as one of Mr. Kiplinger's spies, and only put on a show when I feel the auspices are good. I think they're good at the moment if only F. D. R. will be reasonably kind to us and not make too many fireside chats to frighten every one into the hurricane cellars.

"The business of discovering new talent is far more difficult. Music, acting, playwriting, all of them need new blood more than anything else, and there is a great deal of it coming along, especially from abroad. But training new musicians or ballet dancers or what-have-you is a tedious, although fascinating, business. If a man can write one good song he's good for any number of them, but it is often difficult to convince him as to what his own best talents may be. Real genius frequently lacks any sense of discrimination or ability for self-judgment, and it's up to a producer to guide talent capacity."

Children Who Have Trouble With Spelling

Unless Defect Has Physical Or Nervous Causes, It Can Be Remedied.

By Angelo Patri

JEAN does fairly well in school; gets passing marks and a little over except in spelling. She is quite as happy spelling captain with a K as with a C, and is not concerned about the relative place of the A and the I. Lucky if they both get in. A deficiency in spelling is nothing to cheer about in the seventh year. The English teacher is inclined to consider it a serious matter and act accordingly. After all there are standards in English that the schools accept as a matter of course, and a pupil who gets a red-inked mark in spelling is deficient, as a matter of course, and that means trouble and plenty of it at promotion time.

Jean brought home a D in spelling for the third time this term and her mother made some sharply pointed remarks about it, and intimated that the one interest in her life for the coming month would be Jean's spelling list.

"O, don't take it so seriously," broke in Aunt Marie who happened to be in just then. "Look at her father. Why I remember Mother making him do his spelling lesson before she let him out to play because he was always missing words like Receive and Therefore. He hasn't done so badly for himself."

Jean brightened immediately. "There, mother! Did you hear that? Daddy couldn't spell, either. I guess I'll get by if he did."

Mother was in a hard place, but after Aunt Marie left she said, "Now Jean, get your spelling list. I am going to divide it in sections and you are going to learn every word in every section so thoroughly that you will never miss one again. You are going to do this, and I am going to see you do it. No use balking. I mean this."

Some children have difficulty in spelling because of poor hearing, or defective vision, or, worse yet, a defect in the nervous system that is concerned with spelling. They need medical help. But many children can be taught to spell if their attention is directed to the job. Jean was one of these. She learned to spell. This was the method her mother found best:

Look at the word; write it from copy, saying each letter aloud as written. Turn the paper; write the word from memory. Compare it with the correctly copied one. If it is right, take the next word. If wrong, write it from copy, saying each letter aloud, two times. Turn the paper and compare it. If it is right, go ahead. If wrong, write it on a special list and take the next word.

Next lesson, take the words on the special list. Write each once from copy, saying each letter aloud. Turn the paper. Write the word from memory; compare it with the correct one. If it is right, go ahead; if wrong write it two times, saying the letters aloud, from copy. Turn the paper and write it from memory. If it is right, go ahead. If not, write it two times from copy and list it on the special list. Do no more drilling than that. Each week go over the entire list, gradually building up a special review and dropping out the words that are well known. Any child who has no major spelling defect can learn to spell any English word in this way.

If helpful friends would only understand that they do not know enough about any of their friends' children to advise about them, it would help.

Studio Bedroom

By Elizabeth Boykin

ERNESTINE is just 14, but she's done a better job of fixing up her room than a lot of people could who think she's just a child and they're wise old hands. And she did it with next to nothing for money.

First, she collected a lot of bright travel maps (which she got from steamship agencies) and used them for wall paper. She sized the wall, then pasted up her maps patchwork fashion, then gave them a coat of clear shellac. The floor she varnished and, when it was well dry and set, she rubbed it down to a soft mellow patine and waxed it. For rugs, she dyed rags in graded shades of green and made oval crocheted mats.

The bed seemed pretty hopeless. It was an old oak bedstead with neither style nor possibilities. The headboard extended practically to the ceiling and even the footboard was too high for any good. There was no money available for a fancy carpentry job, but Ernestine could saw, so saw she did—cutting both head and foot way down to the same graceful height. The raw edges she left, because she covered both head and foot with slip covers of plain green percale with a spread to match and long round bolsters at each end, also of green. Odd extra cushions in yellow gave a sunny gaiety to what was now a daybed.

The mirror Ernestine took off the old dresser and hung it over what she now calls a console table. A hinged-top box on this keeps her toilet articles out of sight. Over the drawer part of the dresser she put two orange boxes, one on top of the other, like hanging shelves for books and oddments. This she painted green with yellow knobs and yellow inside the shelves. For the discarded family Morris chair, she made a green cushion, and for two cane bottom chairs she made yellow percale slip covers.

Now Ernestine has what she can very legitimately call a studio bedroom. And she adores it. She has even made herself a couple of smocks to match!

CHICKEN ESPANOLE.

A nice way to prepare a large stewing chicken. Cut the fowl in sections and dredge with flour. Brown well in hot fat in a pot roaster. Cook giblets and neck in water until tender and use this liquid for the chicken. If not enough add extra water to cover the chicken. Cover pan and cook gently until the chicken is tender. In another pan fry two chopped onions in butter until brown. Add one can tomato puree, one small can mushrooms, two chopped green peppers and cook until the peppers are softened. When chicken is tender, add sauce and cook together for 10 minutes longer. Serve on a platter with tiny baking powder biscuits surrounding it.

New Apparatus Used to Study Animal Vision

Preliminary to Making Tests to Determine How Well Babies See.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

A BABY that lies in its crib and rolls its wise-looking little eyes from side to side, appears to be observing this new-found world, but it distinguishes at first nothing but light and darkness. Later, objects, and only after some time, distinct focusing of objects.

Our ideas about a pet animal's world are also likely to be distorted. We assume that his sensory world of vision and hearing is like ours, but it is probably quite different, and the wild animal's world even more so.

Dr. John Warkentin, a young scientist at the University of Rochester, has been testing animal vision as a preliminary to a study of infant vision.

His apparatus consists of a vertical hollow cylinder, five feet high and four feet in diameter, on the inside of which are vertical black and white stripes ranging from five inches down to one-sixteenth of an inch. If an animal placed inside the cylinder makes eye or head movements following the rotation of the cylinder, it is assumed that it can see the stripes, and the narrower the stripe perceived, the sharper the vision is assumed to be. Through the use of these tests it was found that:

White rats, white mice, and Gila monsters have extremely poor vision. Frogs, toads, alligators and opossums have poor vision. Snakes, contrary to popular supposition, have good vision. Those tested included garter snakes, king snakes, ribbon snakes and rattlesnakes. Their vision is poorest just before shedding their skins and best just after shedding, because the snake's cornea grows opaque as shedding time nears and is sloughed off with the skin. Turtles, woodchucks, guinea pigs, rabbits and gophers have good eyesight. Cats and birds see best of all.

Guinea pigs and dogs vary greatly from one individual to another. Monkeys could not be tested because they kept peering curiously over the cylinder's top. Wild rabbits see better than tame rabbits; normally pigmented creatures see better than albinos.

We will be anticipating Dr. Warkentin's report of his work on the vision of human infants.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS.

P. G.: "Do you think one can take too many magnesia tablets or too many charcoal tablets? I take them for gas around the heart and indigestion, sometimes as many as six of each a day. They help me, but do they do any harm?"

Answer: Neither magnesia nor charcoal does any harm even if taken over long periods of time.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

IF YOU ASK My OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Mrs. Carr:

YOU have helped so many others, perhaps you can help me, too. When I was 20 I married a young man whom I had known during my high school days and who was the first boy I had ever gone with. We were very much in love and were married for three years, but through undue influence and turmoil we became estranged and divorced. No sooner had we done this, than we both regretted it, but false pride seemed to keep us apart. After a year or so we began going together again and then drifted apart.

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for personal reply.

At this time I met a young man whom I began to date and to whom I became engaged and very soon married. Things just didn't seem to go right—I just couldn't seem to forget. I have been very unhappy and we have had very bad luck. I am not the sort of person who expects a lot, just a kind word or thought now and then—and even though he must love me he just seems to take me for granted and the fact that I should love him because I am married to him. He doesn't seem to know that it takes just a little kindness to make a woman happy. But I cannot go on this way. I respect him, but I don't love him.

Recently, I have heard from my first husband and he has never remarried and says he never intends to, and hoped that some day we could start all over again. Since then I haven't been able to think of anything but him and believe me I have tried hard to forget him; but the attitude of my second husband does more to remind me of him. Everyone said I would regret remarrying and as much as I dislike admitting it, I have regretted it exceedingly. Things just don't seem to matter any more.

I have worked every day since we became married and have tried so hard to make things go, but I don't seem to be getting anywhere. What should I do? Am I justified in seeing my first husband and talking to him to relieve myself and him of the strain and to give myself peace of mind, or is it unfair and unkind to do so? I just can't seem to adhere to the saying, "You made your bed, now lie in it."

PUZZLED.

A case of this kind deserves sympathy as well as censure. Even if you have made a half-hearted effort to adjust yourself, there is reason to be sorry for one whose judgment is not of the caliber that it should be. But inability to keep irritating and annoying circumstances from becoming mountains of discontent is a not unusual cause for inharmony and divorce.

Having had two experiences now, you should be able to see that talking over your troubles of the second experience with the man who went through those of the first, will only complicate matters and, in fact, cheapen your viewpoint and weaken your ability to decide for yourself. Your present duty lies, of course, with the man to whom you are married now by solemn oath. If you have exhausted your determination to make a success of this marriage and are sure that looking back into the distance, foolishly, has had no part in the present incompatibility, then perhaps there is no way toward self-respect and harmony but through separation. There is, however, absolutely no excuse for talking this over with your first husband or giving him part in your decision. There can be no justification for more experimentation and uncertainty.

If, when you are entirely free, you still are sure that you want only the man whom you first discarded by mistake, that will be time enough to rectify the mistake and to take action. What "everyone says" is a poor excuse and only an excuse, not a reason.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I HAVE READ your column and have seen how you gave help and information to many people. I have been wondering for some time if you could tell me where I could get a book with the different dances in it. If there is any place I could get one please inform me. R. H. R.

You can get this information at the Main Public Library and most of the smaller libraries would have these books or the names and publishers. The book stores would, likewise, have books on dancing.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I RECEIVED your kind letter and want to thank you very much. And will you please thank Mr. L. M. for the nice suit he gave me, and Mrs. Charles P. A. for the nice boys' clothes she so kindly gave me. I would also like to thank the party who sent me $5, and may God bless them in all their works. Mother got four pairs of shoes. I am closing with a prayer for God's richest blessings on all your undertakings.

THE LEAST ONE.

The patch quilt
When the first streaks of salmon
Lay across the ridge top.
"Streaka fat, streaka lean—
Hit's like smoked meat," Thought Aurelia.
She crawled out over the footboard
So as not to disturb
Irene and Corinne
And big sis, Susie Belle.

Aurelia's uncertain bare feet
Picked up ashes left on the floor
By a little whirlwind
Which had come down the chimney
In the night . . .
Of Pod Hart's girls
She was the least one.

Out into the clearing went Aurelia
To hunt a dew-drenched mullein leaf,
For the yarb woman had said:
"When the young'uns ta'nt yo,
From too long a-dreamin'.
Mullein rubbed onto the cheeks
When hit's covered with dew
Will shore enough rose 'em
Like Susie Belle's."
Black Bense Parkins,
His cowlick slicked with pomade,
His boots oozing bear grease,
Came every Sunday
To set with Susie Belle;
John Ab Trotter, the blacksmith's son,
Who had ordered from a catalog
A watch with "a injine" on the cover,
Strode up from the Cove
To set with Irene;
"Beanpole" Gibbs, from a far piece
Up Straddle Creek,
Helped Pap spit out the far',
His wolf-wild hungry eyes
Scarcely ever leaving Corinne . . .
Nobody ever came to set
With "Reely."

The mulleins were covered
With clear, cool diamonds;
Aurelia sat on a top rail
And rubbed the soft, wet leaves
On her pale-as-tallow cheeks . . .
The sun crept up higher;
Bright and heatless like
The dew diamonds on the mullein—
Like a too-young old woman,
With gray hair gilded,
Getting up in the morning
Creeping over a footboard of mountains,
Aurelia rubbed her cheeks with mullein;
Her frail body shivered.

Smoke arose from the chimney,
Curling slowly—uncertainly—
Upward into a new day:
Aurelia went uncertainly
Toward the cabin,
Her flesh crying for heat,
Her feet still reluctant
To leave the soil. . . .

The smell of frying sowbelly
Coming out at the door
Met her half way,
But she wasn't hungry;
Her thin legs carried her into
The warmth from the fireplace—
Her uncertain bare feet picked up
Ash drift from the hearthstone.

Error by East Helps Opponent Make Contract

Poor Lead Gives South Entry He Could Not Have Obtained Otherwise.

By Ely Culbertson

TO supply declarer with an entry which he cannot produce through his own efforts is one of the worst of all defensive errors. In today's hand East's defense was characterized more by altruism than by shrewdness.

North, dealer.
East-West, vulernable.

West	North	East
	♠AKJ932 ♥754 ♦K73 ♣4
♠54 ♥AJ10832 ♦AJ9 ♣105	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	♠Q108 ♥6 ♦Q52 ♣A98632
	♠76 ♥KQ9 ♦10864 ♣KQJ7

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 spade	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 spades	Pass	3 no trumps	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's final pass was of questionable merit. True, he had rebid his spade suit, but the fact remained that his 6-3-3-1 distribution was not propitious to no trump play. Admittedly, however, four spades would not have had a ghost of a chance, whereas three no trump had at least enough chance for the fulfilling trick to be "stolen."

West opened the heart jack. Declarer won and immediately took the spade finesse to the jack. East won and, having no heart to return, shifted to the fourth best club. Declarer put up the king and, with pretty much of a hopeless feeling (but without any good alternative) led the club queen right back. East won with the ace and made a return for which he should have been given six months at hard labor. Impressed by the fact that his long club suit was within one trick of establishment, he naively led back the nine of clubs, thus making declarer a gracious gift of a club trick that could not have been reached in any other way. After winning with the club jack declarer led a spade to dummy and ran off the entire suit, which brought his total to eight tricks. When the last spade was played poor West found his discarding difficulties unsolvable. Holding the A-J of hearts and the A-J of diamonds, he had to make one discard. Whatever he chose would be equally unsatisfactory from his point of view. To blank the ace of hearts would invite declarer to lead dummy's heart and West then would have to return a diamond from the A-J. To blank the diamond jack would mean a throw-in play in diamonds, with a subsequent heart trick for declarer.

East's insistence on clubs, clubs, clubs had been the sort of defense that drives partners to distraction. East should have counted that his final club return, putting declarer back into his own hand, would mean nine certain tricks for North-South. Declarer already had a heart trick home and five spade tricks were in sight. Two club tricks would bring this total to eight, and East could see that the diamond king, whether or not West had the ace, was a sure trick. Successful defense involved nothing more ingenious than keeping declarer out of his own hand. This could have been done in two different ways: East could have thrown dummy back on lead with a spade or could have led a diamond directly up to the king. Surely it took no great arithmetical ability to count that if declarer had the diamond ace all was lost. As it was, East merely left himself open to West's polite question: "Say, whose team are you on, anyway?"

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

For Thursday, June 9.

ACTIVE urges to make rash changes, especially in pocketbook department and concerning whatever legal cookery may be on the fire—but little to be gained by hurry. Much more probability of having to retrace steps if too anxious.

True and Reasonable.

Before investigating astrology's very valuable promises to humanity, some people want to know, not whether it is true, but whether it is reasonable. This, of course, is putting the cart before the horse; but both are easily proven. Not that all explanations of astrology are either reasonable or true. Much so-called "astrology" is superstition and should be tossed away.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead is promising, if this is your natal date. More leeway, especially through other people, law, partnerships, travel, and contacts with other locations. Danger: Now-June 30; Sept. 27-Nov. 11; Feb. 13-April 19, 1939.

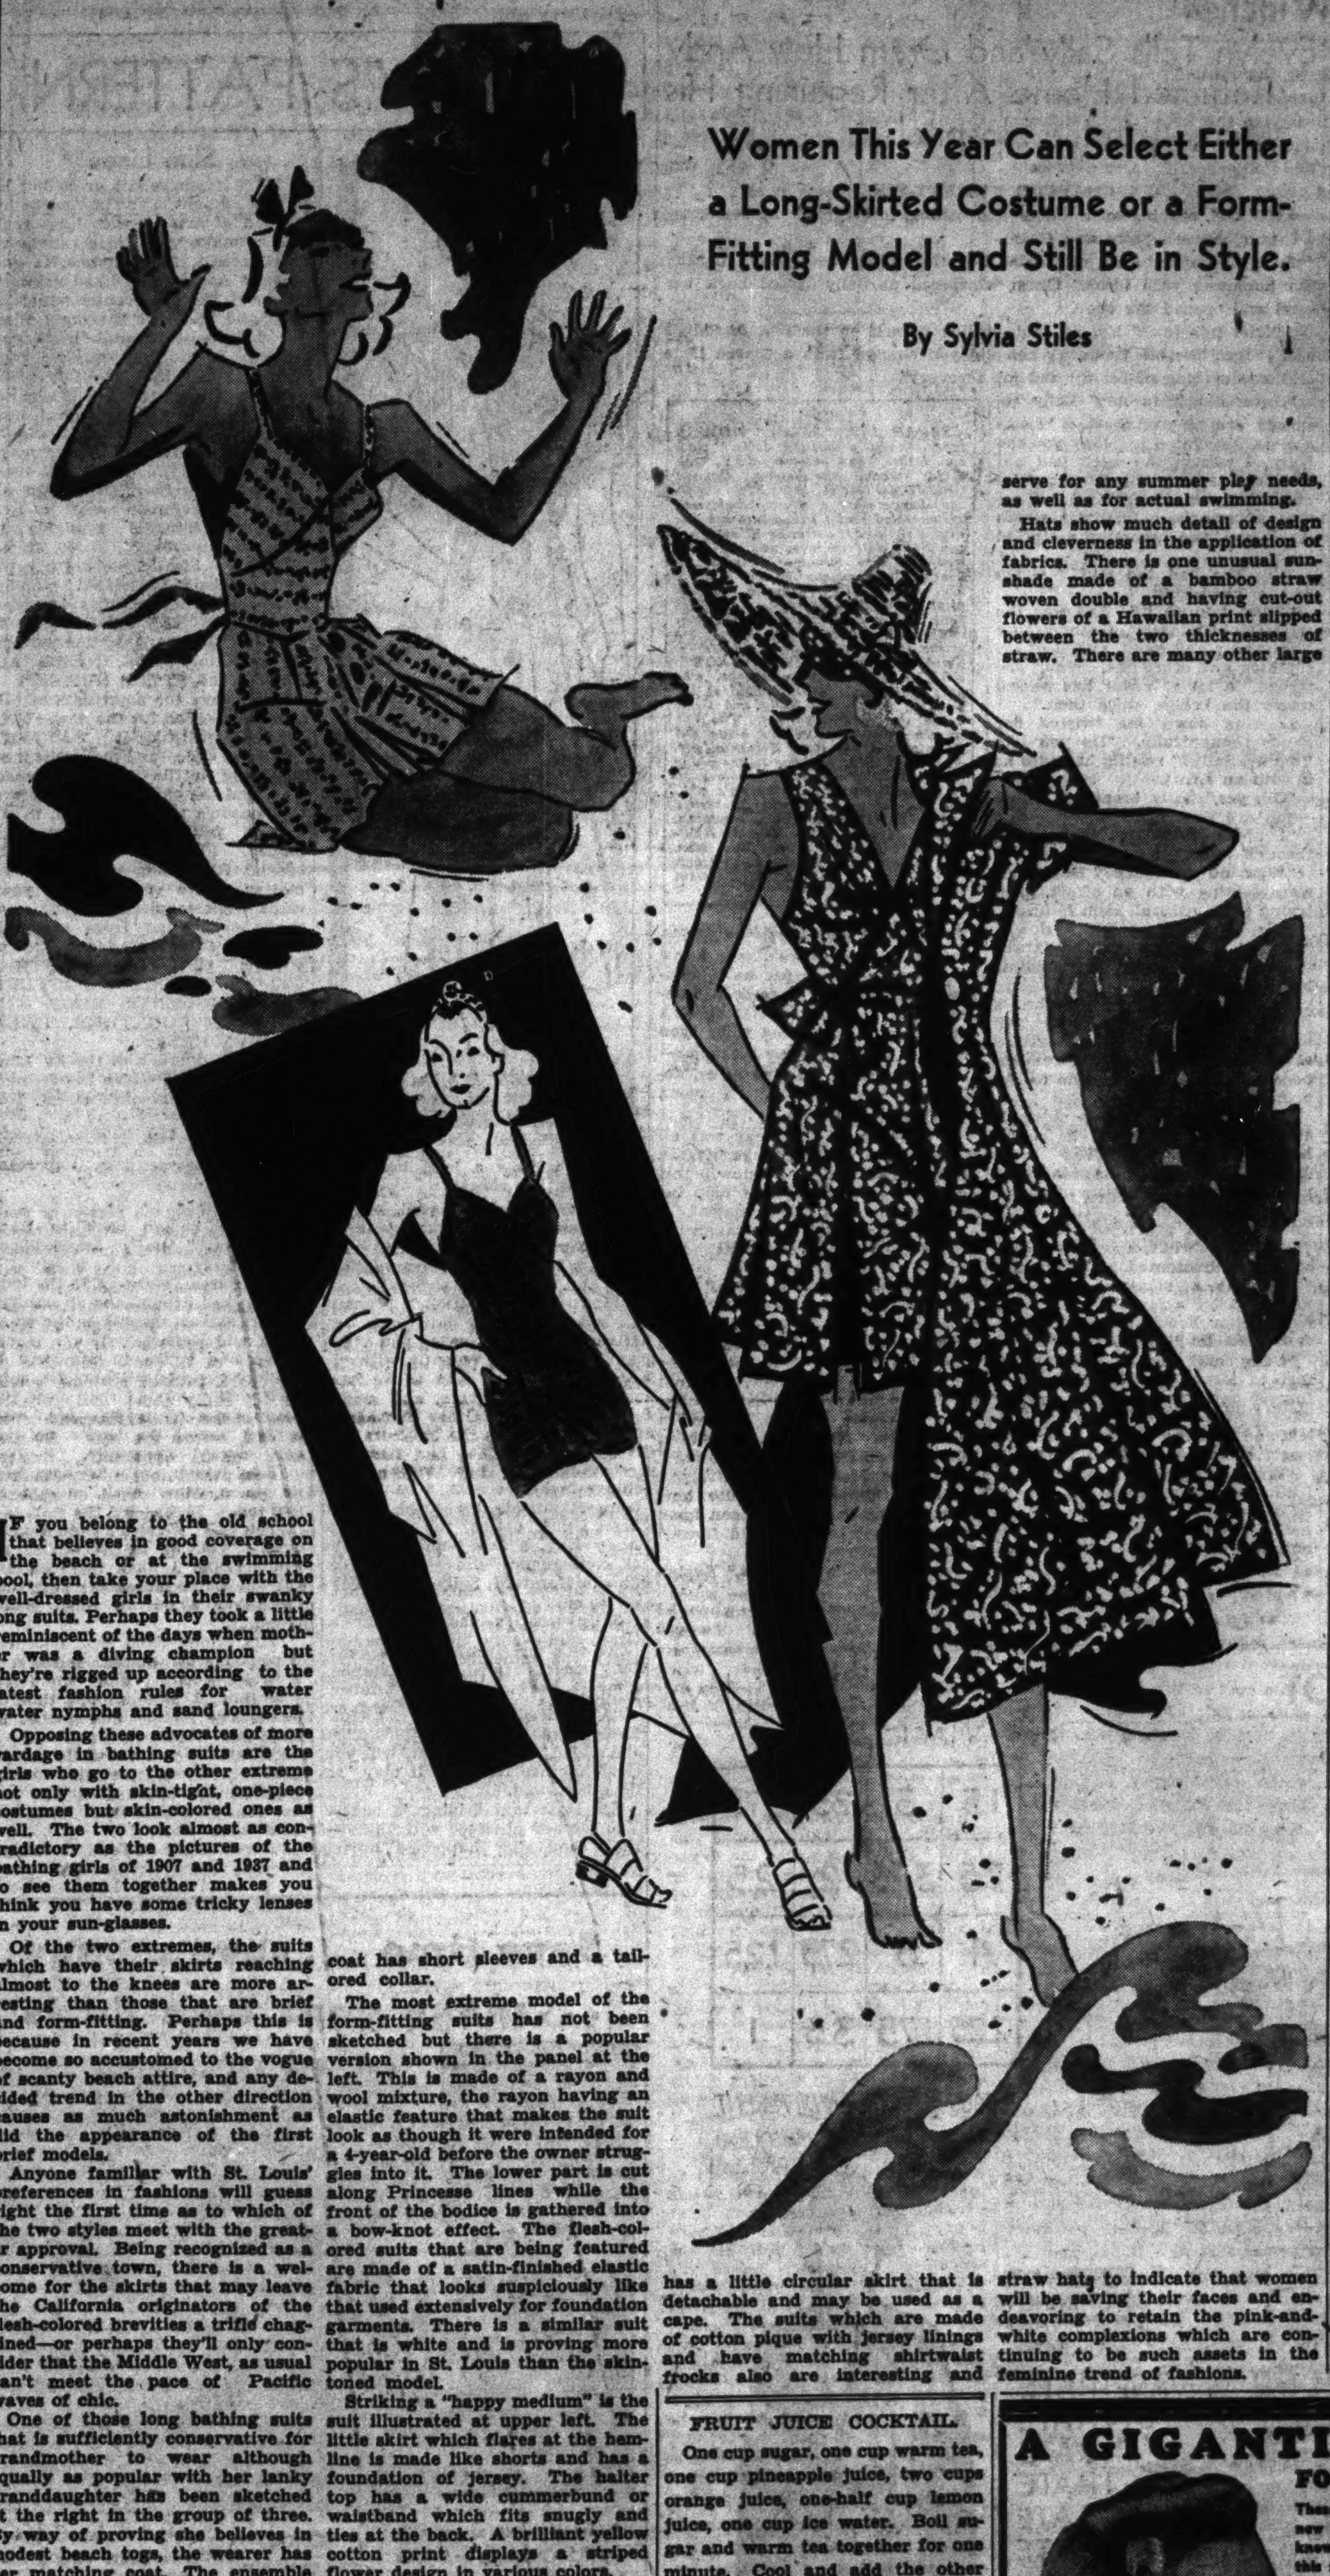
EXTREMES IN BATHING SUITS

Women This Year Can Select Either a Long-Skirted Costume or a Form-Fitting Model and Still Be in Style.

By Sylvia Stiles



IF you belong to the old school that believes in good coverage on the beach or at the swimming pool, then take your place with the well-dressed girls in their swanky long suits. Perhaps they took a little reminiscent of the days when mother was a diving champion but they're rigged up according to the latest fashion rules for water water nymphs and sand loungers.

Opposing these advocates of more yardage in bathing suits are the girls who go to the other extreme not only with skin-tight, one-piece costumes but skin-colored ones as well. The two look almost as contradictory as the pictures of the bathing girls of 1907 and 1937 and to see them together makes you think you have some tricky lenses in your sun-glasses.

Of the two extremes, the suits which have their skirts reaching almost to the knees are more arresting than those that are brief and form-fitting. Perhaps this is because in recent years we have become so accustomed to the vogue of scanty beach attire, and any decided trend in the other direction causes as much astonishment as did the appearance of the first brief models.

Anyone familiar with St. Louis' preferences in fashions will guess right the first time as to which of the two styles meet with the greater approval. Being recognized as a conservative town, there is a welcome for the skirts that may leave the California originators of the flesh-colored brevities a trifle chagrined—or perhaps they'll only consider that the Middle West, as usual can't meet the pace of Pacific waves of chic.

One of those long bathing suits that is sufficiently conservative for grandmother to wear although equally as popular with her lanky granddaughter has been sketched at the right in the group of three. By way of proving she believes in modest beach togs, the wearer has her matching coat. The ensemble is made of blue and white printed pique although a combination of black and white also is available. There is a foundation of navy blue jersey under the pique to hold the suit in place. The skirt section has pleats at either side of a panel which extends to the bodice section and is pointed at the V-shaped neckline. The neckline, by the way, is cut higher than most of the suits have been for several years. The coat has short sleeves and a tailored collar.

The most extreme model of the form-fitting suits has not been sketched but there is a popular version shown in the panel at the left. This is made of a rayon and wool mixture, the rayon having an elastic feature that makes the suit look as though it were intended for a 4-year-old before the owner struggles into it. The lower part is cut along Princesse lines while the front of the bodice is gathered into a bow-knot effect. The flesh-colored suits that are being featured are made of a satin-finished elastic fabric that looks suspiciously like that used extensively for foundation garments. There is a similar suit that is white and is proving more popular in St. Louis than the skin-toned model.

Striking a "happy medium" is the suit illustrated at upper left. The little skirt which flares at the hemline is made like shorts and has a foundation of jersey. The halter top has a wide cummerbund or waistband which fits snugly and ties at the back. A brilliant yellow cotton print displays a striped flower design in various colors.

While these three models serve to indicate the variety of the trend in suits this season, there are many different models and fabrics from which to choose. A strapless suit that is made of a synthetic printed jersey is among the novelties. There are straps available for the suit but the sun-tan enthusiast probably will discard them. Another diversity is a wool knitted suit of the one-piece form-fitting type which has a little circular skirt that is detachable and may be used as a cape. The suits which are made of cotton pique with jersey linings and have matching shirtwaist frocks also are interesting and serve for any summer play needs, as well as for actual swimming.

Hats show much detail of design and cleverness in the application of fabrics. There is one unusual sunshade made of a bamboo straw woven double and having cut-out flowers of a Hawaiian print slipped between the two thicknesses of straw. There are many other large straw hats to indicate that women will be saving their faces and endeavoring to retain the pink-and-white complexions which are continuing to be such assets in the feminine trend of fashions.

FRUIT JUICE COCKTAIL.

One cup sugar, one cup warm tea, one cup pineapple juice, two cups orange juice, one-half cup lemon juice, one cup ice water. Boil sugar and warm tea together for one minute. Cool and add the other liquids. Chill and serve with canapes before the formal dinner. A nice cocktail for guests who do not care for alcoholic beverages.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By Bob Burns

I USE'TA think that the reason why my folks back in the hills let everything go to "rack and ruin" was because they jest didn't have anything worth takin' care of in the first place.

But not long ago, I had a telephone installed in my Uncle Hod's house and when I called on him the other day, I found my Aunt cutting biscuits with the receiver, his daughter using the mouthpiece for an ink well and the baby using the cord for a jumpin' rope.

Answers to Questions on Social Usage

Correct Stationery for Personal Notes of Invitation to Wedding.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post:

WHAT type of stationery do you suggest for writing personal notes of invitation to our wedding? If the paper is marked in any way, should the marking be mine or that of my parents?

Answer: Since you personally are writing the invitations, write on stationery which has your own monogram at the top or your own initials, or else—and of equal propriety—you may use your house address, not, however, followed by city and state. This should be embossed, not printed.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is a printed card carrying wedding congratulations proper, and if so, when should this message be sent?

Answer: Although they have no formal standing, I can find no objection to such cards on the grounds of impropriety—especially in friendly and informal circles. They should be sent so as to be received, just as the conventional telegrams are, on the day of the wedding.

Dear Mrs. Post: Shouldn't the parents of young children take the responsibility of thanking friends for the gifts they sent the young people? I've sent three presents lately and have never heard a word from the parents in any case. Two of the gifts were to young babies and the other to a little girl about 8 years old.

Answer: Babies and very little children should always have notes of thanks written for them by their mothers. The little girl of 8 should have written her own note of thanks, and her mother was very remiss in not seeing that she did so.

Dear Mrs. Post: My sister and I are both graduating from the same school and would like to send announcements. To personalize the announcements sent out in the name of the school, each graduate incloses her own visiting cards. Will it be proper for my sister and I to inclose our cards in one announcement?

Answer: This will be quite all right in the announcements sent to friends of both.

Dear Mrs. Post: I saw cards worded to express appreciation to someone for having sent flowers during an illness. Do you think such a card in bad taste?

Answer: An engraved or printed card of thanks is seldom if ever in good taste. The reasons why are two: First, thanks should be personal for any kindness shown; and, second, a printed or engraved card suggests that he or she who sent flowers was only one of many who showed such kindness. In other words, the preparation of the card assumes too great a degree of importance for anyone except a public personage to make.

Ten Good Rules

By Dale Carnegie

THE United Parcel Service is a most successful company. It delivers packages and parcels for merchants and stores from coast to coast. The company has 2500 people working for it. Its business is to come in contact with people and it has made a study of how to please its customers.

Its drivers who deliver for the stores have to deal with the people day by day, almost every hour in the day. Some of these men have never dealt with people before and know nothing about the art of handling people. So the company has a set of rules for its drivers to follow.

They are so splendid that I am copying down 10 of them to pass along to you. Here they are:

1. Do not smoke in the presence of a customer.

2. Use the sidewalk when you approach a customer's house. Do not walk across his lawn. He may like his lawn.

3. If directed by a sign to deliver a. the rear door, never go to the front door.

4. When you arrive at a customer's house, don't be impatient. Ring gently, speak gently. That makes a favorable impression on the customer.

5. When someone comes to the door, lift your cap. It's good manners and good policy.

6. When you have a C. O. D. package, name the amount in a low voice. Neighbors have prying ears.

7. When you hand a package to a customer, turn it so that the label faces him. Think in terms of the person you are trying to serve.

8. Don't argue with the customer, even though you know she is wrong and you are right. Don't argue even when the customer makes a stinging remark. You are there to please, not to provoke.

9. Be willing to do something for the customer that you are not called upon to do. For instance, if she asks you to move a piece of furniture for her, do it—and cheerfully.

10. If you are asked to come inside the house or apartment, remove your cap. Courtesy costs nothing and yields big dividends.

These little touches of courtesy cost nothing, but they mean much to the customer.

Intelligent and keen observation has much to do with success. There is an old Russian proverb which comments on the non-observant man: "He goes through the forest and sees no firewood."

Fruit Chill

One and one-half cups diced fresh pineapple.
One-half cup granulated sugar.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
One-half cup orange juice.
One cup strawberries.
One cup sliced bananas.

Mix pineapple, sugar and fruit juices. Chill for two hours or longer. Add the rest of the ingredients, also chilled. Serve in glass cups.

FORGOTTEN BRIDE

A Romantic Serial

By LOUISE HOLMES

Evelyn Tells Sally and Gram How Andy Returned Home After Regaining His Memory in the Hospital.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX.

EVELYN, rapping on the door and calling, interrupted the conversation between Sally and Gram.

"Keep that chin up. We'll lick this thing some way. Already I'm humming with ideas," Gram whispered as Sally tossed back her head and opened the door.

"Isn't this fun?" Evelyn said, curling herself on the foot of Sally's bed. "Just like old times. When did you change from a scared little rabbit to a thing of beauty and joy forever?"

"Gram did it to me," Sally returned, dropping on the bed, "I was a mess, Evelyn. I'm telling you the truth, I was in the world but not of it, did nothing but eat and sleep and write chemistry books. Your letters were the only things which saved me from becoming a stuffed mummy."

"But she had the stuff," Gram nodded cheerfully.

"Don't I know it? She was the sweetest little thing, Grandmother Norris, shy and quiet, afraid of everything and every one. Well," she sighed, "a lot of water has passed under the bridge since then."

Looking down she twisted her hands thoughtfully. "Do you like Toughy, Sally?" raising her eyes as if with an effort.

"Oh, yes," Sally breathed. "You—you are very fortunate—"

"I know—he's fine—he's been through a lot."

"What do you mean?" Both girls were talking with an effort, each trying to be natural, each failing.

"It's an odd story," slowly. "Toughy is terribly sensitive about it, but I don't think he'd mind if I told you."

Evelyn hesitated, delicate brows drawn together in a frown. "All our plans were made to be married several months ago. You remember—I asked you to be one of my bridesmaids."

Sally nodded without speaking. It seemed like something she might have dreamed. Her tired brain fogged. Things like this didn't happen, not out of the covers of books.

Evelyn continued. "One night Toughy and I quarreled bitterly, I don't know what about, we both seemed discontented and unhappy.

"Anyway, he slammed out of the house. After a few days I decided he'd taken French leave and recalled the invitations.

"Being still angry I made no effort to locate him and I'll never forgive myself. So much might have been avoided—" She fell silent and intently studied her restless fingers.

"Was he in trouble?" Sally asked, feeling that something was expected of her. Evelyn came back from her revery with a start. Gram said nothing, watched the girl closely.

"OH, yes, I was telling you about Toughy," as if her thoughts had been far away.

> SYNOPSIS:
> SARAH LEE "SALLY" NORRIS inherits half a million dollars from her father, and ANDY KAY, cab driver whom she meets through GRANDMOTHER NORRIS, helps her change from a slump shouldered, bespectacled social frump into a beautiful girl. Andy, suffering of amnesia, and Sally fall in love, and are married for five minutes when he is knocked unconscious saving a boy's life. When Sally returns to the hospital the following day, Andy has gone, and she hurries to her Grandmother for advice. Sally and Gram arrive in Chicago, looking for Andy. Sally telephones EVELYN FORTNER, a girlhood acquaintance, who asks Sally to be a bridesmaid at her wedding and insists Sally and Gram spend the week with her. The two women arrive at Evelyn's home and Sally sees—Andy Kay! Before dinner, Andy K. Thorne explains to the group that unless he is married before he is 25, according to his father's will, the Thorne company will be turned over to Smoot, an unpopular employee. Evelyn dances with CLAY HEPBURN, who will be the best man, and he whispers that she mustn't cry. They kiss and make an appointment for the following day.

"He was hurt soon after leaving me.

"I don't suppose we'll ever know what happened because he remembers nothing until he came to himself in a hospital in Newberg, a little town not far from where you live."

"Do you think he was in an accident?" Gram asked. "I mean the night he left you."

"I don't know. His car was all right, it was in the garage." Again Evelyn hesitated. "I know this sounds crazy, but I can't help being suspicious of Elmer Smoot.

"Father and Toughy laugh at the idea, but he certainly had a motive. You see he loses everything when Toughy marries."

"It sounds reasonable to me," Gram nodded.

"Elmer Smoot is a queer duck," Evelyn went on. "No one understands him. He might, I'm not saying he did, but he might have hired someone to kill Toughy in the garage. He might have been left for dead—"

Sally shivered.

"If Mr. Smoot was guilty how surprised he must have been upon learning that the bird had flown," Gram said.

"And when he returned," Evelyn added.

"What happened then—when he returned?" Sally asked. She was unable to draw a long breath, it caught in her throat.

"He was perfectly well, only a slight headache, thought it was the day after our quarrel.

"He drssed and left the hospital without saying a word to anyone, made investigations as to where he was, learned that almost two months had passed since he left me, and took the first bus for Chicago."

"How dreadful for you both," Sally whispered. "Doesn't he remember anything?"

"Nothing. There were a few things in his pockets, a bank book from Ramford, it seemed he had been going under the name of Andy Kay, a few papers, nothing of consequence—did you ever see him in Ramford, Sally?" she broke off to ask.

Sally went a shade whiter as Gram said evenly, "We did see him. Don't you remember, Sally? He drove a taxi. I thought he looked familiar . . ."

"A taxi driver—how awful." Evelyn was quite horrified. Then she added, "Tell him that, will you, Grandmother Norris? It may relieve his mind.

"At least taxi driving is honest. You see he's obsessed with the idea that something happened during that time, something important, something dishonorable."

"DID he go back to Ramford?" Sally asked uncertainly.

"Of coures. He went to the bank and walked around the streets, but he was embarrassed over the whole thing and learned nothing.

"No one spoke to him and he wouldn't ask questions. He came back more worried than ever. We never speak of it any more." She rubbed the little frown between her brows thoughtfully.

"How happy you must have been when he came back," Gram remarked.

"Happy?" Evelyn raised startled eyes. "Oh, of course. You see Toughy and I have been in love, that is, we've talked of being married ever since we were youngsters.

"His family lived next door and I played with his little sister. I always thought him wonderful. Naturally, I was happy when he came back." She was almost too emphatic about it.

"What did you do while he was gone?" Gram asked, making clucking sounds of sympathy with her tongue. "You must have been wild with worry."

"I was angry at first. I thought if he'd treat me like that I was better off without him. After that, well, I don't know—I just sort of forgot about it—" in a reticent tone. She carefully smoothed the front of her gown with long, slender hands.

"And then he came back," Sally said, dreamily.

"He came straight to me and I was so ashamed. All that time he had been sick and in trouble. I was so ashamed," Evelyn repeated.

"His first thought was of me. He came straight back to me." It was as if she had told herself these things many times, that she must keep reminding herself.

"So you picked up where you left off," Gram summed up the situation.

"Yes," simply.

They talked of other things. Prof. Norris' sudden death, Sally's surprising inheritance, Gram's advent into the picture. At last Evelyn rose to go. She kissed Sally and Gram.

"I liked that Hepburn boy," Gram said guilelessly as Evelyn reached the door. "He's the steady, dependable sort, the kind you can tie to."

With her hand on the knob Evelyn turned around flushed, a new light in her eyes, a tender smile curving her lips.

"Clay's a dear," she said. Her voice was richer, sweeter.

"I hope he'll like Sally," Gram continued. "When I first saw him I said to myself, there's the man for Sally. Is he in love, Evelyn?"

"I—don't know." There was abject fright in her eyes as she looked at Sally. "I don't know what I would have done without Clay when Toughly was gone," she added pitifully.

"That's what I mean," Gram said, as if the point had been proved. "He'll always be wonderful in troubled times."

"He is wonderful—wonderful," softly. She said goodnight and went away.

At least five persons lay long awake that night.

In the Middle Ages when inns were rare, the Italian towns had so-called Columns of Hospitality standing in the platas of their towns. The stranger arriving in the city would lead his horse to the column and attach it at random to one of the rings. Each ring belonged to a different prominent family in the town. And the traveler was allowed to stay as a guest of that particular family all during the time he was in town. The family connection with a particular ring on the column changed every week.

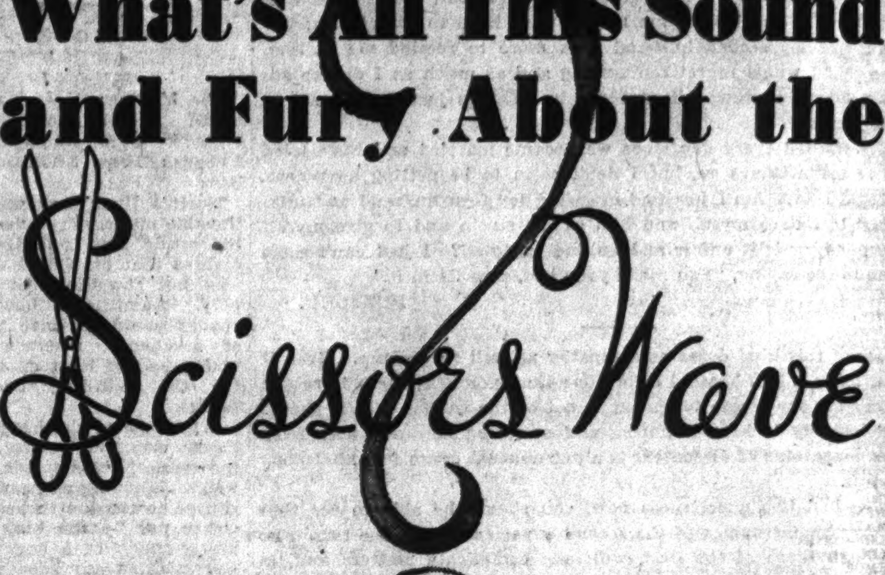
What's All This Sound and Fury About the



OUR beauty salon has been doing it for years . . . efficiently and without sensational fanfare. If you like soft, natural waves and do not demand a highly stylized coiffure,* you'll find our Scissors Wave ideal. Our method is simple: First, your hair is pushed up to locate the natural wave. Then we thin and reshape your hair underneath and push it into place so that your hair will fall into soft lines that mould your head. If your hair has the slightest inclination to wave (an inclination you may not recognize), it can be encouraged, by proper cutting and training, to retain this wave. (We believe this is the utmost that can be done with scissors in inducing a natural wave.) If you like ringlets, we suggest a permanent for the ends. Cabbage Salad Supreme

Three cups chopped cabbage.
One cup diced pineapple.
One-third cup broken nuts.
Two-thirds cup diced bananas.
One tablespoon lemon juice.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One-half cup salad dressing.

Chill ingredients. Combine and serve in a bowl.

Tropical Surprise Dessert

One-fourth cup butter.
One-half cup granulated sugar.
Three egg yolks.
One-third cup milk.
One-half cup seeded red cherries.
One teaspoon vanilla.
One-half teaspoon lemon extract.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
One cup flour.
One and one-half teaspoons baking powder.

Cream butter and sugar. Add yolks and milk. Beat for three minutes. Add the rest of the ingredients and beat for one minute. Pour to an inch thickness in a shallow pan which has been lined with waxed paper. Add meringue made with Three egg whites, beaten.

One-fourth cup granulated sugar.
One-half cup strained honey.
One teaspoon cinnamon.
One-half cup shredded almonds.
Two tablespoons light brown sugar.

Add sugar to whites. Beat for one minute. Add honey and beat until very creamy. Roughly spread over the cake batter. Sprinkle with the rest of the ingredients. Bake. Cool. Cut into squares.

Cocoa Scones

Two cups pastry flour.
One-half cup cocoa.
Three teaspoons baking powder.
One-fourth cup granulated sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Four tablespoons fat.
One egg.
One-half cup milk.

Mix together the flour, cocoa, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in the fat with a knife. Still mixing with the knife, slowly add egg and milk. (The exact amount of milk cannot always be determined. A bit more may be needed.) Pat the saft dough out until it is two-thirds of an inch thick. Sprinkle with topping and cut out in small diamond shapes. Bake for seven minutes on a greased pan in a moderate oven. Serve warm, plain or spread with soft butter. The topping is made with

Two tablespoons flour.
One-third cup granulated sugar.
One-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Lightly mix ingredients and sprinkle over soft dough before it is cut.
